ARMIES.—The public do not seem to realize what an immense army we have at Washington. With thirty thousand troops Napoleon I. began his campaign in Italy.—During a period of eleven months, with but thirty thousand reinforcements, he fought sixty actions, crossed twelve rivers, laid all lower Italy at his feet, and then raised the siege of Mantua, to meet and defeat sixty thousand fresh Austrians on the plateau of Rivoli. Gen. McClellan has two hundred and forty thousand men on the banks of the Potomac! Doubtless, he knows how to manage them; but we cannot close our intelligence to the fact, that this is a greater army than Napoleon ever ventured to level at a single point, and too large, by half, to be manœuvered with advantage on any field that can be found in Northern Virginia.—The weight of the unwieldy mass might help to break it down, and, like the refuse portion of the swarm of Xerxes, contribute only to embarrass its movements, and deepen its disasters. It is true, that in this gigantic region, armies of greater numbers are required than for the narrow fields of Europe, but the European rule holds good in regard to numbers in a limited area. It is not easy, therefore, to be persuaded that when our system of earthworks on the Potomac are entirely garrisoned, we should require more than a hundred thousand men for operations on this line, while Fremont and Anderson are sinking under a vast superiority of number.—George Wilkes.

PATENTS.—Mr. Jeremiah Marden, of Newburyport, has obtained a patent for improvement in looms.

Mr. James M. Currier is about obtaining a patent for an improvement in "Ten-pin Alleys." By his arrangement no pins are to be set up, and the nuisance of boys is obviated; and balls can be returned and every thing arranged by a very ingenious contrivance, without the players leaving their position.

A soldier writes to the Cleveland (Ohio) Plaindealer:—"Cold nights. My eyes (but you should see the boys in Camp Wade 'spoon and shiver' these cold nights. Not a blanket apiece. For pity sake where is Brigadier General Blanket? Dennison, what are you about? Or ain't it you we are talking to? The boys look blank for want of blankets. Soldiers' Aid Society, have you a few blankets you can lend these boys? Look at them, and see them 'spoon and shiver.'"

☞ It is intimated, says the Post, that Secretary Seward keeps his eyes open tight on the Mexican intervention question, and that his policy will be the right sort of thing. He has been getting up something on Japan which is pronounced prodigious.

☞ The grave of Douglas has been neatly fenced, and the inclosure grassed and laid out tastefully. It is visited daily by large numbers of people.

An appropriate position for Floyd—Cheat Mountain.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

CITY OF NEW YORK, Oct. 10.

The great event of the week has been the arrival and departure of Wilson's regiment and the battery of artillery accompanying—both of which paraded Broadway on Wednesday afternoon.

Early noon brought thousands to the busy thoroughfare; pretty bonnets peeped out of the windows, and something prettier out of the bonnets, making each edifice glisten like a coronet set with diamonds.—At 12 the officers partook of a grand dinner at the Fifth Avenue Hotel; and with speeches by Bancroft, Bellows and Gov. Morgan, presentation by Brady, and responses by Col. Wilson, two hours slipped by,—and at 3 o'clock the regiment took up its march down Broadway, escorted by 300 "Sons of Massachusetts."

As viewed from my temporary standpoint, on the coping outside the building, the spectacle was sublime. An equal portion of our great business mart extended on either side; and, up the gentle slope which rises from the hollow at Canal street, —through which in ages past swiftly swept the river current,—rolled the artillery, each gun-carriage and caisson drawn by six prancing steeds; while down the declivity beyond, came the troops with solid tread, which echoed along the pave, by its accustomed busy hum deserted; and afar off the avenue was dotted with the white tops of the baggage wagons, looking like patches of snow on the dark surface of the surging crowd.

The regiment is a fine one, completely supplied with camp equipage, splendidly armed and appropriately uniformed; but it has one defect—the youthfulness of many of its members, some of whom, apparently, have not been three voyages in their teens.

We have just passed through the seventh equinoctial storm with which we have been favored within as many weeks, and are expecting another shortly. Last week the mercury was at 75°; to-day as 40°. Pleasant weather, surely.

Rumors were prevalent in the city yesterday of the departure of sixty vessels;—but after diligent inquiry, I find no foundation for the report. The expedition alluded to last week has not yet started. The vessels are anchored in the river, and may be enumerated as follows:—The frigate Wabash, flag-ship; two gunboats, (new;) seven propellers, formerly in the Southern mail service, fitted as gunboats, and carrying 6 and 8 guns each, about 1000 tons burthen; three first-class ocean steamers, of 3000 tons each, the Atlantic, Baltic and Ocean Queen; four second-class ocean steamers, 2000 tons each; one ship, one barque, and two small tug-boats. These are being loaded with every kind of war material for both cavalry and infantry.

The baggage train of the 3d N. H. Regt. disappeared very mysteriously from the Park before daylight yesterday morning, but the regiment has not arrived. I was told by one of the teamsters that they were expected on Sunday, and so wrote you, thinking the statement reliable; but no one can tell what to-morrow will bring forth—and I shouldn't be surprised, on waking some fine morning, to discover myself 4000 feet up in a balloon. If so, will send you a letter. Head it, "From our regular correspondent," and "set it up" in the space allotted to NEWINGTON.

☞ The October number of "Tales of a Day" is issued, and the publishers have now proved their ability to carry out the design they had in establishing this magazine.—That design seems to us as good as it is original. These "tales of the day," so far as they have been issued, are of such a kind as to recommend the publication as the very best of home magazines, as well as the pleasantest of companions on a journey. We are very glad to see a flattering notice of the work in the October number of the North American Review.

Published by Carter & Brother, Boston. A. William & Co. are their agents. Terms, $2.50 per year, in advance; 25 cts. single number.

☞ Julia P. Ross gave some anxiety to her friends by "suddenly disappearing" from her home in Fairfield, Conn., a few days ago,—but at the same time conferred happiness upon a brisk young mechanic, with whom she courageously proceeded to New York and got married.

☞ We have advices from Europe to the 3d inst. The preliminaries of a treaty between England and Spain, for an intervention in Mexico, have not yet been signed; the Paris papers assert that negotiations relative to such an intervention have not reached a definite result, and that no convention has been drawn up.

☞ Accounts received by the government, deemed reliable, represent the cotton crop as about the average yield. Much of it has been successfully housed, but owing to a want of bagging it cannot be baled or transported.

PAY IN ADVANCE.—The more experience we have in newspaper printing, the stronger grows our conviction that the advance paying system is the only sure one. Exeter Ballot.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and has exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & CO.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now continue in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE B. RAYMOND.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any idea of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully yours,

POLICE COURT,—Saturday, Oct. 12.—Odell, J.—William Locke, for stealing one frock coat from the store of Archibald & Mullen, the property of Dr. Richter, was fined $3 and costs, $4.80. He was also fined $3 for being drunk, and costs, $2.92. Daniel Cotton, for being drunk, was fined $3 and costs, $2.92. Failing to pay, he was committed to the House of Correction until the fine be paid.

CHESTNUTS twenty cents per quart, and not one raised in the city, but five hundred poisonous horse chesnut trees growing about the streets. When will mankind forsake folly and learn what is for their interest? B.

☞ We learn that Mr. L. N. Hurd, a skillful mason and stucco worker in this city, has discovered a mode of preparing a liquid mixture or wash, by the use of which the finest and most elaborate ornamental stucco work may be restored to its original whiteness. The effect is immediate and permanent. During the last dozen years much time has been devoted to this subject by stucco workers, and many experiments have been made, with a view to discover a restorative which should accomplish the result attained by Mr. Hurd's, and at the same time not mar the beauty of the ornamental work by closing up the small lines, on the prominence of which much of that beauty depends. Mr. Hurd, we believe, has alone succeeded in the effort.

☞ Prof. Anderson, who is performing in Boston, offered two gold watches, worth $100 each, as prizes for the best conundrums,—to be awarded at his exhibition on Friday evening last, by a committee chosen for the purpose. The entertainment did not terminate until midnight. It is stated that 291 ladies and gentlemen entered into the competition and the result was the following. Perhaps some one, more "bright" than common people, can tell where the laugh comes in.

Q.—Why is it impossible for the Government to grant the request of our Southern bretheren? A.—Because children in arms are never left alone.

Q.—Why is a water lily like a whale? A.—Beaause it comes to the surface to blow.

The fortunate individuals, however, failed to come to time, and the watches were handed over to the foreman of the jury, Mr. F. H. Underwood, to be delivered to the Mayor, for the benefit of the City charities.

☞ The no-party Convention in the sixth Middlesex, Mass., Senatorial district, Friday evening, broke up in a row. The Convention was called by many of the most respectable citizens of Lowell, embracing men of all parties. It appears that a minority opposed to the objects of the Convention attempted to control its action, and being voted down, so interrupted the course of business that the Convention was forced to adjourn until Saturday evening.

RARE CHANCE FOR SMART MEN.—The editor of the Cape Ann Advertiser is sadly in want of three assistants, namely:—

A man to sell daily papers that can please everybody! A person to deliver daily papers, so that every man may be served first, and no one last! Also, a man that can tell just how many extra papers are wanted every day. To such persons constant employment will be given. Salary, $25,000.

NEWBURYPORT.—Number of polls, 2430; tax on polls, $3645; value of personal estate, $3,447,500; real estate, $3,150,600; tax for State, county and city, 1861, $72,237.74; rate per cent, $10.40 per $1000; total valuation May 1st, 1861, $6,598,100; number of dwelling houses taxed, 1702; horses, 298; cows, 301; number of acres taxed, 3941.

☞ Thomas B. Cressey, Postmaster at Rowley, Mass., and Treasurer and Collector of that town, has enlisted in Capt. Hobbs' company, 23d Regiment. He leaves the Post Office in the care of his wife. This is pretty good for an office-holder.

ELECTORAL PRIVILEGES.—The Richmond papers are urging the manufacture of shoes made of canvas. Voters will no doubt hail with gratitude the only opportunity granted by the oligarchy to the people of having its understanding fairly canvassed.

☞ The receipts of the customs for the present year will not amount to more than twenty millions dollars.

☞ More than forty thousand horses have arrived at Washington since the war commenced—at a cost of over five millions.

☞ The Ohio Farmer mentions the discovery in that State, of two insects which feed on the caterpillars of the army worm. Success to them.

☞ Vanity Fair declares than "consistency and certain New York journals had a very serious falling out several moons ago."

☞ Lieut. H. S. Newcomb, of Providence, has been appointed to the command of the U. S. steamer R. B. Forbes.

The best expounders of peace doctrines. X-pounders.

STRATEGY.—Everything in the way of thought, and strategy, and generalship, seems, thus far, to have come from the other side; from the perversion of our flags in battle, to the invention of the flying breastworks at the siege of Lexington. Nay, Beauregard fascinates our pickets with stuffed sentries, false campfires and simulated cannon, while he lifts his heavy vanguard safely from before our ponderous lines.—Every day he occupied us with some new device, and flung us three or four deserters a week to betray the enormous number of his troops. These emissaries began at 230,000, as the force of the Confederates, and gradually worked it down, so as to retard it soberly, to our declining appreciations.—The fellow who at length consented to put the menacing insurgents down at 150,000, with abundant food and clothes, was applauded for his moderation, and rewarded with a commission in our army. The subsequent retreat of the Confederate leader showed that but ten thousand had been encamped in the immediate presence of our lines, where these deserters had reported the body of the rebel force.—Geo. Wilkes.

☞ A letter from Paris states that the Russian gun ship Sweltana has foundered on the coast of Japan, and that all on board, numbering 800 persons, perished.

Be Wise To-day.—'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold. Consumption may follow, and though Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry cures the latter disease, yet the former disappear at once under its influence. 6t

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuel Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction 1y

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.
Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.
Mr. Henry R. Costar:—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.
The first thing he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. LEWIN,
(Editor of the Odd Fellow.)

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL
A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.
Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.
Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.
Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.
The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.
It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.
It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—the whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of the Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.
The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the incalculable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that its merits should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILLER, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Fine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.
This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

At a meeting of the Parish of St. John's Church held on Monday, Sept. 30th ult. a letter was received from Rev. William A. Hitchcock, resigning the Rectorship of the Parish, on account of the ill-health of his family, and the necessity of their removal to a milder climate. For this reason the resignation was accepted.

At an adjourned meeting, held Oct. 7th inst. a committee reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That we have received with feelings of deep regret the letter of the Rev. William A. Hitchcock, informing us that he feels compelled, in consequence of the influence of our climate on the health of his family, to tender his resignation of the Rectorship of this Parish.

Resolved, That, while we are debarred by the reasons assigned in his letter of resignation from urging its withdrawal, and therefore reluctantly accept it, we tender him our thanks for his able, faithful, and highly acceptable services, as our Rector, for more than three years past.

Resolved, That, in accepting his resignation, we entertain the hope that the feelings of friendship and attachment which have grown up between him and us may continue to exist; and that, while we desire to bear testimony to the marked ability, the pure and cultivated taste, and the untiring fidelity with which he has performed the more public duties of his office, we remember with affectionate gratitude his tender and efficient ministrations among the sick, the afflicted, and the poor; and we assure him that our prayers and best wishes, for his welfare and distinguished usefulness in his sacred calling, will always attend and follow him.

Resolved, That we sincerely regret the ill health of his family, which causes his removal from us, and we extend to him and them the assurances of our kindest regard.

At the same meeting the Wardens and Vestry were instructed to extend a call to Rev. Mr. Davies, Professor of Greek in the Theological School at Middletown, Conn. to become the Rector of St. John's Church.

National Loan.—It will be seen that the time for receiving subscriptions to this popular and patriotic loan at the Piscataqua Bank has been extended. More than $30,000 have already been subscribed here. Many Portsmouth subscribers entered their names in Boston previously.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—it is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

Messrs. W. K. Hagan & Co.:—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one bottle of your agent HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. Wm. Bodewhalt.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,

THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.

The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one ingredient. It also contains twice as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while the latter is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove; while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at the end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and its pockets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

John Trendy, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be the stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the Model Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—An Air Tight Cooking Stove. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber; the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is recommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOUIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a Tin Closet, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the Top Cover, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and break fast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a Dutch Oven prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A Novel Plan of Ventilation is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no loss of convenience.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer draft, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to Durability, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of quietness, comfort and health secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and now found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using the old Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

STOVES.

1861. MAGEE'S PATENT COOKING STOVE. 1861.

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

MAGEE'S

PATENT COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

Magee Parlor Stove.

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the most operating, most durable and economical Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the Magee Parlor Stove since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

We have on hand many other kinds of COOK STOVES, which are well known in this vicinity, among which are

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

On Saturday the rebels advanced in a large body in the direction of Prospect Hill, driving in our pickets to that point, and a portion of our troops were therefore made ready for the anticipated battle, but nothing further occurred.

Such is the change of sentiment in Baltimore that certain gentlemen, who were secessionists a month ago, are now trying to obtain Federal offices.

There are indications of the erection of a new rebel battery on Timber Branch, on the Potomac, between the mouth of Quantico Creek and Cockpit Point. The river there is narrow, and the channel is close to the Virginia shore.

The rebel authorities have purchased nearly all the coffee in Richmond and Norfolk for the soldiers.

Letters from rebels in Price's army have been intercepted, which represent Price and his army to be within eight miles of Osage river, near Papinsville. He has 2000 wagons, 16,000 horses, and 18,000 to 20,000 men.

A party of the N. Y. Zouaves, who were sent out from Newport News Saturday morning, to cut fuel, were attacked, probably by a scouting party, and driven in with the loss of one team.

The Louisville News learns that Breckinridge, Preston, and other secession notables, are organizing a large rebel camp at Petersburg, in Floyd county, Ky. It says they have a force of 6000 or 7000, drilling eight hours per day.

The ship John Clark, which put into Lynnhaven on the 10th, through stress of weather, was fired upon by a rebel battery; but the steamer Daylight steamed up between the ship and battery and opened fire on the latter with shells, during which the ship was got off, with only the loss of an anchor.

MEXICO.—It is now known that England, France and Spain have sent, or are about to send a powerful expedition to Mexico, with the pretended object of restoring tranquility to that distracted country. The London Times, which says that the expedition looks to the ultimate separation of the South from the North, asserts that President Lincoln has given his consent to this invasion of a neighboring country, with which we are at peace, because of the outrages which have been committed upon American citizens. That the President of the United States has consented to foreign intervention on this continent, is pronounced impossible by the New York Evening Post, unless the European governments allow the Federal government to hold the balance of power against all the European allies. It is apparent that this is a question that may assume portentous proportions in the future.

☞ Gen. Fremont does not appear to be so afraid of newspaper correspondents as some of our other Generals. On the contrary he has issued orders to furnish them with horses, equipments and tents. According to a Jefferson City correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, there are a dozen or more writers for the press, representing the leading New York, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis dailies. The General says he is not afraid the papers will expose his plans, because he will take care they shall not know them in time to do mischief; and he presumes correspondents at his headquarters are too patriotic to publish information which common sense should teach them to suppress. He regards military censorship over the press as a weak invention.

CAMP FIRES.—Our army will soon need good fires in all their camps. Very important and very easy is it to make good temporary fire-places in their tents. The plan adopted by one of the New York regiments is first to dig a trench a foot wide and deep, running from the interior to the exterior of the tent, then to cover it over with the exception of a foot at each end, the inside serving as a fire-place, and the outside end covered with a tadless barrel serves as a chimney. The invention is of California origin, and is very convenient and popular from the fact that it costs nothing and can be made anywhere; the enemy cannot steal it, and it needs no wagon to carry it.

Where a regiment is to winter in a wooded country, log huts are easily made comfortable.

☞ The heavy telescopic rifles taken by Berdan's Sharpshooters to the war are to be discarded, (having proved too unwieldly) and Sharpe's breech-loading rifle substituted. The latter will have bayonets two inches longer than usual, to make up for the deficiency in length of the Sharpe rifle, as compared with the ordinary rifle.

TEMPORARY MADNESS may, perhaps, be necessary in some cases, to cleanse and restore the mind; just as a fit of illness is, to carry off the humors of the body.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Governor Berry has offered a reward of $30 for each deserter from any regiment of the N. H. Volunteers.

—— The Merrimack Lodge, No. 28, I. O. O. F., of Franklin, have voted to invest about $500 of their fund in the Government loan. A good example.

—— The Hon. Joseph Healy died at his residence in Washington, N. H., on the 18th inst., at the advanced age of 85 years. He was a member of Congress from this State, from 1825 to 1829, and was father of Hon. John P. Healy, the present City Solicitor of Boston.

—— On Saturday morning about 3 o'clck fire was discovered in a barn connected with a residence owned by the Manchester Print Works Corporation, and occupied by Mr. Hanson Tasker. After destroying the barn and shed the fire extended to the house, which was soon in a blaze and totally destroyed. From this the fire spread to a large two-story building containing eight tenements, owned by Mr. A. W. Dickey, which, together with shed connected, was entirely destroyed. The loss of Mr. Tasker was chiefly in the contents of the cellar; the furniture was mostly saved, but in damaged condition. The building was fully insured. Mr. Dickey's loss was $3000; insured $2000, in the Union Mutual Co., of Concord. There was a small hucking party in Tasker's barn Friday night, and whether the fire was the result of the accidental use of the lights at that time, or the work of an incendiary, is not known.

—— George Varney, who fatally stabbed Hiram Leathers, in Barnstead, a short time since, has been sentenced to twelve years in the State Prison, sixty days of which are to be passed in solitary confinement.

—— The first company for the Eighth Regiment went into camp at Manchester on Saturday. It came from Nashua, under command of Capt. Barrett, and numbers 107 men.

NAVAL.—Lieut. John H. Russell, who commanded the expedition from the U. S. steam frigate Colorado, which destroyed the privateer Judith, in Pensacola harbor, has been detached from the Colorado and ordered to the North, to be placed in command of one of the new gunboats now building for the government. Lieut. Russell is from Maryland.

The U. S. steam sloop-of-war Dacotah, for Boston, sailed from Hong Kong Aug. 6.

The U. S. steam sloop of war Saginaw, reported for Shanghae, sailed from Hong Kong Aug. 9.

The U. S. steamer Hartford, from Hong Kong, arrived at Singapore Aug. 17, and was to sail 23d for Philadelphia, touching at Batavia and Cape Town, C. G. H.

☞ News from San Francisco to the 5th inst. is received by telegraph from Pacific Springs. Gen. Sumner was preparing to send to the East the greater part of the regular troops in his department. Their places will be supplied by volunteers. Five regiments of mounted men, to be armed with rifle and lasso, were nearly full. Many emigrants from Texas were arriving in Southern California. Business at San Francisco is reported to be improving.—Heavy failures had occurred at Stockton and other places. Steamer Champion arrived at New York Sunday, from Aspinwall, with $1,000,000 in California gold.

☞ A small tribe of amateur Indians, from Haverhill, Mass., passed up through Epping towards the mountains and ponds in Nottingham. A long wagon, drawn by two horses, contained their boat, tent, military and naval stores, including provisions, bedding and so forth, with the Indians themselves, looking very much like Yankees. Over the whole floated a goodly flag, the stars and stripes, showing that they are friendly Indians, and not rebels. They will probably encamp in the mountain region, and paddle round in the ponds all the week.

☞ On Saturday two men, Messrs. Caswell and Durgin, of Northwood, were returning from New Market towards their home, riding on the usual high front seat of a large shoe wagon, when, as they were descending a hill, the seat broke, and both the men were thrown down. Caswell fell to the ground, and the wheels passed over his body, injuring him so that he died in about four hours. He leaves a widow and child. Durgin, as he fell, caught hold on the harness of one of the horses, and received only slight injury.

BRIG. GEN. PIERCE is at home in Freetown, Mass., in feeble health. The newspaper statement that he has been serving as a private in Col. Webster's regiment, arose from the fact that while on a visit to Col. Webster, he twice volunteered in case of alarm, and once came near being shot by the careless use of a musket in the hands of a volunteer. Gen. Pierce had previously been in Washington, asking an investigation of the Bethel affair, and was informed that the official reports of the battle contained nothing against him.

The real version of Russell's left, is.—Perversion.

☞ A little daughter of Mrs. Wilson, residing in Albany, after a sudden relapse succeeding a severe illness, apparently died. The remains were prepared for the grave, but on Wednesday night the supposed dead child screamed and immediately the functions of life were resumed. When the child screamed, all those present, except the mother, became greatly alarmed and ran out of the room. The child is now in a fair way of recovering.

Governor Wise, after forfeiting the esteem of all honest men at the North, has fallen into disgrace even with his coadjutors and fellow rebels in Virginia, by his ridiculous military manœuvres. Wise once boasted to a friend that the military qualities of the Virginians were so extraordinary that with 5000 men he could march North and South through Ohio, and then East and West into the neighboring States! When it came to the trial, he was found dodging from pillar to post, afraid to face enemies whom he outnumbered. And now, melancholy termination to a disgraceful career, the news reaches us that he will probably be court-martialled by that very government which his influence in his native State did so much to fasten upon its wretched people. It is "the engineer hoisted by his own petard" again.—Boston Post.

THE MERRIMAC OR WOLFE HOTEL in Newburyport, will be a hundred years old in a few months, its establishment dating back to 1762. The centennial anniversary will be celebrated on the 22d of February, 1862, with the pomp and spirit—(we don't mean ardent spirit)—worthy the patriotism of olden times, and worthy the enterprise of the present landlord. The Wolfe Hotel has always had the best reputation.

☞ Madame Saqui, a few weeks since, performed on the tight rope at the Hippodrome, Paris. She is now 83 years of age, and is forced to dance by the profligacy of her son who squandered on wicked women a fortune she earned in her youth. The only creditable thing the boy ever did was o blow out his brains.

☞ Ezra Nealley, a young man of 20 years, a native of Nottingham, N. H., and a member of the 2d Regiment New Hampshire Volunteers, died of typhoid fever, Oct. 6, in hospital near Washington; and his remains were brought home to Nottingham and interred Oct. 11.

PLANTS NEED EXERCISE.—Plants not less than animals need exercise to keep them in good health. This is furnished by the winds which gi e them motion. Hot house plants fail of natural vigor for lack of it. In the botanical gardens of Paris the more delicate and valuable trees are shaken every day to exercise them, with the best results. We have known apple trees to receive much exercise of that kind, but not for that purpose.

☞ A. Williams & Co., Boston, have just issued a pamphlet of 50 pages, entitled, "Cheap Cotton by Free Labor. By a Cotton Manufacturer." It is an exhibition of facts and figures on the culture of cotton, designed to show that free white men can and do cultivate it profitably, and that free black men might also do something at it.—It speaks plainly, and is worthy of attention.

☞ Godey's Lady's Book for November, 1861, has for its frontispiece a prize engraving of a school, containing 18 figures, and entitled, The New Boy. There is also the splendid double page pattern plate, and a great variety of matters interesting to ladies.

☞ Peterson's Magazine, for November, has engravings of the Little Nurse, Navy Courtship, Latest Equestrian Fashions, &c.

HOMŒOPATHY RENOUNCED.—Dr. John C. Peters, of New York, late one of the editors of the North American Journal of Homœopathy, published in that city, has resigned his editorship, a valedictory from his pen appearing in the February number of that work. In this valedictory he does not speak of any recent change of views as the cause of his resignation, but says there are other fields of labor more congenial to his tastes; that he is and ever has been "opposed to all exclusivism and one-idea-ism" in religion, politics, science, and his much-loved profession, and that he has "always endeavored to incorporate in homœopathy all sound advances in medicine." The May and August numbers of that journal present as nothing further on that subject; but in the American Medical Times for August 17th, Dr. Peters publishes a letter in which he more fully states his position, and says, "I now most distinctly do not believe or practice according to any one medical dogma or exclusive system." He further says, that in commencing the study of medicine he had entertained the hope that "homœopathy in its future and rational developement, would supply all that was deficient in medicine;" but still he was not unmindful of the advances constantly making in regular practice. With regard to infinitesimal doses, he says he has never been a convert to the use of them; "they have been so repugnant," he adds, "to every action of common sense which I possess, that I have always felt absolutely degraded when making what I conceived to be unnecessary trials with them;" these trials moreover, had never been attended with satisfactory success. So, too, with the dogma similia similibus curantur; "it seemed," he says, "so utterly opposed to reason, that it was often with difficulty that I could force myself to practice according to it." His letter concludes with the statement that hereafter, however painfully and reluctantly, he must endeavor to cast his lot "with other friends, other theories, and other practice."—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

☞ They say a man in Springfield married a second wife, brushed up his house, and took the coffin plate of his first wife to an engraver, and wanted to know how much it would cost to erase the inscription and put in its place his own name, that he might use it for a door-plate!

An English jury has lately been terribly troubled in its mind by the question, "Is a velocipede a pedestrian?" Pedestrians have a right to the sidewalk; a lady rolled her baby on the sidewalk in a velocipede; an obstructed citizen prosecuted her; lady pleaded that the velocipede was a pedestrian; the jury staid out eight hours and came back with the verdict, "really, can't say."

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

AMHERST, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & Co.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. A. CARTER, Jr., Druggist.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This is not to say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully, yours,

America is justly proud of its beautiful women; but how many die annually, or prematurely close their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of Druggists, Sole Agents.

POLICE COURT, Monday, Oct. 14th,—Judge Odell presiding.—Wm. Ross' case, for stabbing man at Newcastle, which was postponed for hearing, came up this morning, and he was returned to jail to wait action of the Grand Jury.

A shop keeper, (who don't want to be advertised,) for violation of Sunday ordinance No. 2, Sec. 1, was fined $7 and costs, $4.80.

Timothy Lynch, for assaulting Henry Pool, was fined $3, and costs $3.86.

☞ They are to have a Musical Convention in Augusta, Me., this week, under direction of Prof. B. F. Baker. Yes, and they have them almost all over Maine and Massachusetts—but New Hampshire is rather slow in music. Portsmouth has been favored with three or four, but didn't appreciate them or pay the expenses—a few would-be musicians, "wise above what is written," actually working against them!

☞ Rev. Wm. Gage, pastor of the North (Congregational) Church in this city, has been kept at home by ill health for a few months past; and last Sabbath an address from him, was read to his congregation, asking leave of absence for several months, as he is advised to go abroad for his health.—He has been settled here but about eight months, we believe.

NEW GOVERNMENT STEAMERS.—The two new side-wheel steamers now building at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, have been named the Sebago and Mahaska—from two lakes in Maine—reports the Portsmouth Chronicle. Will "Uncle Tobey" please state in what part of Maine "Mahaska" is situated?—Boston Transcript.

Well, friend Transcript, we guess, on reflection, that must be the Down East "jumping off place," which no voyager ever yet reached. When the Santee again remains at the Portsmouth Navy Yard so long after being ready for sea, we'll send her in search of it. By the way, Mr. Transcript, how do you spell "Toby"?—Perhaps, after all, our neighbors o' the Portland Advertiser can tell the inquiring Transcript all about the matter—for we see they made the same statement editorially, next day after the Chronicle did; and surely they ought to know better than we, since our Navy Yard has been moved over into Maine.

Letters from various Indian chiefs to the government agents have been received.—All breathe loyal sentiments and a determination to stand by the government. Efforts are being made to hold a conference with all the chiefs as to a future policy. The rebel agents are very busy among them, but it is stated that all the Indians who are in arms against the government have been coerced.

The mother of Jackson, who murdered Ellsworth, was arrested on Sunday for keeping a rendezvous for the rebel spies near Prospect Hill.

Ship Great Republic was loading with 1000 horses at New York on Monday. The fleet in the harbor was growing less cumbrous.

It is said there is considerable trouble among the authorities of the rebel camp, and that both Floyd and Wise are disgraced. Roger Pryor is running for the rebel Congress, and forsaking the army on the ground that there will be a suspension of a hostilities during the winter.

☞ The New York Herald's Washington dispatch says intelligence from our Mexican minister is to the effect that the Mexican government has asked a loan from our government of from five to ten millions. It also says our government is determined to stand by Mexico at all hazards, and protect her against the encroachments of foreign powers. Our government has addressed communications to England, France and Spain, to know what their intentions are, to which no response has yet been received.

THE BERMUDA.—The alleged arrival of the steamer Bermuda at Savannah, with large supplies for the rebels, still lacks confirmation by advices from the South,—and we very much doubt whether any such vessel has succeeded in running the blockade.—Boston Journal.

☞ Under the head of reinforcements for the rebel infantry, a Fairfax letter announces that a lady there had been delivered of three boys at a birth. She has named them Johnston, Lee and Beauregard.

Better to stem with heart and hand,
The roaring tide of life, than lie
Unmindful, on its flowery strand,
Of God's occasions drifting by!
Better with naked nerve to bear
The needles of this goading air,
Than, in the lap of sensual ease, forego
The godlike power to do, the godlike aim to know.
—Whittier's "Last Walk in Autumn."

☞ We understand the 5th Regiment N. H. V., now at Concord, are to depart on Thursday for the seat of war. Great numbers of the men are now visiting their homes.

THE UNION.

God save the Union He has made,
And let it ever stand
While freemen's blood in freemen's veins
Shall circle through the land.

☞ Mr. Jeremiah Gordon, of Saco, the proprietor and for many years the popular landlord of the York Hotel, died Oct. 8, aged 69.

☞ A writer in the New England Farmer, speaking of dogs, says: "As a curse to the Commonwealth, they stand, in an economical point of view next to rum!"

☞ The New York Journal of Commerce is now the largest newspaper in the country, the St. Louis Republican, lately the largest, having yielded to the pressure of the times and taken in a part of its sail.

☞ The Annual Parade of the Newburyport Fire Department will be made on Thursday next, when the Companies will compete for the Silver Trumpet.

☞ The Chicago papers announce a rehearing of the Burch case at the October term of the Du Page Circuit. One of the parties interested (Stuart) has gone to the wars as a Lieutenant Colonel.

☞ The fashions tell us that for the month of October dresses are to be comparatively plain, with one or two flounces only as the rule. Bonnets suffer diminution of size.

☞ The soup house established in Baltimore by Ross Winans, supplies six thousand persons daily. The amount of soup distributed daily is 800 gallons, and of bread 1600 loaves.

In Africa small pox is cured without medicine. The patient is put into a sheet and gently lowered into a stream, and afterwards left in the sun to dry. This is repeated several times, and the cure is complete.

☞ The war news still continues to be anything but exciting. The public have been expecting for some days to hear of a battle that would amount to something, but it has not happened.

Be Wise To-day.—'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold. Consumption may follow, and though Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry cures the latter disease, yet the former disappear at once under its influence. 6t

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambucci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. ly

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, that ever has been brought before the public. JOHN B. GIVENS, No. 94 Elm Street.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin, need be so no longer, if they use "Costar's" Exterminators. We have used them to our satisfaction, and if a box cost $5, we would have it. We had tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but COSTAR's article knocks the breath out of Rats, Mice and Bed Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar distress or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth Sts., Philadelphia.

By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The need—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a fin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and the jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the Summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. Regard for DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a hush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

STOVES.

1861. MAGEE'S PATENT COOKING STOVE. 1861.

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

PATENT COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

STOVE.

We deem it nunecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

We have on hond many other kinds of COOK STOVES, which are well known in this vicinity, among which are

THE GOOD SAMARITAN,
BOSTON AND MAINE,
TRIUMPH, CLIPPER, EMPIRE STATE,
KITCHEN QUEEN, DAYLIGHT,
WHITE MOUNTAIN, &c.,

For Wood or Coal.

We also offer for sale, the COUNT, SPARTAN, CORAL, FAVORITE, TRIUMPH, LEADER, &c., with a variety of SHEET IRON STOVES, with or without ovens; CYLINDER AND BOX STOVES, of all sizes and prices, and a general assortment of

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1861.

THE COST OF OUR WAR is, comparatively, one of its least evils. Our Revolutionary war left a debt of 360 millions, and during the war the credit of the government was prostrate and its paper worthless. The war of 1812 left a debt of about 125 millions.—It was mainly in loans, and the government paper then depreciated immensely. How large our debt may now become, nobody can conjecture, for nobody can see the end of the war, or tell on what terms peace may be made. We shall probably expend this year as much money as both our wars with England cost; and should the contest go on for several years it may count up to billions. With us, two thousand millions, in point of interest to be paid, would be equal to the debt of Great Britain, since our rate of interest is double theirs.

We have the advantage so far of keeping our debt among ourselves, so that whatever we may pay will be to ourselves. The money is borrowed here; it is chiefly expended here, coming back rapidly to the great centres of traffic whence it started; and no foreign bankers will collect the interest on the same. However great the expenses, therefore, to-day, we do not impoverish the nation. It only changes money from one hand to another. Nor is it probable that we shall ever suffer severely from the national debt. Taxes will be higher, but they may be so managed that the public will not feel them to be such a burden as some apprehend. Our population is larger than that of Great Britain, and nearly as large as that of France; it is destined soon to be larger than both, and our resources are immense and cannot fail to increase. There is no reason, therefore, to apprehend great evils on this score. Hon. James Dixon, in a late speech at Hartford, on the security of the national loan as an investment, expressed himself in the following forcible language:—

Look at England. You say our expenses are large, and so they are. Some estimate them at one million of dollars a day. But what were the expenses of England during her war with Napoleon? From 1803 to 1816, with less than eighteen millions of inhabitants her expenses were $1,300,000 a day for a period of thirteen years. For one hundred days previous to the battle of Waterloo, her expenses were five millions of dollars a day. Of this vast sum a large proportion was expended on the continent of Europe—while our entire expenditure is at home. If for thirteen years England could expend one million three hundred thousand dollars abroad, cannot we do it for one or two years, if necessary—every dollar meanwhile remaining at home? Interest, therefore, no less than patriotism, requires us to subscribe for the loan.

☞ It is quite certain, that while the great mass of our free people acquiesce in the position of the administration with reference to Fremont's proclamation, a very large proportion of them look with surprise and disgust upon the return of slaves by our soldiers. They do not believe it is the duty of our soldiers to engage in slave hunting, and recent instances of this in our army about Washington have provoked indignation.

The masses of the North mean that the Union and the Constitution shall be preserved; but when it is necessary to decide which must fall—the institution of Southern Slavery or the Government, slavery will go under.

☞ Laws for the punishment of drunkards are of much older date than the State of New Hampshire. They were created with the license laws, in the early days of the Colony.

They have often been changed; and were retained in connection with the prohibitory law.

A few years since the passage of this latter law, our legislature, unwisely copying from Massachusetts, amended the law so that a man could not be tried and punished for one act of drunkenness,—but if it could be proved that he was drunk three times within 30 days, then he could be fined.

This year, however, the legislature altered the law back again, so that single acts or cases of drunkenness are to be punished; and this change it is which accounts for the increased number of convictions in the police court.

NAVAL.—An immense amount of tonnage is included in the grand naval expedition fitting out at New York. Some of the vessels have already sailed. It will be composed of 15 steamships, 25,045 tons; eight chartered ships, 10,483 tons; ten do. barks, 4480 tons; twenty-two schooners, besides a large number of gunboats.

The U. S. steam sloop-of-war Richmond was at Fort Jefferson, Sept. 30, all well.—She had been on a coral reef for about thirty hours, but was not damaged.

☞ The Boston Post-office should be put on wheels. An order has been forwarded from Washington to Boston, to remove it from Summer Street back to its old location on State Street.

THE REBELLION.

One million percussion caps, ostensibly for Havana, were seized by the police, Monday, in front of a store on Broadway.

According to the Richmond Enquirer, there is a brisk quarrel going on between Wise and Floyd, arising out of the campaign in Western Virginia. The Enquirer says Wise was never tainted with suspicion of crime, like Floyd. It is reported that Wise is seriously ill. The same paper says the engineer who ran the train off the track, on the day of the battle of Bull Run, has been discharged from arrest.

Maj. Gen. Halleck and Brig. Gen. Sumner are expected from California by the next steamer. Both will be assigned important commands. Gen. Harney expects to, and probably will be, assigned to the Department of the Pacific.

The Government is about erecting permanent baracks in Washington for 60,000 troops.

Sec. Cameron arrived at St. Louis Sunday night.

A dispatch from Syracuse, Mo., says it is understood that Gen. Cameron expresses himself highly gratified with the condition of Gen. Fremont's army.

Gen Fremont is on the eve of moving, but is greatly embarrassed for the want of means of transportation.

The iron bridge over Green river at Munfordsville, Ky., was blown up by the rebels Monday morning. [Munsfordsville is on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, 72 miles from Louisville.]

☞ Maj. Gen. Butler arrived at Concord on Monday afternoon. The citizens, having ascertained that he was at the Eagle Hotel, assembled in large numbers in front of the hotel, and gave him a most enthusiastic and cordial welcome. In response to their call, he responded in a spirited and patriotic speech, being frequently interrupted by cheers. At the conclusion of his remarks, loud calls, for half an hour, were made for Ex-President Pierce, who was present; but he failed to respond.

☞ Young Southerners, residing temporarily in Paris, are having a hard time of it. It is difficult to get remittances from the "governors" or anybody else. One young man from Mobile, said to have an income of $8000 a year, is in the debtor's prison of Clichy, at the suit of the keeper of an "American bar-room." But the worst case of all is that of a young man from one of the Southern States, who by the stoppage of the Southern mails is left perfectly destitute there. And that is not the worst of it. He has been for some time engaged to be married to a young lady in Boston, and the happy event was set for the 15th of September. The time has passed, and the unhappy lover, with three thousand miles of briny ocean between him and his beloved, is living in Paris upon the charity of his friends.

A STEADY-GOING PARISH.—The first church in Braintree, Mass., was gathered in September, 1707, since which time it has had but three pastors besides Rev. Dr. Storrs, the present minister. None of his predecessors has lived less than seventy-five years, or preached less than fifty years. The second pastor had good health to such a rare degree that he preached on every Sunday but two during forty-six years.—Dr. Storrs has just entered upon the fifty-first year of his ministry over this ancient society.

☞ The Commissioners to the World's Fair organized at Washington on Monday, by electing Secretary Seward chairman, and Mr. Kennedy, Superintendent of the Census, secretary of the thirteen commissioners. Edward Everett was the only commissioner absent; he sent a letter of excuse. A committee was appointed to wait on the President with a request that he send a national vessel to England to convey such goods as the American contributors may desire to exhibit.

☞ One of the Washington dispatches says:—Unfounded statements of a character prejudicial to the public interests frequently appear in the telegraphic news of journals published at a distance from the capital. The inquiry is often made why this government permits such dispatches to pass over the wires. It is therefore proper to say, by request, that these statements really go by mail and not by telegraph, or are prepared at the points where they appear.

FOR THE SOLDIERS.—Capt. John Buntin of Newburyport will to-day forward the first contribution of the ladies of that city to the soldiers of the West—a box containing two hundred pairs of stockings, fifty blankets, knit draws, pillows, and other garments for their comfort. Many hands are now busy in making garments for the sick and the well of the army. This box goes to St. Louis. Another will follow in a few days.—Herald.

☞ Accounts from Australia state that the natives of Erromanga had murdered Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, of the Nova Scotia Mission. The cause for this was that the measles had raged with great severity, which the natives attributed to the missionaries.

The Norfolk Examiner, of Monday, publishes a dispatch from New Orleans stating that an engagement had taken place at the head of the Passes. It also gives the following:—

FORT JACKSON, Oct. 12.—Last night I attacked the blockaders with my little fleet. I succeeded, after a very short struggle, in driving them all aground on the South-west pass bar, except the Preble, which I sunk. I captured a prize from them, and after they were fast in the sand, I peppered them well. There are no casualties on our side. It was a complete success. (Signed)
HOLLINS.

Another New Orleans dispatch expresses the belief that a sufficient rebel force can be organized to capture the entire Federal fleet, in its present disabled condition.—Yet the whole story needs confirmation.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says the Sec. of War has ordered Gen. Fremont to discontinue, as unnecessary, his field works around St. Louis and Jefferson City, and to employ all the money in the hands of the disbursing officers to the payment of the current expenses of the army in Missouri, and to let all his debts in St. Louis, amounting to $4,500,000, remain unpaid until properly examined and sent to Washington for settlement.

He has also ordered that hereafter all contracts be made by the regular disbursing officers of the army. Gen. Fremont was also informed that payment would not be made to officers appointed by him.

The N. Y. World has a special dispatch from St. Louis, that there is a report that Gen. Fremont has been recalled from the Department of the West, but it is not strictly true, his recall depending upon the report of Sec. Cameron and Gen. Thomas.

A dispatch from Fortress Monroe, Monday, says Lieut. Murray, of gun-boat Louisiana, two or three days since, found a rebel vessel in a narrow opening near Oregon Inlet, fitting out as a pirate. He took possession, and made a boufire of her. The rebels were in force in the vicinity.

Nothing has been seen of the rebels on the Potomac from Washington to Fortress Monroe, but the entrances to the York, North, East and West rivers were not guarded.

The Secretary of the Navy has written a complimentary letter to Lieut. Russell, commanding the recent boat expedition at Fort Pickens, and promoted him to the command of one of the new gun-boats.

A SINGULAR AFFAIR OF HONOR.—There arrived by the Edinburg on Saturday, from Europe, Capt. C. Lee Moses, of Saco, Me., late U. S. astronomer, &c., who is the sufferer from the results of a singular and not unromantic affair of honor, which was fought on the Seine, near Paris, on the 19th of Aug. The particulars of the affair are as follows:—Capt. Moses, although a South Carolinian by birth, is a devoted adherent to the cause of the Union, and during his journey through France made no hesitation in expressing his sympathies and feelings for the U. S. Government, and his abhorrence of the Southern traitors.

Hon. F. G. Farquar, of Virginia, meeting him at a hotel in Paris, and knowing his parentage, reproached him in opprobrious terms as a renegade from his native State. He took occasion in his vituperation, also, to cast imputations upon the character of Northern ladies, which, as the Captain had married a New England wife, was resented by a tremendous blow, entirely doubling up the chivalric Virginian and laying him in ordinary for the remainder of the evening.

Farquar, when he had gathered his scattered faculties, sent a challenge to the Captain. The challenge received a prompt response, and not twenty-four hours from the first meeting of the combatants, they stood on the banks of the Seine, prepared to take each other's lives. The weapons selected were Derringer pistols, the distance ten paces, the combatants being ordered to wheel and fire at a given signal. Farquar was boastful and coarse in his manner and remarks. The Captain was calm, though determined. All being ready, Capt. Moses handed two letters to his second, one addressed to the American Consul at Liverpool, and the other to his wife at Saco, Me., to be delivered in case he fell. He then took his position. The word was given, and with a simultaneous report of both pistols, the combatants fell to the ground. Both were shot through the head. Farquar received a mortal wound, with which he lingered several days. Before dying he solicited an interview with Capt. Moses, and solicited the latter's forgiveness, which was freely granted. The Captain, escaping from the French police, took refuge at Liverpool, where he was concealed by the American shippers of that city and sent on to New York by the Edinburg. He is now at the Stevens House in New York, where he lies in a very critical condition. The ball of his adversary passing immediately under the ear, caused a severe concussion of the brain, which was more dangerous from the fact that the Captain had received a severe wound in the head in the Mexican war.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Highland servants are proverbially matter of fact. Mr. Campbell, a country gentleman about leaving a house in the mountains, told his man Donald to bring down everything out of the bedroom. Shortly after, going out into the hall, he found that the faithful creature had removed every thing in the shape of furniture from the room, and made a pile of fenders, fire-irons, chairs, carpets, &c., in the entry. On another occasion he told Donald, "Carry any ladies who may call, up into my parlor." A few minutes afterward, Donald appeared on the stairs, very red in the face, struggling with a dowager, whom he was attempting willy-nilly to lug up bodily, according to literal orders.

☞ We learn that Hon. Joseph A. Gilmore, of Concord, has accepted the commission tendered him, as Colonel of the New Hampshire Regiment of Volunteers to be raised for special service in Gen. Butler's division. If he can attend to it, among his other multifarious duties, he will make a most efficient and popular officer, or we miss our guess.

In addition to the public withdrawal of Dr. Peters, of New York, from the homeopathic ranks, as stated in the Journal of August 23d, three other physicians in that city, recently homeopathic practitioners, publish in the Medical Times a declaration absolving themselves "from any and all medical sects," and reserving to themselves the legitimate title of physicians and surgeons. The names of these gentlemen are Ed. P. Fowler, M. D; Wm. Faulkner Browne, M. D.; and W. O. McDonald, M. D.—Boston Medical & Surgical Journal.

☞ The Centennial of the Essex North Congregational Association was held in Rowley, Mass., Tuesday.

☞ We have received the Congressional Globe and Appendix, for the session of 1860 61, from our Senator Clark.

☞ Major Gen. B. F. Butler arrived in Boston on Saturday, and left on Monday for New Hampshire and Maine.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

From a prominent Druggist of Portsmo., N. H.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1859.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully,
WM. R. PRESTON.

American Women.

America is justly proud of its beautiful women: but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my29daw3m

THE U. S. SHIP PORTSMOUTH.

Editors of the Chronicle:—The citizens of this city must be aware of the arrival of the U. S. ship Portsmouth, and the detention of the crew in this city on account of the non-payment, as yet, of their wages;—twenty-one days having passed since her arrival. The crew of the Portsmouth have more confidence in the Government and the Secretry of the Navy to think that they are at fault in the delay, but are informed it is with officers who have of late been identified with this ship.

The crew think they have done their duty like men, and see no reason why they should be detained so long from their friends, many of them having no money in order to get home with, their expenses having been large since they have been ashore.

Now, Messrs. Chroniclers, if you can give us any information as to the cause of the detention, whether it is with the Government, or the officers of the ship, you would confer a great favor on the CREW OF THE PORTSMOUTH.

Reply.—We very willingly insert these statements and inquiries, as requested;—though we are unable to answer them—but we have understood, that the unfortunate delay for poor Jack was caused by the trouble among the officers of the ship, and not by any neglect or shortcoming on the part of the Government.—Eds. Chron.

☞ The workmen at our Navy Yard have not been paid off for several weeks—two payments having been passed, we believe. It is probable that they will receive their pay in a few days—and perhaps in treasury notes, as at the Charleston yard of late—and as seems to us altogether advisable.

Upwards of ten thousand men are now employed at the Brooklyn, Charlestown, Philadelphia, Washington and Portsmouth Navy Yard.—Portland Advertiser.

Where is that Navy Yard? And where is "Portsmouth Navy Yard?" We thought the Advertiser & Company had removed it to Kittery. Things are getting mixed up.

☞ The large force employed at the Navy Yard here, are doing up the work laid out, at a rapid rate. We learn that all the timber required for the four vessels in course of construction, has been received at the yard—the contractors, Messrs. Jewett & Butler, having supplied an immense amount of excellent timber in a very short time.

☞ We understand that to-day (the third Wednesday in the month,) is pay-day at the Portsmouth Steam Mill—the first payment since the starting up, September 2.

The time worked now is not full, the Mill not being lighted up, morning or evening. This arrangement, if not conducive to long bills, is promotive of longer life; and the spare time, if well used, may be of more value than the money.

☞ We learn that the work of building the new branch of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, from Hooksett to Manchester, is progressing favorably, the earth-work being about half done. Three or four hundred men are employed by Messrs. Peirce, Jewett & Co., and they hope to finish their contract before winter sets in. No contract for laying the track has yet been made. A considerable portion of new iron will be needed to make out the 11 miles of track to be relaid.

LOST,

A black SCARF, with cashmere border, between the Rockingham House and Navy Yard landing. The finder will be suitably rewarded on leaving it to LIEUT. RIELL, U. S. Navy, at the Rockingham House.

LATEST.

Accounts from Washington states that rations are now issued for 243,000 men. Large numbers of the sick were removed on Tuesday from the government hospitals in Washington to Baltimore.

Richmond papers state that a rebel steamer, from Charleston, S. C., ran the blockade on the 12th, with Mason as minister to England and Slidell, to France.

A battle is reported, on the 27th, between the Kansas troops under Montgomery and the advance guard of McCulloch, near Shanghai, Barton Co., Mo. The rebels were driven back with considerable loss, and pursued "some 40 miles." (Doubtful.)

It is also reported that an Illinois regiment has surprised and taken Lebanon, Laclide Co., Mo., with all the stores and provisions of the rebels.

☞ The Preble, reported as sunk at New Orleans, is a sloop-of-war of 566 tons, carries 16 guns, and was built at the Portsmouth Navy Yard in 1839.

A CASE OF AGGRAVATED ASSAULT AND ROBBERY happened the other day a few miles out of town on the Newburyport Railroad. Mr. John Floyd, of Byfield, who had just returned from a fishing voyage and was supposed to be in funds, while walking up from town was waylaid by a couple of Irishmen, and stripped of his coat and vest, and so badly wounded in the affray that he was confined to his bed for two or three days. He escaped from them and walked with difficulty across the pastures to the main road, where he told his story to one or two others, who immediately started in pursuit of the rascals. They overtook them and demanded restitution of the spoils, but were answered by a shower of rocks, which felled one of them, who was taken up for dead. He was with difficulty resuscitated.—Herald.

☞ We are informed that Rev. Mr. Foote, of Salem, has received a unanimous call to King's Chapel in Boston, at a salary of $8500.

DRILLING.

Sweet Amy asked, with pleading eyes,
"Dear Charley, teach me, will you,
The words I've heard your captain say—
I should so like to drill you."

"What, little one, you take command!
Well, Amy, I'm quite willing;
In such a company as yours,
I can't have too much drilling.

"Stand over there, and sing out clear,
Like this—'Squad stand at ease!'
"Oh, Charles, you'll wake papa up stairs,
Don't shout like that, dear, please."

"I stand at ease like this, you see?
And then I need scarce mention
The next command you have to give
Is this one—'Squad—Attention!'"

"Now, Amy, smartly after me,
(You're sure, dear, it don't bore you?)
Forward—Quick March!—Halt—Front—Right
Dress—
There, now, I'm close before you.

"Present Arms—Well, it does look odd,
You don't believe I'd trifle;
We hold our arms out just like this,
In drill, without the rifle.

"Now say—'Salute your officer;'"
"Oh, Charles, for shame, how can you?
I thought that you were at some trick;
You horrid cheating man, you."

Charles "ordered arms"—without command,
She smoothed her rumpled hair,
And pouted, frowned, and blush'd, and then
Said softly—"As you were."

Be Wise To-day.—'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold. Consumption may follow, and though Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry cures the latter disease, yet the former disappear at once under its influence. 6t

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction 1y

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on al kinds of Vermin.

Roxoboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,

JOHN B. GIVENS, No. 94 Elm Street.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin, need be so no longer, if they use "Costar's" Exterminators. We have used them to our satisfaction, and if a box cost $5, we would have it. We had tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but COSTAR's article knocks the breath out of Rats, Mice and Bed Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

NTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankles, knees, elbows, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and as it internally strikes at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, with a view to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and the jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation".

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to MESSRS. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James E. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being concentrated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried on successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and now found unrivalled in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

PATENT COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the few may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians of the European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

NAMES AND THINGS.

A DIALOGUE.

BOSTON OFFICE SEEKER.—The Democratic party, as founded by Jefferson, was an honest, upright organization, and founded upon principle.

UNCLE TOBY.—Mr. Jefferson did not found a party called the Democratic party. The party which he founded always called itself the Republican party, as its newspapers plainly prove.

B. O. S.—This great party continued in power down to 1824, when John Quincy Adams was made President.

U. T.—This great party did not continue so long by eight years. The peace of 1815 broke the federal party all to pieces, and Mr. Monroe, elected as a Republican in 1816, mingled all parties in a mass, treated all alike, and was unanimously re-elected in 1820. Mr. Adams was elected in 1824 by a coalition, as is well known.

B. O. S.—But the Democracy rallied in 1828, and elected the old hero and patriot Jackson to the Presidential chair.

U. T.—It is not true that the Democratic party rallied in 1828, and elected Gen. Jackson,—but it is true that it was formed or gathered to elect him, and then for the first time, in this country, was the name Democratic adopted by any great party.

B. O. S.—At the time the party was all powerful. But unprincipled men came into the party afterwards, and killed it in 1840. Although it recovered its position in 1844, it was again defeated in 1848; rallied again in 1852, and swept the country like a whirl-wind. Pierce carried all of the States except four. The slavery excitement nearly defeated the party in 1856, yet Buchanan was elected. In the last contest the Democratic party cut loose from the pro-slavery leaders. The party is now neither anti-slavery nor pro-slavery, and has purified itself of the incubus in the shape of men and measures which carried it under in 1860, and now occupies the high and lofty position it did in the days of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson.

U. T.—In the days of Jefferson and Madison's rule, the party had no position and no existence! It is true that the unprincipled men, the pro-slavery leaders, and their measures were an incubus and killed the party, as the office seeker says, two or three times. They enslaved and killed the whig party too,—and will kill any party where they lead, as indeed they are now trying to enslave and kill the country.

The parties of last year, or five years ago, are dead or dying, or changing, some by defeat, some by coalitions, accessions, and other events consequent on the rebellion and war. And the peace, when that comes, will make further changes. Party names may be retained, or they may be changed: but parties are changing every hour.

Men of principle have no difficulty in knowing how to vote, or how to act, whether for the rebel slave power or against it—but the mere camp followers of every party are puzzled.

NAVAL.—The steamer Peerless at New York, has been chartered by the Government. It is iron and very fast. She has been laid up under seizure since spring, as it was stated that she would be used as a pirate by her rebel owners.

The following is a list of the officers of the sloop-of-war Preble, reported sunk by the rebels:—Commander, Henry French; Lieutenant, William E. Hopkins; Acting Masters, John Dillingham, John McKay and Samuel Hopkins; Paymaster, C. P. Wallock; Passed Assistant Surgeon, Stewart Kennedy; Acting Sailmaker, Geo. A. Whitman; Acting Boatswain, John Bates; Acting Carpenter, James Kinnear; Paymaster's Clerk, R. J. Beals; Master's Mates, Geo. H. Rice, Oliver A. Gordon, Chas. H. Washburne, Francis P. Parks; Captain's Clerk, Joshua Blake; Acting Midshipmen, B. F. Haskins and William M. Sanders.

The gun boat Marblehead, built by George W. Jackman, Esq., at Newburyport, was launched on Wednesday.

Five of the largest vessels designed to form part of the great naval expedition sailed from New York on Tuesday. The first destination of the vessels composing the expedition is Hampton Roads and Annapolis. The naval vessels will rendezvous at the former place, while the transports are engaged in taking on board troops from Annapolis. Fifteen thousand men were sent to Annapolis on Thursday. It is probable that an aggregate force of twenty-five thousand men will be sent off. These will be fully equipped, armed in the best manner, and supplied with an abundance of provisions.

☞ The Navy Department has intelligence from the East India squadron to Aug. 22. Flag-officer Engle had decided to leave the Saginaw remain on that station to look after American interests. In consequence of rumors that a privateer was fitting out at Shanghae, both the Saginaw and Dacotah were ordered to that port. The latter vessel will remain on that station as long as necessary, or until November in any event. A postscript to one of the letters says that the privateer story is believed to be a hoax.

THE CHRISTIAN PATRIOT.

We prefix this title, as the most expressive, to some portions of Rev. Dr. Burroughs' Fast Sermon, which he delivered in the Stone Church, and which, on our solicitation, he has kindly consented may appear in our columns.

If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins and heal their land.—2d Chronicles, chap. 7, verse 14.

The solemnity of this National Fast Day must fill us with the deepest interest and emotion. We are now assembled to hold converse with the Supreme Disposer of events about our country's welfare and the interests of humanity. Amidst the worst calamities that can befall us, we are come to our Divine Counsellor, Deliverer and Peace-maker, to enter into a negotiation with him respecting our present national distress and maladies,—and ascertain whether they can be healed; and on what terms or conditions. These are prescribed to us in the prayer made by Solomon, at the dedication of the temple on Mount Zion.—Who can refuse to listen to them? Who can presume to distrust their wisdom, justice and sincerity? Who can be so destitute of Christian patriotism, so reckless about our civil Government, Constitution and Union, as to be deaf and disobedient to the requisitions of heaven? Our proper observance of this Fast Day may influence, in our country's favor, the decrees of Omnipotence.

While directing your minds and feelings to the solemnities of this Fast Day, and shall surely be excused for mentioning some peculiarly interesting personal reminiscences, which it awakens. About thirty years since, I preached within these walls; and to that Sovereign Power who had brought the Asiatic pestilence to our shores, offered prayers that we might might be saved from its ravages. The services performed here on that occasion were at the solicitation of him who was the beloved Pastor of this Society, with whom I had enjoyed intimate friendship for a quarter of a century; who was settled as a minister over this Society only a few months before I commenced my residence in this town. His name, embalmed in your memories, was widely known and revered. Previous to his settlement here he officiated as a lay reader at the Episcopal Church in this place. Alarm at the approach of the pestilence induced some of our societies to observe a Fast Day. This circumstance led me to propose to your Pastor that we should make a similar arrangement for our respective churches.—He earnestly favored the proposal; but solicited, as his ill health would not allow him to preach on the occasion, that both our societies might unite in the solemnities of the service at my own church in the morning, and at his church in the afternoon, and that I would take the whole services at both places. Such a course was pursued. A little more than a year afterwards he was numbered with the spirits of the departed saints. In my eulogy on him, on the Sunday after his decease, was this passage:

"You all remember that interesting day when, apprehending the desolating scourge which had destroyed hundreds of thousands, and had appalled the world, we met together in humility and penitence in this church, and offered to the throne of grace our fervent petitions to be saved from the pestilence. You all know how deeply his soul was touched by the solemnities of that day. He declared they were among the most pleasing incidents of his life, and that he should not forget them till the day of his death." God alone knows whether at our last meeting for the Fast, on account of the pestilence, our devotions had any prevalence with God; but one thing was clear,—that though tens of thousands of persons in other cities were victims of this malady, yet it never came nigh us or our dwellings.

While alluding to his kindness in inviting me to his pulpit, I must also mention the goodness of his successor, who, full of sympathies and generous friendship, repeatedly invited me to officiate here, and I have occasionally accepted his invitation. His singular simplicity and integrity of heart, his learning, piety, benevolence and numerous other virtues, rendered our intercourse during his ministry one of true, uninterrupted and warm affection, and to myself of great profit and pleasure. I deeply deplore his removal from us, and am glad of the opportunity to pay this tribute to his worth.

By the strange vicissitudes of human events, we are brought together once more to keep a Fast Day within these same walls. But something more horrible than a pestilence is now at our doors. A civil war is convulsing this glorious country. We must appeal to God as our only deliverer. Fervent prayers from holy hearts must be offered to him. The sacramental host of God's elect must so pour forth their spiritual artillery as to take heaven by violence. All religious and political differences, all prejudices and parties are to be forgotten amidst our common danger. With one heart and soul we must plead for our country. Could your departed Pastor, to whom I have alluded, have been spared to be present with us to day, with his just discernment and fearless patriotism,—with what deep interest would he unite with us in our services, welcome us here with his sweetest complacency, and approve our exercises. If the spirits of the departed are interested in the welfare of our country, his spirit is with us in this house, and blesses this scene.

He is gone. The mantle of his charity fell from him when he left you. You have taken it, and smitten the waters of sectarianism, which have parted hither and thither, and blessed me with permission to address you on another Fast Day. What a beautiful contrast is this to that spirit of bigotry which takes a morose pride in exclusiveness, and makes it the impassable Jordan of all personal sympathies and courtesies. We admit that faith, conscience and consistency are justifiable grounds of action. We respect every one who conscientiously acts up to the principles of an enlightened faith. But we respect no one who holds the truth in unrighteousness,—whose creed impels him to invade the ground of Christian love, and to trample upon others' rights of conscience. It is this which wounds Christianity in the house of its friends; and makes men disciples of the Demon of Discord, and not of the Prince of Peace. One common love should bind us all. The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable. It should ever be our prayer that we may have the unity of the spirit in the bond of Peace.

It is beautiful to know that harmony of soul can and ought to be undisturbed by any diversity of sentiment—that the religion of our Divine Master can turn even the waters of intolerance into sweetness; and can bind in one common sympathy, men, who, in the dark days of theological hatred, were deemed utterly irreconcilable. Where can knowledge and piety, faith and zeal, truth and principle, ever have more perfect development, freedom, bliss and repose, than on the bosom of charity? Bright will be the triumphs of the church when this eulogy shall be pronounced on her children: "See how these Christians love one another."

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Hampton has furnished 36 men for the war, 23 being in the 3d N. H. Regt. and 13 in other regiments.

—— The ladies of Hampton held a Levee at the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, the proceeds to be devoted to the benefit of the soldiers.

—— Letters from members of the 4th Regiment assert that some of them have gained fifteen pounds since they left home.

The Belgian rifle, with which this regiment is supplied, weighs 11 1-2 pounds, and was used in the Crimea.

—— The company which is being recruited in Manchester for the New England Cavalry, is in a good state of forwardness. The minimum number required is 70. But it is intended to fill this company to maximum, which is 90, and one half of that number have already been enlisted.—The horses have not yet been procured, as the officers are awaiting orders concerning them from Gov. Sprague, of Rhode Island, who is to organize the Regiment.

—— Lieut. Robinson, wagon master of the Third Regiment, left Manchester on Saturday, with forty-three additional teamsters, whom he had enlisted in about a week.

—— On Thursday last, Mr. Asa Knowlton, one of the oldest residents of Danbury, died at the age of 84 years. His family generally reach an advanced age—the father being 84 and the mother 83 at the time of their deaths, and the grandfather having reached nearly 100 years.

—— A man belonging to the 19th Massachusetts Regiment died a day or since, and was buried with military honors at Poolesville, Md. His name was Phelps, and he was a native of Sutton, in this State.—The whole company with the band, attended his funeral; and if they remain there long enough, a member of his company will carve a stone with appropriate devices and erect it over the grave of the soldier and patriot.

—— Mr. James Moore, of Pembroke, has raised a monster potato, of the California specie, which weighed 5 lbs. 2 oz. when taken from the ground.

—— The Fifth Regiment now lacks less than a hundred men of being full. Lieut. Col. Seth Eastman, U. S. A., has been in Concord since last Friday, mustering in the companies.

—— Prof. Long of Dartmouth College, died at Hanover on Monday night.

THE REBELLION.

Fifty-seven prisoners, confined at Washington and New York, are to be released by the Government, on taking the prescribed oath of allegiance to the United States, or an oath not to engage in arms against the United States,—that number having been released by the rebels.

Applications from regular officers for the promotion of non-commissioned officers and men in their companies or regiments are very frequent and generally granted—a fact which should quicken enlistment.—However it may have been formerly, promotions in the regular army are now rapid and sure.

The train on the North Missouri Railroad from St. Louis was stopped at Rewick, Saturday morning, by 30 armed secessionists, and 6 Federal recruiting officers on board taken prisoners. The rebels then searched the train, but did not enter the express car, in which there were 300 Enfield rifles, and 2 tons of military clothing, destined for Nebraska. Five of the officers were released.

The mutiny at Tipton, Mo., was promptly quelled upon the appearance of the artillery, and the determined attitude assumed by Col. Brown. The mutineers laid down their arms and returned to camp. Col. Brown is sustained in the act by his brother officers. It is stated that the fellow had snatched a gun from a guard, and was in the act of pointing it, when the Colonel fired.

Our pickets now extend beyond Lewinsville, where the rebels, on Tuesday, in endeavoring to dispute the ground, were driven back by a gallant charge, so completely routing them that they did not make another appearance.

The Tribune's dispatch states that the Navy Department has ordered a fast steamer to pursue the steamer Nashville, alleged to have run the blockade off Charleston, with traitors Slidell and Mason on board.

The New Orleans dispatch of "Greytown Hollins" is disbelieved at Washington, as he was always a great braggart.

Local.

S. J. COURT.—WEDNESDAY, Oct. 16.

Eli Brown & ux. vs. Jeremiah Brown, app't. This action is an appeal from the judgment of a Justice of the Peace. The trial occupied all day. Hatch for appellee; Hackett for appellant.

Saml. P. Brown vs. Seabrook. The Jury went to view the premises under charge of Deputy Sheriff Bragdon, and the case will be taken up on Thursday. Christie and Collins for plff., Tuck and French for defts.

LYCEUM.—Messrs. Editors:—Are we to have a Lyceum this Winter? This is an inquiry we have frequently heard during the last few weeks, and it seems time for some one to make a move in the matter if we are to have one. Perhaps the "Mercantile Library Association" intend to have a course of lectures. If they have as good a series as last Winter, it can hardly fail to succeed. Can you inform the public on this point? F. & F.

We have not heard of any movement to this effect—but however well the Lyceum may "succeed," as a Lyceum, the institution has hardly paid for itself for years.

☞ Dr. Baker, the well-known dentist of this city, who has been in business for thirty years, (twenty of which have been passed in Portsmouth) informed us, in the course of a chat a day or two since, that he "owes no man anything," and has not thirty dollars due him. This is what we call doing a cash business. Not one dollar a year, of charges or loss! Glad of it—for everybody knows that the Dr. is one of the squarest of business men. But how many have had similar experience? Scarcely a business man anywhere but loses more than that sum every month—working, as our cash Dr. says, one-third or half his time, for nothing, or worse than that.

U. S. SHIP PORTSMOUTH.—The cause of the unfortunate delay in paying off for this ship, we are told, is that no officer had the requisite power to disburse the money. The Paymaster of the ship had been detached at Loando; and although he was here, it was thought he had no authority to pay off, notwithstanding the money was ready; neither had the Assistant Paymaster, who had been ordered to act on board of late. The question has been submitted to the U. S. Attorney General for decision—waiting which, is this unavoidable delay, undesired by everybody, and as injurious and expensive to the Government as to the crew of the ship.

☞ The statement by a Portsmouth correspondent of the Traveller, that the Naval Court of Inquiry (not Court Martial) recently sitting at this Station, had cleared the parties under examination, is not exactly correct. Of course the report of the action of the Court was sent, sealed, to the Department, and it has not been announced yet. But the officers who are under suspicion are generally regarded by our citizens who have met them, as loyal and trustworthy men.

☞ In order for our Weekly to reach mail subscribers in the country on Saturday, we shall from this time until farther notice print the paper on Thursday morning.

The rebels from Romney, on Tuesday, destroyed the bridge across the upper branch of the Potomac, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which cost $60,000.

It is stated that two South Carolina regiments have left Beauregard, one of which was esteemed his crack corps.

It is intimated that precautions will be taken against the publication of future movements of the naval expedition.

A dispatch from Baltimore, 16th, says:—Passengers by the Old Point boat bring the announcement of the loss of the steamer Saranac off the Mississippi river in a storm. [The Saranac is now on the Pacific station, having arrived at San Francisco Aug. 30, from Panama.]

The convention in Missouri has postponed the State election till the first Monday in November, 1862. A memorial has been received from the Grand Jury, asking the convention to declare all offices held by persons known to be disloyal, vacant—to be filled by the Governor.

Nearly all the Indians in New Mexico have made a treaty of peace with the Government. The federal force there is from 1200 to 1500 strong, and the citizens have raised three full regiments.

DECLINE IN COFFEE.—The latest news from Rio (via England) advises a decline in the prices of coffee in that great market. This will be good news to consumers here, who have to pay for the article higher prices than probably were ever before known.

☞ We are informed that Rev. Mr. Foote, of Salem, has received a unanimous call to King's Chapel in Boston, at a salary of $3500.

☞ 6525 Prussian muskets, a present from the Prussian government to Philadelphia, were taken to that city on Tuesday.

☞ There is no further intelligence about the attack on the fleet below New Orleans.

Saleratus, like port wine, can be made for almost any price, which is done by using cheap and deleterious substances.—Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is perfectly pure and unadulterated, and one paper will convince any intelligent lady that there is nothing equal to it. It will produce one-eighth more bread than any other; is much better than soda to use with cream tartar. Grocers and Druggists sell it. 3t

The Supreme Court of the State of New-York have issued a perpetual injunction against Eaton & Jenkins for counterfeiting Ayer's Pills, holding them responsible for the cruel imposition in what they have done, and restraining them from further like injury to the public. If any class of our people more than another needs the interposition of law to shield them from imposture, it is the sick and suffering who are unable to protect themselves. A remedy so universally employed as Ayer's Pills by all classes, both to cure and prevent disease, should as it does, have every security the law can afford it from counterfeit and imitation.—Cabinet, Schenectady.

The Oxygenated Bitters, are recommended by Physicians in their practice. A distinguished clergyman, who had taken six bottles, by direction of his physician, writes us that they have cured him of Dyspepsia, of twenty-five years' standing. Try this remedy, Dyspeptics!

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

To all who shall pay $4 for the Daily Chronicle, or $1 for the Weekly, for the year 1862, we will furnish the paper without charge to Jan. 1.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & CO.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's district of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional debility and nervous prostration. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

Read the following Testimonials.

From a prominent Druggist in Portsmouth, N. H.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 8, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gents: Please send me by express, fifteen dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for the excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils; we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, the own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully yours,

WM. R. PRESTON.

The Deseret News, with a motto of "Truth and Liberty," is a weekly paper of the size of the Chronicle, published at Great Salt Lake City; well edited, and tolerably well printed. It contains among other things, the discourses preached at the Mormon Tabernacle, and is, altogether, an interesting history of the times,—giving due regard to their own local matters.

It looks a little singular to Portsmouth readers, to see "Elias Smith, editor and proprietor," at the head of the paper—though it can hardly be "the veritable" of that name, as he has been dead many years.

It also was significant to ourselves,—as showing that men do not differ so much, after all, the world over,—to see the publishers' announcement that their Extras had not paid and would be discontinued. Mr. Public is very eager for "news," but not so ready to pay what it costs.

The leading article in the last number which has come to hand, is a "dun"—and the editor says, among other things, that he wants "100 cords of wood for the use of his office, and those employed therein, this winter." Whew!

The Portsmouth.—To the Editors of the Chronicle:—Your notice in regard to the U. S. ship Portsmouth, in your edition of Wednesday morning, does great injustice to the officers of the Portsmouth.—There is not one who would not willingly sacrifice a great deal to be able to leave on a visit to their families. The whole detention has been owing entirely to the Department at Washington, and not at all to the officers, or any officer attached to the ship. You will confer an obligation by contradicting your statement in Wednesday morning's paper.

An Officer of the Portsmouth.

"O Angelina!" said the young horticulturist to his love one evening, "if you could only see my Isabella! How each day she develops new beauties—so beautiful! Hanging over me so tendrilly—no honey so sweet to the taste!"

Angelina suddenly fell to the floor like a flat-iron. "Villain!" she cried, "you love another!" and swooned away. "Oh, I have killed her!" exclaimed the young horticulturist, jumping up and wringing his hands. "O, Angelina—don't—don't! You mustn't for the world, Angelina—I didn't mean it! I only meant the—the grape-vine!" Angelina recovered.

Many men die martyrs, and then have an impartial judgment passed upon their lives, just as the poor whales are killed first and tried afterwards.

An excellent character was engraven on the tombstone of a lady in these few words: "She was always busy and always quiet."

Why was Dr. Russell's account of the battle at Bull Run, like the lecture of a trance-medium? Because spirits inspired it.

Though the clouds rear their battlements in the sky, they are easily carried by storm.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c; and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating liniments, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting this disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and persevering. ly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; been, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four fifi bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The vertical door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. E. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Wilchelmore, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in, until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast almost already prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single coal of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUICKNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yet, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and sold for a series of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if need be, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove, the particulars thereof in mind, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE MAGEE PARLOR

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. PURE LIQUORS AND WINES FOR PRIVATE USE AND MEDICAL PURPOSES.

We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., and would say that our experience of more than FORTY YEARS as Importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it enables us to offer advantages to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquor and Wine for medical and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no travelling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive our best personal attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Communications by mail will receive prompt attention, with full and complete catalogue of goods, prices, &c.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1861.

SECESSION IN KENTUCKY.—The Kentucky correspondent of the New York Times makes the following interesting observations:

"The invasion of Kentucky has brought out some results connected with this matter which have not failed to impress most profoundly the reflecting members of the genuine and unyielding Union party. While from the central counties, where the great mass of wealth and of slaves lie, many recruits have gone off to join Buckner, scarcely a handful have enlisted to repel the foe. The extent of the loyalty of those nominally loyal counties leads them no further than an unmanly activity between the State and nation, and those who seek the life of both. On the other hand, in the mountain districts, where there are no slaves, old and young, all callings and conditions, all grades and descriptions of men, are pouring from the valleys and mountain sides to fight beneath the banner of the the Union. Look at the census book and then at the muster rolls, and contrast Pulaski and Washington with Scott and Bourbon."

The above statements are worthy of consideration by every person who is willing to look at facts as they stand. They show, in the Kentucky looking-glass, that in this war,—which is an attack made by slavery against freedom, the Union is defended by free States, free counties and free towns;—while the rebels get their help mainly from the blackest slave districts. The reader can easily say whether he thinks it best to favor the institution, or let it get trod to death in the struggle.

FROM UTAH.—By advices from Salt Lake City to the 24th ult., we learn that no letter mail had been received at that point from the East for twelve days. The latest Eastern papers bore date of Sept. 6. Rumors of an intended attack by secession troops upon the property of the Overland Mail Company were rife. The Mormons were reported quiet, but it was hinted that some of the leaders were ready to unite their fortunes with the South, should she be able to cope successfully with the North. Secretary Frank Fuller was the acting Governor of the Territory.

The third execution which has occurred in the Territory took place in Salt Lake City on the 21st ult. William Cockcroft, convicted of the murder of George Brown, was shot, from the window of the Court House, by order of the Court before which he was tried. Both parties were Mormons. An appeal was made to the acting Governor for a reprieve or pardon, but the Executive refused to interfere. By the laws of the Territory, the condemned has the privilege of choice as to the manner of his execution.

It was confidently asserted that the California volunteers enlisted for service in Utah had been ordered to New Mexico, and that no troops would winter in the former Territory. This was highly gratifying to the Mormons, who entertain a great dislike to Federal troops since the rebellion of 1858.

Arrangements were being made for the Annual Fair of the Territorial Agricultural Society, on the 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th of October, and the display promised to be an admirable one.

THE OVERLAND ROUTE.—The statements that a party of secessionists attacked one of the overland coaches, is utterly false. They run with regularity, and without trouble from any source. The employees of the company, numbering some hundreds, have all taken the oath of allegiance.

Maps and specifications received from the surveying party on the new route from Denver to Salt Lake show that the obstacles are much less than were anticipated.—The road can be obtained at comparatively small expense.

☞ It appears from the Newark (N. J.) Journal, that the Union Democrats of that city carried their recent municipal election by a majority of 1614, and elect 12 out of 15 Aldermen. At the last election their majority was 783. As the only opposing parties were the Republicans, who favor the Union and a vigorous prosecution of the war,—the public are to understand that there are no traitors, no submissionists, no "peace-presbyterians" in Newark!

It has been supposed all along that there were some traitors there, in full sympathy with the rebels. If they are converted to patriots, or awed into silence,—all is well, so far. The increase of the army, and the earnestness of the people and government, may do greater wonders yet.

☞ There is a time to discuss, and a time to refrain from discussion. The Augusta Age very pithily remarks:

A correspondent desires us to devote more space to the discussion of democratic principles. We will, after we get a country, in which democratic principles, or any other, can be operated. Let the national track be first restored, and then the national democratic engine shall be set in motion, with a full head of steam, when we will make up for lost time.

THE REBELLION.

The Pawnee was fired upon from the rebel battery at Shipping Point, on the Potomac, on Wednesday, between twenty and thirty shots being thrown towards her. According to orders, she made no response.

The Navy Department discredits the reported engagements at New Orleans.

About 40 of our troops were captured by 600 rebels, under Jeff. Thompson, at Big River Bridge, Mo., on Tuesday. Immediately after the surrender, they were sworn by Thompson not to bear arms against the Southern Confederacy and released. The rebels then burned the bridge, and speedily retired. Thompson said he had 5000 men in the vicinity, and that he intended to burn other bridges, and that Pilot Knob and Ironton would soon be attacked and captured. All our troops on the road have been ordered to Ironton by Col. Coslin, in command there, in anticipation of an attack.

Gen. Butler arrived at Montpelier, Vt., on Tuesday evening.

It is asserted that two of the six or eight rebel regiments which paid their respects to the troops in Gen. Banks' division, at Great Falls, three weeks ago, have mutinied and left. It is stated that they were Mississippians.

It is rumored that the order relative to the exchange of prisoners will shortly lead to the discharge of all prisoners held by both the government and the rebels.

Early Wednesday morning, 3000 rebels showed themselves on Bolivar Heights at Harper's Ferry, and commenced an attack with artillery upon three companies, under Maj. J. B. Gould of the 13th Mass., stationed on the north side of the Potomac. A constant fire was kept up for some hours, when three companies of the 3d Wisconsin regiment crossed the river, formed into line, and drove the enemy back, and captured one of their heavy guns. They were, however, compelled to retire, but in good order, to the river, where they were reinforced by three other companies. They then, with Col. Gordon at their head, marched upon the enemy, and after hard fighting, drove them from their position and recaptured the gun, a 32-pounder. Our forces had but three pieces of artillery.—The rebels had seven pieces, and 500 cavalry, together with infantry. They were completely routed and driven back three miles. Our loss in killed and wounded was not over seven; that of the rebels at least 150. Col. Ashby, who was at the head of the enemy, was killed.

A schooner which was being fitted out as a pirate at Chincoteague was burnt by a boat expedition from the steamer Louisiana, on the 5th, near Chincoteague

The rebels in Washington county, Maryland, aided by peace men from Southern Delaware, have taken several muskets from the Delaware Arsenal in Georgetown, and are preparing to seize the remainder, for use at the Maryland State election.

A large number of boats, sufficient to carry from ten to twenty thousand men, have been lying for some time in a sheet of water back of Aquia Creek, probably for use in case the rebels should cross the Potomac.

The gunboat Seminole has arrived at Fortress Monroe, from Washington. While passing Evansport, above Aquia Creek, she was fired upon by a rebel battery. Four out of forty shots took effect, one nearly carrying away her mizzen mast. No one on board was injured. The Seminole returned 26 shells, some of which burst over the battery.

The gunboat Flag has sent to Fortress Monroe a valuable prize taken but a short distance from Fort Sumter, laden with molasses and fruit.

THE WHY AND WHEREFORE.—Many people believe or say that the "negro excitement" alone has caused the rebellion but Hon. Edward Everett, in his address before the Boston Mercantile Library Association, states:—

"General Jackson, with rare discernment, had declared in 1833, that 'the tariff was only the pretext for the nullification movement; disunion and a Southern Confederacy were the real objects. The next pretext will be the negro or slavery question.' Events were not slow in fulfilling this remarkable prediction."

☞ Ben McCulloch's "grand army" is reduced to sixteen hundred men, and ex-Governor Price has probably gone to Texas. Price found out that the loyal Dutchmen, Irish and Yankees would fight, and so he very prudently, but fatally, evacuated Lexington. The rebel cause is going down hill in Missouri and Kentucky.

☞ The exports of breadstuffs from this country to Europe continue to increase.—The shipments from the port of New York on Monday last reached the enormous amount of 332,736 bushels of grain, and 23,734 barrels of flour—the greater part of which goes to France. This is probably a larger amount than was ever shipped before from any port in this country in one day.

"DIDN'T you warrant that this horse would not shy before the fire of an enemy?" "No more he won't. 'Tisn't till after the fire that he shies."

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Manchester Mirror says, the Governor and Council have not agreed to permit the Ninth Regiment (for Gen. Butler) to be raised in this State. The matter is deferred to next week.

—— The officers of the N. H. regiment for the Butler Brigade have been appointed: Col., Jos. A. Gilmore of Concord, the well known railroad manager: Lieut. Col., Geo. H. Pierce of Dover, a railroad contractor, who is said to possess excellent qualifications; Major, Nat Head of Hooksett, widely known as connected with the Manchester Cornet Band.

—— The first real frost of the season at Lancaster, was on Monday night. The fall has been unusual in its temperature and clearness. On Tuesday, although the hills were just crested with a light snow, the weather was like September.

—— Patrick Scannell, arraigned last winter for the murder of his wife at Bethlehem, was acquitted at Haverhill last Saturday. The Coos Republican ventures the opinion, that, judging from the records of murder trials in Grafton for the last year, if the verdicts are evidence of truth, they have a most unfortunate way of accusing innocent people of horrible crimes.

—— A telegraphic dispatch from Washington says "that New Hampshire is the first State that has furnished her full quota of troops." It is to be regretted that this praise is not justly due our State. Our quota for a Union army of half a million men, is 8400. We have now three full regiments, and one company of Sharpshooters in the field—one regiment of three months men having served their time and returned. These regiments have not yet been excelled in point of material or equipment: they have gone into the field with full ranks and so amply provided, that their appearance has challenged admiration. Four other regiments, one battery of Light Artillery, two companies of Sharpshooters and two companies of Cavalry are in process of formation. These, when filled, will more than make up our quota. The Coos Republican gives the following account of the Regiments now being formed,—its Editor, Col. Kent, enjoying peculiarly favorable opportunities for obtaining the facts in regard to them.

A regiment of Cavalry from New England having been called for, its organization was entrusted to Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island. Our State was called upon for two squadrons, or four companies; but the Governor and his advisors, considering the expense, determined to raise but two companies in the outset. Captains are commissioned, and perhaps half the men are already enlisted.

The Light Battery, stationed at Manchester, numbers 154 men and nearly as many horses, and is detained in the State simply for its guns, which will soon be obtained. A number of old cannon, scattered over the State, were disposed of to the cannon-founders, and new pieces are to be used by the Battery. The departure will be speedy. The Battery comprises a resolute body of men, excellent horses, and perfect equipments.

The Sharpshooters' Companies attract the keen-eyed marks men of the State.—Capt. Jones' company met with encomiums on all sides. The second company is being recruited by Capt. Caldwell, and the third by Capt. McPherson. It is believed that enough men have applied to fill one company. They will be equipped and leave the State, probably by the first of November.

The Fifth Regiment, Col. Cross, has over 800 men in camp, and will probably be filled up and leave the State next week. It is armed with the French Minie rifle, and completely fitted.

As yet, less has been done to fit the Sixth, Col. Mack, for the field, than any other regiment. It was the intention of the authorities to confine, in a degree, the enlistments to the southwestern portion of the State. It is well officered, and will be in the field, we are informed, during next month.

The Seventh, Col. Putnam, U. S. A., is in about the same degree of forwardness as the Fifth, and will be in the field about the same time. It goes into camp at Manchester this week. Gen. Abbott has devoted himself assiduously to its preparation, with excellent results.

The Eighth, Col. Fearing, went into camp at Manchester last Saturday. It is perhaps half full, and will be ready for the field next month.

This will complete the quota of the State. Within six weeks we shall have eight regiments of Infantry, three companies of Sharpshooters, two companies of Cavalry and one Battery of Light Artillery, in all about nine thousand men, pefectly equipped. The troops are those of whom New Hampshire may be proud, and on whom she can rely. Whatever has been done in equipping them, has been well done.

Hon. E. H. Rollins is now at Washington, to obtain payment for the expenses thus far incurred by the State; and it is expected that he will soon be partially successful, thus obviating the necessity of a large issue of State bonds.

NAVAL.—The Navy Department is satisfied, from official information, that the steamer Saranac is at San Francisco undergoing repairs. The only war vessel in the Gulf whose name could be confounded with the Saranac is the sloop Savannah, Com't Missroon, but the story is not entitled to belief.

The storeship Reliance, steamship Philadelphia, gunboat O. Pettit, ship Ocean Express and steamer May Flower, sailed from New York on Tuesday for Hampton Roads; and the gunboats Alabama and St. Jago de Cuba, steamers Ethan Allen, Commodore Perry and the Narragansett, the Frigate Wabash, gunboats Florida, Augusta, James Adger, Unadilla, Ottawa and Seneca, sailed on Wednesday for the same destination.

A Federal gunboat sailed from New York, on Wednesday, in pursuit of the rebel steamer Nashville, said to have run the blockade at Charleston, S. C.

PLAYED OUT.—Some newspaper writers have been pouring out vials of wrath on Mr. Sumner's head, because of his late speech; and still their wrath abates not, tho' they have run the matter into the ground; for the Boston Courier of Thursday says:—

"We are compelled to say to 'Civis,' that we are rather tired of Mr. Sumner—and, between ourselves, we believe the people are, too."

The funniest thing published recently, is the paragraph about the tone of bullets. Some gay soldier boy says he caught the patch of a large sized Minie—it was a swell from E flat to F, and as it passed into the distance and lost its velocity, receded to D—a very pretty change. The boy wisely allowed the "pretty changes" to continue.

☞ Despatches from Washington deny the truth of the assertion by the London Times, that our Government sanctions the alleged European intervention in Mexican affairs. No official notification of any intended European intervention with the affairs of Mexico has reached our government, and of course no sanction or approval could have been given. The condition of Mexico has been a subject of grave consideration, and the policy of the government in reference to it has been determined; but so far from favoring European intervention, the sympathies of our government are decidedly with Mexico and in favor of her independence of all European agencies.

☞ A National Horse Fair commenced in North Chelsea, Mass., on Tuesday.—The races were inaugurated with a trial of speed for two year old colts. A double team race succeeded this. There was a stallion race, the premium being $200.—H. Smith, of Newmarket, entered Ajax.—A fourth race then took place, for a purse offered for all horses that never beat 2:35.

☞ Secretary Seward has addressed a very important circular to the Governors of the States upon the seaboard and on the great lakes, suggesting that these States should take measures, in consultation with the general Government, for the protection of their coasts against any possible invasion.

☞ The New Orleans Delta has a full and accurate description of the new gunboat fleet built and building at the government Navy Yards and private ship yards North. The names, tonnage, number and calibre of guns, etc., are given in detail.

☞ General McClellan received a despatch from Cincinnati Tuesday, where his wife has been residing since he has been in command of his department, announcing to him the fact that on that morning there was born unto him a daughter.

☞ Hereafter in cases of the seizure of vessels, evidences of loyalty and ownership will be made to the collectors, and a synopsis sent immediately to the Secretary of the Treasury.

NEWS OF THE WAR.—A good story is told of a lady lately travelling on the cars, who got so absorbed in reading the war news, that she asked the conductor to let her know when the train stopped at Manassas Junction.

A New York critic noticing a new play and its mechanical splendors, ventures to say, "the water might, at least, be made to emit a more natural sound than that of new boots." The sun, also, he says, requires discipline.

☞ A large humpbacked whale has been caught in the Bay, and is on exhibition in San Francisco, drawing immense crowds at 50 cents each.

☞ The sword voted by the Philadelphia City Council to General Anderson was privately presented to him at Washington, Wednesday evening.

☞ Released prisoners from Richmond say Hon. Mr. Ely is the merriest man in the South. He has plenty of money and is liberal in its use.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of Dr. Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the strongest confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never failing remedy for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully yours,

WM. R. PRESTON.

American Women.

America is justly proud of its beautiful women: but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my28daw3m

S. J. COURT—THURSDAY, Oct. 17.

The case of Brown vs. Seabrook still occupied the attention of the Court. The Grand Jury reported eighteen bills of indictment, and were discharged. The arraignments will be made to-day.

POLICE COURT—Thursday, Oct. 17.—Odell, J.—Dennis Larrabee for being drunk on the streets was fined $3—and costs $3.92. For the want of the dimes he was committed to the House of Correction.

James Devine for being drunk and disorderly at late hours on Tuesday evening, was fined $3—and costs $4.80 Paid up.

☞ The U. S. ship Constellation, which has been in dock but a day or two at the Navy Yard here for examination, we learn is to come out to-day—being found to need little or no repairs. The Portsmouth, we hear, is not to be docked at all—and both vessels will be ready for sea again in a few days.

The machinery for the Kearsage is being unloaded from the schooner which brought it; in which work all the riggers are employed—under charge of Messrs. Deering & Yeaton. The heaviest piece weighs 43 tons—but the derrick will swing 100 tons or more.

☞ Some very noble-minded individual, who "can't see the use of such things," conceived the brilliant project of burning the floating bath-house at the North End, the property of the gentlemen of the "Piscataqua Bath,"—and carried his project into execution Thursday night, thereby destroying a small amount of property and causing a general alarm.

THE OLD FOLKS.—Messrs. Editors:—I saw in last week's Chronicle, something about old folks; you said you would like to have a list of the old folks in this city. I can tell you of two of my acquaintances: One is an old lady, 98 years of age, widow of Peter Pray; she resides in Pray street, keeps house all alone, does all her own work; can wash and iron, clean house and do anything that needs to be done. She can read fine print, and sew very nicely, without the use of glasses. Her hearing is good as it ever was, and she has one of the best of memories. She goes about spry, and laughs and jokes like a young girl. She lived alone all last winter, and got up every morning and made her own fire, and expects to the next winter, if the Lord is willing. Why, she don't mind dressing and taking a walk up to Market street, to buy groceries, &c., and what is more, she will come home with her hands full. She is neat, and wants everything in order. Now I think she beats your old folks.

The next one is old Mr. Daniel Fernald, on Meeting House Hill. He is 94 years old. Two ladies called to see him last week, and found him out in the garden, pulling up corn stalks. He will take a beetle and wedges, and split a great knotty log of wood that some of you young men could not master. He will sit all the evening and read a newspaper or the Bible, without the aid of glasses; his memory is good, and he can converse freely on any subject.

If I hear of any more smart old folks, I will let you know. Yours, etc., E.

☞ Letters have been received by his friends in this city from C. J. Marshall, of the N. H. 2d Regiment, now a prisoner at Richmond. He states that Chas. Ridge and himself are the only prisoners there from this city. He is in good health and in good spirits—"finding it's no use to be otherwise." He, and a few others, have been removed to another tobacco warehouse. The officers and Congressman Ely are confined in the same building, on the next floor below. The room is very pleasant, and contains nearly one hundred prisoners. But "time dragged along very slowly;" the prisoners amused themselves by playing checkers, dominoes, or by reading. Their bill of fare is: morning, white bread and beef; afternoon, bread and soup, and generally rice."

A CARD.

I was agreeably surprised Tuesday evening, being about to leave for the seat of war, by becoming the recipient of a splendid Colt's six-inch REVOLVER, presented by Capt. JOHN TURNER, in behalf of the members of SAGAMORE ENGINE CO. No. 5, accompanied by many kind wishes.

In return, I offer my sincere thanks to my fellow-firemen, for the splendid present; also for the good will manifested toward me. Never by any act of mine will I disgrace the donors, but will strive to do my duty as a soldier, as I have ever endeavored to do as a fireman.

SONG OF THE PRINTER!

Pick and click
Goes the type in the stick,
As the printer stands at his case;
His eyes glance quick, and his fingers pick
The types at a rapid pace.
And one by one, as the letters go,
Words are piled up, steady and slow—
Steady and slow,
But still they grow,
And words of fire they soon will glow!
Wonderful words, that without a sound
Shall traverse the earth to its utmost bound;
Words that shall make
The tyrant quake,
And the bonds of the slave oppressed shall break;
Words that can crumble an army's might;
Or bestow the strength in a righteous fight.
Yet the types they look but leaden and dumb,
As he puts 'em in place with his finger and thumb;
But printer enlisted,
And his work begulled,
By chanting a song as the letters he piled;
While pick and click,
Went the types in the stick,
Like the world's chronometer, tick! tick! tick!

"O where is the man with such simple tools,
Can govern the world like I?
A printing press, an iron stick,
And a little leaden die;
With paper of white, and ink of black,
I support the right, and wrong attack.

"I pull the strings
Of puppet kings,
And I break the despot's nose;
Or let him alone
Till the people groan,
When I needs must interpose;
Nor yet again,
Do I e'en disdain
To talk of lowly woes.

"Then, where is he,
Or who may be
That can rival the printer's power?
To no monarchs that live,
The wall doth he give;
Their sway only lasts for an hour;
While the printer still grows,
And God only knows
When his might shall cease to tower."

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that
It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,
Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any other preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. ROBBYRALL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Excruciate pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the sufferer to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficacious, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every repulsed case of Rheumatism that may be prescribed, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and persevering-ly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

AYER'S
Sarsaparilla
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:
Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils; Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1859.
J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful to behold, and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was advised to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I went to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and I used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully, Yours,
ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a case of Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same; says it cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Broncocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a hideous swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhea or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes: "I must cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla."

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of those difficult Uterine Diseases. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the roof of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla: the ulcers healed, and he is well again. The nose remained some disfiguration to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable cures with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, C. V. LARIMER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INVERNESS, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.
Dr. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a painful chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. FREAM.

Jules Y. Gotchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Dr. Hepp, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of his God upon the use of your medicine, I was enabled to make a new man of me. I feel young again. The best that can be said of you is not half good enough."

Schirrus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but we cannot spare room to admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the medical world and by the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and yet Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the families, in civilized nations, even the children, who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy to their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the efficacy of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY
THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,
Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire, so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the fires of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire pre vent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a'so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation"

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,
No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is
STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the
STEWART COOK STOVE,
Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attended upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is so commended to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat of the stove may be made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP OVEN, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gaseifying arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested
FOR TWENTY YEARS,
and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1851, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not satisfactory, the statements of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentlemen referred to, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the Stewart's of 1851, which not complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

1861. MAGEE'S PATENT COOKING STOVE. 1861.

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

PATENT COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
Operating on the same principle as the celebrated
MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR
VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING
STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

PURE LIQUORS AND WINES FOR PRIVATE USE AND MEDICAL PURPOSES.

We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., and would say that our experience of more than FORTY YEARS as Importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it enables us to offer advantages to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquors and Wines for medicinal and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no travelling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive our best personal attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Communications by mail will receive prompt attention, with full and complete catalogue of goods, prices, &c.

KENTUCKY.—A private letter from Louisville, Ky., says:

"We are not half as much alarmed here, as I see by your last papers, received to day, others are for us. We consider Kentucky impregnable. There are more troops here than anybody has an idea of. We are not going to re-enact the scenes of Missouri."

The administration has acted with much promptness in meeting the invasion of Kentucky. Besides the troops which have poured into the State from her Western neighbors, the fact is well known that a considerable body of well drilled soldiers has been sent from Washington. If the Union men of Kentucky are disposed to help themselves, the State will soon be cleared of the rebel bands by which she has been invaded

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

The advance of Gen. Fremont's army had reached Warsaw, 80 miles from Jefferson City, on the 16th. He has sent a dispatch stating that he has reason to believe Sterling Price has retraced or will retrace his steps to the Osage, and there make a stand and give our forces battle. Gen. Sigel is in rapid pursuit of him. S's advance is already across the Osage. His cavalry has had a skirmish with one of the enemy's mounted parties, and took three prisoners. He it in possession of the bridge over the Pomme de Terre river with infantry and artillery. The main body of the enemy is reported to be 45 miles distant.

A Brigade numbering 3000, hardy, well disciplined and well equipped troops, were to leave Pittsburg, Pa., on Thursday night, on five steamers for the West.

Major Cleary, Quartermaster U. S. A., has arrived at Washington, in advance of a large body of regulars—infantry, cavalry and artillery—on the way from Utah. It is not yet decided whether they will go to Washington or be employed in Missouri or Kentucky.

Of the 37 rebel prisoners to be released, according to the recent special order, only three took the oath not to bear arms.

The N. Y. Herald's dispatch states that the rebels called in all their pickets on Thursday, deserted Vienna, tore up the track of the London and Hampshire Railroad, and fell back with their entire column on Fairfax Court House. It is also stated that on Wednesday they burned thousands of bushels of corn and wheat, to prevent its falling into our hands, and many citizens have left for Richmond and other points.

A dispatch to Gen. McClellan says the rebels are retiring from Leesburg, and have prepared for a speedy withdrawal of their whole force. It is thought this falling back is only taking a choice of Bull Run again as a battle field, which has so many natural advantages.

A merchant just from Texas states that there is great distress there. Provisions are exorbitantly high at Galveston. The announcement of expeditions being fitted out for the Southern coast created great alarm there, and a delegation had been sent to New Orleans to procure cannon.

The rebels are compelled to keep a large force at San Antonio, on account of the restiveness of the Union Germans, who have frequently been compelled to haul down the American flag at the point of the bayonet. The gas works at Galveston have given out for want of coal, and there was but one box of candles in the place.—The people are absolutely suffering for want of the necessaries of life.

Gen. Fremont has reached Warsaw, Mo.; he found the opposite bank of the Osage lined with the rebel horsemen, who were dispersed by a few rounds. Gen. F. was preparing to lay a pontoon bridge across the Osage, and would probably have his army across the river by Wednesday. It is said the rebel forces under Price have made a stand in Cedar Co., 25 miles from Osseola.

A Rebel Axe.—We have in our possession for a few days, a veritable rebel axe, which was, as we suppose, made in New England, bought by the United States, and stolen by Floyd for the rebels. At all events it was used by some rebels in Virginia, to cut down trees to impede our army in their advance toward Manassas Junction. The man who used it, likely enough a black one, was probably not a very good chopper, but broke the handle, and left the axe sticking in a stump.

This axe, with several things picked up after the battle of Bull Run, was brought North by Rev. Mr. Nason of Exeter,—and was sold by auction at the Hampton Levee, for the benefit of the sick soldiers.

It is evidently a new axe, and was no doubt stolen or seized from somebody, probably from Uncle Sam: and therefore if any romance can be got into the iron, or woven round it, our sick soldiers should have the benefit of it. If we had a levee in Portsmouth, it might be exhibited, on a small fee, or swung as a dumb bell, to give our patriots more back bone.

☞ Gen. Houston has written a long letter to the Richmond Enquirer, defining his position towards the rebel confederacy. He comes out clearly for secession; he has not attempted to throw any impediments in the way of such action; but, on the contrary, has "performed all the acts of a dutiful and loyal citizen of the Southern Confederacy."

☞ We shall probably have as this year's product in our loyal States, and in our two great staples of Indian corn and wheat, an aggregate of five hundred millions of bushels.

☞ The foundation of the new American hotel has been laid in Liverpool. It will be the largest on the face of the earth.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——A detachment of the N. H. Battery had a trial at target shooting on Wednesday, at Manchester. While they were returning to their camp, at a brisk pace, the limber of one piece came in contact with a stump, overturning limber, carriage and two horses, and throwing Mr. Frank Demerritt, a member of the company, under the wheels. His left leg, between the knee and the ankle, was terribly jammed, both bones being broken, and pieces protruding in several places. At the scene of the accident, some one appropriated the pocket-book of Corporal Demerritt, containing $20.

——The Sixth Regiment is to go into camp at Keene. Last Friday there were 400 recruits reported, and since many more have been added. It is now more than half full, and will probably go into camp on the Fair Ground next week.

—— Walter Tufts, Esq., of Claremont, the Northern Advocate states, has purchased at Montreal 25,000 Enfield rifles, with sword bayonets. These he has sold to the government at a fair advance on the cost.

—— The number of students at Dartmouth the present term is 339, of whom 57 are medical students, 57 seniors, 64 juniors, 72 sophomores, 53 freshmen, and 36 scientific students.

Rev. Clement Long, D. D., Prof. of Intellectual Philosophy and Political Economy in this College, died on Monday evening Oct. 14th, of typhoid fever. Prof. Long graduated at Dartmouth in 1828. He was for a time Prof. in the Western Reserve College, but was appointed to a Professorship in Dartmouth in 1852, succeeding Prof. C. B. Haddock who was Minister to Portugal at that time.

—— Mr. Andrew Allen, fireman on a wood train on the Cheshire Railroad, was killed near Keene on Monday afternoon.—The train was stopping upon a down grade, as some slight repairs were being made at that point, and Mr. Allen went under the locomotive for the purpose of oiling the machinery. While he was there, the brakes were loosened; he was thrown across the track, and his body was crushed beneath the wheels. He resided in Keene, and leaves a wife and one child.

—— The Governor and Council, at a session at Concord last Tuesday, decided not to call an extra session of the Legislature. The object of the proposed session was to see if the State would assume the payment of her quota of the direct national tax, collect it herself, and save the 15 per cent. allowed for collection. The proportion of the tax for New Hampshire is, in round numbers, $218,000; the State, by assuming, collecting and paying this, will save about $33,000; leaving the actual amount to be paid to the general government, only $185,000. But as the State has claims constantly accruing against the U. S. government, for the raising and equipping of volunteers, which can be liquidated and put in offset,—the whole of the 15 per cent. of the tax can be saved without any drawback of the expense of an extra Legislative session.

—— Within three years Dartmouth College has lost five professors by death—Profs. Young, Richards, Haddock, Shurtleff and Long.

—— Wednesday morning, a boy about 9 years of age, giving his name as Jason Scott Powers, was run over in Londonderry, by a freight train. Both of his legs and arms were cut off. He attempted to jump upon the cars while in motion, and fell upon the track. It is not thought possible for him to survive. He says he is from Middlesex, Vt.

—— The whole number of students at the New Hampton Theological Institution, during the past academical year, has been 522, which is a very large number. This institution is pleasantly situated in one of the finest localities in the State, and has a competent board of instruction.

☞ The steamer Nashville, which is reported to have run the blockade at Charleston and sailed for Europe, with James M. Mason of Virginia, Confederate Commissioner to England, and John Slidell of Louisiana, Commissioner to France, on board, is commanded by Robert P. Pegram, who has been a lieutenant in the U. S. navy. The Nashville is a side-wheel steamer, of 1220 tons burthen, and was built in New York in 1853. She is owned in Charleston. Three armed steamers, the Alabama, Augusta and Connecticut—have been despatched from New York in pursuit of the Nashville.

It is reported that the government has superseded the commander of the Charleston blockading fleet.

☞ Messages have lately been sent direct, by telegraph, to Taganrog, on the Sea of Azoff, from the city of London. The distance is 2500 miles. This is said to be the longest direct communication by telegraph ever achieved, unless we except the messages by the Atlantic cable.

☞ John B. Gough, the temperance lecturer, is quite ill at his residence in Boylston, Mass.

The True Peace Party.—The following extract from an address by the Maryland Union State Committee shows what is now the true "Peace Party:"

"We, too, are for Peace; but we are for something more,—we are for Peace and Union, because it is our conscientious conviction that there can be no enduring peace without Union. No sisters of this family can make runaway marriages beyond the seas! None of them can leave their homes, petulantly, for protection abroad; nor can anything but sudden and unappeasable passion account for recent acts which disown the American policy of Washington and his most illustrious successors."

☞ Mr. Dickinson, who declines to run for Lt. Governor of Massachusetts, says, in in his letter,—

"Let us denounce, as subversive of all constitutional guaranties, if we expect to reconstruct or restore the Union, the heretical dogma that immediate and universal emancipation of slaves should be proclaimed by the Government, as the means of putting an end to the war; and the rather to hope and pray that, in the good providence of God, emancipation may be one of the blessed results of the war."

Mr. Abbott, in declining the nomination for Attorney General, says,—

It is a contest, now going on, to impose no burden on the South, not equally borne by the North. We are obliged to submit to and obey the laws. They must be compelled to a like submission and obedience. Until that time comes, he is aiding the public enemy, who suggests compromise with armed rebels. The Constitution, pure and simple, should be the watchwords of all true and loyal men, until armed resistance to lawful authority is once for all effectually ended. Let the government strike, quickly, surely and overwhelmingly, and it will command all the lives and the means of true and loyal men.

The Home of Jefferson.—The Washington Republican reports that a petition has been filed in Virginia for the sequestration of "Monticello," the former home of Jefferson, now owned by Uriah P. Levy, a captain in the U. S. Navy, and occupied by his brother, who is alleged to be disaffected towards the Confederate Government. The estate comprises 360 acres of land in Albemarle County, assessed at $20 per acre, together with improvements valued at $2800; besides this there is another tract of 960 acres, with sheep, slaves, hogs and a lot of household and kitchen furniture.

☞ So excellent are the Counterfeits upon the Bank of France, that the Bank has paid within a few years, forged notes to the extent of one million francs.

☞ The Navy Department is said to have known that it was the intention of Slidell and Mason to leave, via Savannah or Charleston, for the West Indies, where they would embark on board a British steamer for England.

It is also stated information has been received at Washington, that Slidell and Mason are not only authorized to negociate treaties of extraordinary commercial advantages with those Powers, but to place the Southern Confederacy for a limited period under their protection.

☞ Two boys of the Oliver Grammar School, at Lawrence, Mass., got into a dispute on Tuesday at recess, and the younger one stabbed the other in the leg with a pocket-knife. One was eleven and the other thirteen years old. The wound inflicted is not severe. Such instances of passion are becoming somewhat frequent.

☞ Two little boys in Camden, Mass., nine and eleven years old, have made fifty dollars each, since the taking of Fort Sumter, by selling papers in the streets of Camden. Last week the smart little fellows invested their hundred dollars in the Government loan.

☞ Dr. L. A. Staniel, of Lowell, Mass., died very suddenly in Newburyport, on Thursday morning. He was apparently well the day before, but in the evening was seen to fall in the street,—and died in a few hours. His age was forty.

☞ It is not known who invented the rifle. Its principle was well known to the North American Indians when the continent was discovered. Their arrows were feathered spirally and moved in the same manner as a rifle ball.

Naval.—The fleet which sailed from New York arrived at Old Point on Monday afternoon, creating a great excitement by its extensive character. A flag of truce came down from Norfolk that day, but Gen. Wool would not receive it.

☞ John Patch, who claimed the honor of being the original inventor of the steam screw propeller, died at the poor house in Yarmouth, N. S., on the 27th of September. He was a Nova Scotian.

☞ A couple were married in Jay, Me., the other day, by a clergyman, who sixteen days previous preached the funeral sermon of the wife of the bridegroom.

☞ Some boys in Danbury, undertook to burn off a pig's tail, some days ago and did it; but with it went the pig, and the barn and contents, of Eliakim Trowbridge.

THE ARMY OF THE KNITTERS.

Far away in your camps by the storied Potomac,
Where your lances are lifted for Liberty's weal,
As the North wind comes down from the hills of the homeland,
Say, catch ye the clash of our echoing steel?

Our hands are untrained to the touch of the rifle,
They shrink from the blade that grows red in the fight;
But their womanly weapons leap keen from their sheathing,
And the work that they find they will do with their might.

Your boast that stands marshalled in solemn battalions,
Beneath the dear flag of thestripes and the stars,
Hath its loyal counterpart here at our hearthstones,
As ever went forth to the brunt of the wars!

Uplift in your strength the bright swords of your fathers!
Repeat for yourselves the brave work they have done!
We've the side-arms our mothers wore proudly before us,
And the heart of the field and fireside is one!

We rouse to the rescue! We've mustered in thousands!
We may not march on in the face of the foe;
Yet, while ye shall tramp to the sound of the battle,
Feet to foot we'll keep pace wheresoever ye go!

Ay, soul unto soul we are knitted together!
By link upon link, in one purpose we're bound!
God mete us the meed of our common endeavor,
And our differing deeds with one blessing be crowned!

☞ Among the races at the National Horse Fair at Chelsea, Mass., was a match for double teams, for which Holmes of Boston, entered "Lady Pierce" and mate, and Caleb Page of Boston, entered "Rocket" and mate. Dan Mace drove the latter, and Billy Woodruff the former team. Mace won the second heat in 2.57 1-2, and the third heat also, which gave him the race, in 2.59.

On Wednesday there was a trot for stallions, 1st premium $200, and 2d do. $50.—The only horses were L. Maynard's blk s. "Trotting Childers" and R. Smith's s. s. "Honest Allen." Allen beat Childers on the day previous. Honest Allen took the first heat in 2.37 1-2; Childers the three next in 2.39 1-2, 2.42 and 2.46.

Another was for all horses to saddle, mile heats, best 3 in 5—1st purse $150, and 2d do. $50. The horses entered were b. s. Ethan Allen, ridden by Dan Mace, and b. m. Lady Shaw, ridden by Bill Woodruff. Allen won in three straight heats, in 2.33¾, 2:36, 2.34¾.

For one of the races on Tuesday, Richmond Smith entered so. s. Honest Allen (lately known as Young Allen), Henry H. Smith, of New Market, g. s. Ajax; L. Maynard, blk. s. Trotting Childers.—For the final heat Mace took the lead, and Ajax leaped ahead of Childers. But the advantage was of short duration, for Childers brushed past him at the first quarter. But to the surprise of the spectators Ajax made a bold dash for the heat, and but for a break would have won it. He ran past Allen, who was accounted the winner of the heat and race. Time 2:41.

Mrs. Tenbroeck, of Portland, Me., died on Saturday at the residence of her son-in-law, Hon. N. B. Baker, at Clinton, Iowa, whither she had gone on a visit. The deceased was a widow of Rev. Petrus S. Tenbroeck, for many years rector of St. Paul's (now St. Stephen's) church in Portland, and daughter of the late Hon. Levi Cutter.

☞ A large seal was seen in Portland harbor on Tuesday, near Portland Bridge. It is seldom that they venture so far up from the open sea.

The monks of St. Bernard have received an odd present from the Prince of Wales, in the shape of a fine piano.

Saleratus, like port wine, can be made for almost any price, which is done by using cheap and deleterious substances.—Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is perfectly pure and unadulterated, and one paper will convince any intelligent lady that there is nothing equal to it. It will produce one-eighth more bread than any other; is much better than soda to use with cream tartar. Grocers and Druggists sell it. 3t

The Oxygenated Bitters, are recommended by Physicians in their practice. A distinguished clergyman, who had taken six bottles, by direction of his physician, writes us that they have cured him of Dyspepsia, of twenty-five years' standing. Try this remedy, Dyspeptics!

St. Louis, Mo., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. Wm. Robyhall.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.
A Query.—Why will you suffer? Dyspepsia is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.
This unique and peculiar compound will be certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:
Dyspeptics, Read!
Ashuelot, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.
Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co.:—
Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of disease that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various medicines of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

Portsmouth, Aug. 5, 1860.
Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen Oxygenated Bitters. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.
Very respectfully yours,

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

NTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and rendering the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a recent case of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the incontestable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

ALFRED STAVERS,

No. 12 Market Street.

From the Journal

NEW HAMPSHIRE SECOND REGIMENT.

We have seen a letter received in this city from a member of Co. K, bearing date Oct. 14. He says:—

Our Brigadier is appointed Major-General, and our brigade and Sickles' go together—about 12,000 men in all, including cavalry and artillery. Gen. Hooker is a fine and brave man.

Gen. McClellan's staff reviewed us last week. Our regiment and camp was pronounced the cleanest in the brigade.

They will give us 100 new rifles; we have rifles now you know. We have been target shooting with them several times. Company K. received a challenge from the Exeter Company to shoot with them at 300 yards, at a target about a foot wide, 5½ feet high. They are a crack company for shooting. But we did the best. They put in 23 balls, and we put in 28. If a regiment had been standing there it would have been pretty well cut up.

Then one of the other Companies—Company G—wanted to try at 300 yards, at ten rounds, the same sized target. They thought they could beat us. We were to fire 2 rounds at will, 2 rounds on our bellies, 2 rounds by file, and and 2 rounds by volley. Two at will we did. They put in 108 balls; 26, I believe, inside the painting, about in the bull's eye. We put in 116 in the board, 45 in the painting, and 11 in the bull's eye—which beat anything on record in the brigade. As quick as our Colonel saw it, he carried it up to the General. He complimented us very highly.

We are to be held as a reserve. We were put forward in the battle before. The next time if the enemy are routed we shall only follow in the victory, if the fight be desperate we shall engage in it.

Reminiscences.—We last week recorded the fact that the Rev. Daniel Waldo entered on his one hundredth year on the 11th of Sept. last. We have been informed that on the 12th of March, 1857, he preached in the Naval Asylum at Philadelphia, of which Com. George W. Storer of this city was then Governor. At the close of the services in the Asylum Chapel, he stated that the sermon he had preached was delivered forty-six years before, in 1811, on board the frigate Constitution, when lying at New London. He then asked if any present were on board the Constitution at the time of its delivery; if so, he requested them to come to him. Three men, beside the Governor, rose from their seats and approached the reverend gentleman, who most cordially took them by the hand. Com. Storer had been a midshipman under Com. Hull at the time; the others were boys on board, in one of whom, whose locks were whitened by age and body borne down by the toils of nearly half a century of sea life, the Governor recognized his hammock boy, whose services in taking care of his hammock were readily remembered. These four were probably a majority of all the survivors of as many hundreds who listened to the venerable preacher in 1811.

City Council.—On Thursday evening, Oct. 17, in the Board of Aldermen, a petition signed by Gov. Goodwin and others, that early provision be made for using snow-plows for cleaning the walks of snow this winter, was received and referred to the committee on streets.

We hope that the recommendation will receive prompt attention. The expense of clearing paths, if horses are used for the purpose, is only about quarter of a dollar a mile. To use city horses will make the expense small indeed.

Cheap Excursion to Concord.—An extra train will leave Portsmouth for Concord on Wednesday next, at 8 A. M. returning from Concord at 4 P. M. Fare from Portsmouth and back will be only one dollar. From Strathan 90 cents and from Newmarket Junction 75 cents. Children under 12, half price. This will be an excellent opportunity to visit the public places at Concord, and to visit the camp of the 7th Regiment, which will leave the next day for the seat of war. Tickets may be had in the cars along the route.

Warm October.—Up to this time, Oct. 18th, there has been no frost seen in Portsmouth. The vines are as fresh and vigorous as in August.—The dahlias are yet blooming in their beauty, and nothing but the changing of the color through age and the falling of the leaves of the forest trees, indicates that the year has advanced beyond the middle of the fall months.

Health at the Alms House.—The present number of inmates is 84, of whom 6 or 8 are over 80 years of age. There has not been a death there in the eight months since Mr. Norton took the superintendence, and but four occasions in which a physician's services have been needed.

The Soap Man.—Professor Gardener, says the Newburyport Herald, is one of the most splendid specimens of Yankee character that has yet been produced, and his power over the multitude is only equalled by his own soap, which will wash out anything. It is most singular what a flutteration a live Yankee can get up without the least humbug—for his soap is no humbug, but a genuine article, that has won the prize medals of all christendom, and received certificates from President Lincoln, Millard Fillmore, Louis Napoleon, and Queen Victoria, with thousands of others, of the human multitude. They all say it has made them better, and certainly it has made him richer. Soap is a great institution, whether it is hard or soft, but it takes the "human nature" of the Prof. to make it go well, and then nobody can resist it. We advise everybody to try Gardener's Soap.

AYER'S
Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

OAKLAND, Tal., 6th June, 1859.

J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it formed inward and discovered one at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. At last, the disorder grew worse. At length I was recommended to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it was gone. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. Now and healthy skin once began to form under the scab, which fell off a while till off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully, Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous Malignant Erysipelas by the same agent; says he cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Sebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a hideous swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. S. S. Channing, of New York City, writes: "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla an most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured several inveterate cases of Leucorrhœa by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The alteration Itself was soon observed. Nothing within my knowledge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newtury, Ala., writes, "A daughter-in-law of mine was one of the family to try your Sarsaparilla, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, but at length been completely cured by your Extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physician thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved sufficient. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

NEW ORLEANS, 22th August, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Diseased and Mercurial Disease. One of my patients had a Mercurial Ulcer in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the alteration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; he throws healed, and he is well again, not of course without some deformity in his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and limbs. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a powerful remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, G. V. LARIMER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INDEPENDENCE, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a painful rheumatic affection of the leg for long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle put me in better trim than I had been in my entire health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. FERAM.

Foley V. Gotschell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from the effects of no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Epgy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and as he knew you would make nothing worse to a good cause of God it was tried, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I feel young again. The best thing I can be said of you is, that I am good enough."

Scirrhus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia

Many remarkable cures of these afflictions have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the necessities of the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients In advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other in the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it seems idle to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivaled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary diseases, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy to their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not be more than to assure them that it has now all the virtue for which it has been so long the cause which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

HOUSE FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT,

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 18 in. long, or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:—

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire pot vent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, leads a cool to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable camp grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a beautiful base to the stove, can be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner: the doors and roasting ovens are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. Add a good and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Stevens, John Harrett, Johnson Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be true stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men, for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of ANTHRACITE Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined wholly, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the water heat, in nursing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DOUBLE OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer draw, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last—and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the parts constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The prices of QUICKNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another that unknown Cook Stove, which he performs therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewarts, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart:—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

PURE LIQUORS AND WINES FOR PRIVATE USE AND MEDICAL PURPOSES.

We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., which we would say from experience of more than FORTY YEARS as Importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it confers no small advantage to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquors and Wines for medicinal and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no traveling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive prompt attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Communications by mail will receive prompt attention, with full and complete catalogue of goods, prices, &c.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1861.

SENATOR HALE VINDICATED.—It is well known that the Boston Courier, more than a year ago, republished an article from the New York Times, reflecting severely against Hon. John P. Hale, and headed it with a line significantly inquiring whether John P. Hale was an honest man. Mr. Hale at once commenced a suit for libel against the proprietors of the Courier, which is yet pending.

The Courier of Oct. 18, however, contains an article which fully exonerates Mr. Hale, and which will doubtless close the suit as quick as the editors of the Courier pay the cost.

Mr. G. S. Hillard, who is the legal counsel of the Courier, and who was an editor of it, publishes a statement which shows clearly that Mr. Hale only did his duty as a Senator, in relation to some important claims. Mr. Hillard's letter closes by saying:—I do most unhesitatingly state that I have not seen anything in Mr. Hale's action in the premises which justifies any imputation upon his official character, or which would warrant the inference that he was actuated by any other motive than his desire to aid a claim which he believed to be meritorious; and I think any suggestions to the contrary were unfounded and unjust.

The editors of the Courier add: Being satisfied from Mr. Hillard's letter, as well as from other information, that the article in question did injustice to Mr. Hale's motives and conduct, we readily make him such reparation as can be had from the publication both of the letter and of this statement. We need only further say that upon such a statement of the legal or equitable merits of the case, could it have been in our possession at the time, we certainly should not have given the article publicity through the Courier.

The statement touching the article copied from the New York Times, applies also to several editorial articles on the same subject, which subsequently appeared from time to time in the columns of the Courier.

Mr. Hale, then, comes out of this ordeal quite unscathed, with no smell of fire on him, and not even a scorched garment.

☞ Washington letters say army movements are now made under sealed orders, so that a regiment leaves a brigade without giving any intimation of its destination to those who have been its comrades; and in several instances, officers who have come into the city on a twenty-four hours furlough, have found it no easy task to find their commands again. This shows the General commanding is getting the army of the Potomac into fighting trim and preparing for a campaign. Every officer and man knows that he is well cared for, and is ready to unhesitatingly obey orders—stopping for no explanations—suggesting no changes—but ready to go ahead.

☞ The Western telegraph line, in its progress towards the Pacific, has reached Salt Lake City, and the first despatch from the Mormon capital was sent over the wires Friday by Brigham Young. He congratulates the President of the Telegraph Company on the completion of the work thus far, and declares that Utah has not seceded, but is firm for the Constitution and laws of our once happy country.' In a short time—probably in a few weeks, at most—we shall be in direct communication with San Francisco by telegraph.

☞ Prof. Gardner, the original and world-renowned soapman, stands without a peer. There is something in the mere fact of success that challenges the admiration of "all the world and the rest of mankind;" and when that success attends a Yankee, none are too high to refrain from giving him his meed of praise.

Prof. Gardner may have been born great, he may have achieved greatness, or greatness may have been thrust upon him: we don't know how this is. Certainly he is great, if the voluntary testimonials of the high and the great in America and the Old World, mean anything. So is he great if enabling toiling multitudes to preserve that virtue which has been declared "next to godliness" at a very cheap rate, proves a man's worth. Long may he sell!

☞ The Firemen's competition at Newburyport, for the possession of the "Silver Trumpet" on Thursday, was spirited, and much interest in the parade was manifested by the people who in thousands witnessed the playing. The Prize was taken by Agile Co. No. 6. The playing—the stream horizontal—was as follows:—No. 2 played 162ft. 11 inc., No. 5 157 ft. 5 inc., No. 1 163 ft., No. 7 172 ft. 8 1-2 inc., No. 6 174 ft. 11 1-2 inc., No. 8 broke down on first trial, hadn't men—members gone to the war.

☞ The Irish American states positively that General Shields has not declined the commission of a Brigadier-General, recently tendered him by President Lincoln; but that as soon as the intelligence of his appointment reaches him in Mexico, where he has gone on private business, he will hasten to the seat of war, to devote himself with all his might to the duties of his new command.

THE REBELLION.

The Secretary of War has ordered Col. Berdan to establish a camp of instruction in Washington for his new arm of the service, and to collect all the sharpshooters he can during the next ninety days.

The rebels renewed their attack upon the command of Major Gould, of the Mass. 13th, at Bolivar Friday morning, with artillery. He replied with his two 12-pounders and the columbiad taken from the enemy on Tuesday, and was confident of holding his position until reinforcements could arrive. It is reported that the left wing of the rebels are pushing forward to the Potomac, and the correspondent of the associated press, at Darnestown, thinks an encounter of the two armies imminent.

The St. Louis Republican learns that work on the fortifications around that city has not been suspended, and that the guns will be mounted and everything completed within eight days. Also that four millions of dollars will arrive there next week to pay off the Government indebtedness.

The Cincinnati Gazette announces, editorially, that Gen. Fremont will be removed next week; that the order was served upon him by the Secretary of War, and that he was instructed to transfer the command to Gen. Hunter; but that General F. asked for a few days' delay, which was granted. The Secretary of War was in Cincinnati on Friday.

In response to an urgent demand from Gen. Sherman at Louisville, 8000 additional troops were sent to him Friday.

Eight thousand men were sent to Kentucky, Friday, on the urgent request of Gen. Sherman, commanding the Federal troops in that State. Gen. Hardee is reported in one dispatch to be in command at Bowling Green, and in another, to be on the march to join Price, in Missouri, who is hotly pressed by Fremont.

Major Gavitt, of the 1st Ind. Cavalry, attacked the rebels on the 16th, at Pilot Knob, but discovering their strength and position, fell back until he came upon Col. Alexander with six hundred of the 21st Ill. Regt., and one piece of artillery. The enemy followed, fighting all the way. Maj. Gavitt got his gun in position, concealed his infantry, and caused part of his command to continue the retreat, thus drawing the rebels into an ambuscade, and forcing them to fall back with a heavy loss.

Another rebel account of the fight at Santa Rosa, gives the impression that our troops offered no resistance, but acknowledges that a dozen or more rebels were killed, and 29 wounded. The true version of this affair is yet to come.

The N. Y. Herald states that Col. Wilson has resigned the command of the Mass. 22d Regiment, and Capt. Saxton of the regular army appointed his successor.

It is stated that the rebels object to going into winter quarters in Virginia, and insist on wintering either in Kentucky or Maryland, and the men from the extreme Southern States insist on going home, and are murmuring badly at the present inactivity.

It is presumed that a large force has been sent from Virginia to Kentucky, as there is now no prospect of their invading Maryland. It is stated that 150 voters of Chincoteague took the oath of allegiance on the 14th, in the presence of Lieut. Murray, of steamer Louisiana. The inhabitants are represented as being loyal, and request the continued presence of a war steamer to prevent their subjugation by the rebels, who have assembled on the opposite shore for that purpose.

The Times' dispatch says that U. S. Marshal Murray of New York has arrived at Washington, on important business, and that the Government has determined to commence confiscatory proceedings forthwith, of all real and personal property of the rebels.

Gen. McClellan has decided that all army correspondents must accompany the staff when the army moves, and will not be permitted to run all over the battle field.

The latest advices from the Upper Potomac, is a brief dispatch from Sandy Hook, Friday night, that the rebels were preparing to burn Bolivar, near Harper's Ferry.

Indications are that the rebels are erecting permanent batteries at Cockpit and Freestone Point, on the Potomac. Considerable bodies of rebels were seen there hard at work Friday.

Secretary Seward's circular in regard to fortifications, intended to show that our relations abroad are in good condition, and the Government means to keep them so.—The Administration has taken measures to put the nation right within, and now it turns its attention to putting it right from danger without. It, therefore, asks the co-operation of the loyal States in the latter duty as in the former.

☞ Some of the New York and New Jersey papers are for hurrying Gen. McClellen into a battle, which must be a victory, to wipe out the Bull Run affair.

And some rebel papers are growling, in like manner, because their army does not just step forward and take Washington.

Why is necessity like a great many lawyers?—Because it knows no law.

FAST DAY DISCOURSE,

—DELIVERED BY—

REV. CHARLES BURROUGHS, D.D.,

—AT THE—

Unitarian Church, Portsmouth, Sept. 26, '61.

If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins and heal their land.—2d Chronicles, chap. 7, verse 14.

Continued.

Let us now pass to the consideration of the important and appropriate topics of our text, which is taken from Solomon's prayer, at the dedication of the temple on Mount Zion. May God give us grace to make a holy and salutary use of it. "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wickedness, then will I hear from heaven and forgive their sin, and heal their land." This text furnishes us most admirable lessons of duty, and encouragement to the loftiest and brightest hopes.

The text is addressed to you, my beloved friends, as you are called by God's name. You are of the Christian family; are beings who recognize the Divine government; are God's people; possess a religious faith, are the true Israel of God, as Christians. You have erected this temple in the cause of Christianity. You have enlisted under the banner of the Cross, as the disciples of the Redeemer. You have enrolled yourselves as his soldiers, to serve in the spiritual fortress of His church; to be His armed soldiers, waiting the sound of the trumpet of war to summon you to duty. The Saviour of the world stands here to prepare and employ all your batteries for the protection of that fortress, and to defeat all your foes. You are bound in all things to look to Jesus as the Captain of your salvation; and to consult the divine statute-book, for every rule amidst your conflict. You are to look to God as your sovereign ruler; and to read with a wise interpretation and a holy spirit, all the dispensations of His Providence. The name of Christians involves you in great responsibilities. God appeals not to infidels, to heathens, to save the country; but to His people who are called by His name; to you, as among his faithful servants, belonging to the sacramental host. He calls you, as the citizens of Zion, to come up to the battle-field at this hour; and, with all the spiritual artillery that belongs to the magazines of God's church, to inscribe victory and peace on her banners. It is the Church, which guides the counsels of Rulers, infuses true wisdom into statesmen, and courage into all those who go forth to battle; which puts to flight all hostile forces, makes the weapons of war successful, and weaves crowns of glory for Christian conquerors.

Remember now, that the persons who are imperatively called on to save our country, at this awful crisis, are those who are called by the name of God; who acknowledge his being, wisdom and government, and are Christians in deed and in truth.

The great object of this National Fast is to solicit the interposition of Divine mercy, in relation to the existence of a dreadful rebellion in our country.

We have no balm, no physician, in our Israel, that can in the slightest degree heal or soothe our national malady. Alone who stilleth the raging of the sea, and the noise of the waves, can hush and control the madness of the people. This nation, till recently, has been one of the happiest of the earth. Our Constitution, of our own choice, embracing all the wisdom, strength and power that could be needed, is perfectly adapted to all our interests. The whole length of our land, from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, and its whole breadth from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, and all its acquisitions in the golden regions of California, present a scene of noble enterprise, unbounded commerce, incalculable wealth, treaties of peace with all the world, an asylum for the oppressed of all nations, a home for the wandering emigrant, an object for admiration to all realms, a refuge which we thought no storms could invade, a spot where we felt that the rights of conscience would ever be respected and enjoyed; a land of liberty and peace. The wisdom, experience, learning and lessons of civilization from all nations, had become our treasure. We were everywhere respected for our principles, freedom, power and virtue. Our fellow-countrymen had access to all lands, and were everywhere held in respect and reverence. We were the first nation of the earth, that declared the slave trade felony; we enforced the declaration. Our manufactures and productions were in every market, and our sails whitened every sea. Unbounded was our prosperity; illustrious was our name.

But alas, what now is the sad picture of our land? We are in the midst of the horrors of a civil war. When the prophet Gad was sent to announce the divine determination to punish David and his people, he offered him the choice of a seven years' famine, of three months of war, or three days of pestilence. David said, "let me fall into the hands of the Lord, for his mercies are great; but let me not fall into the hands of man." We have fallen into the hands of man, of our brother, our fellow countryman, friend of our government and laws, speaking one common language, holding one common religion, and grasping with the same hopes and fears one common Bible. Now are we most widely divided asunder, and are alienated by the most rancorous hatred and hostility. A civil war exceeds all foreign wars in its intensity of animosity and the bitterness of its cruelties. On the part of our foes, all humanity is utterly abandoned; resentment will probably never die, and revenge will perhaps be forever implacable. Six millions of the free population of the Southern States, and four millions of slaves are holding a conflict with twenty millions of the inhabitants of the North. The Cherokee nation have entered into an alliance with the rebellious States, armed with artillery, tomahawks and scalping knives. Thirteen hundred armed Indian warriors have crossed the Arkansas river, to aggravate with new cruelties of savage ferocity, the fiend-like spirit of Southern rebellion. Our foes are assailing us in every quarter. Their piracies on the high seas; their robberies, burnings and murders on land; their gross frauds and recklessness of faith; their jealousies and detestation of us at our views of slavery; and their willingness to subject us to the tomahawks of the savage, prove them to be the most terrific enemies that civilized man has ever encountered. Our commercial concerns are embarrassed. The strength and flower of our population are marshalled in the battle-field. Almost half a million of people are pledged to sustain the war. A vast debt, momently increasing, threatens us with severe embarrassment. All our concerns, thoughts, interests, reading, and conversation, are exclusively directed to the exciting and sad tidings that are, every succeeding moment, rushing on us like a mighty wind or flood, to forbode the fate of our country. We seem like the Athenians, at the time of the great slaughter in the days of Pericles, when the men and women stood for days in front of their houses, stopping every passenger, asking in agony about their friends, whether they were dead or alive.

Everything has been done to avoid this rebellion. The South would not be appeased. The age of Southern chivalry surely is passed; it has been succeeded by recklessness in crime. We would speak with exceptions. Could liberty of speech and action be realized in the seceded States, chivalry and nobleness would burst forth from many thousands, who would pray for the success of the Union. The overwhelming tyranny of the rebels prevents such prayers; and the innocent are the victims of the guilty. This rebellion must be subdued; not for subjugation or spoils, but for the defence of the country, the preservation and perpetuity of our Constitution and laws.

Though blood should flow like water, the salvation of our land is worth the sacrifice. Our troops must be crowned with victory; otherwise there is no possibility of liberty, government or peace. No prophet can foresee the result of our rebellion. We are a spectacle to the nations, who look on us with wonder and pity, and are astonished that a people, so recently exalted to Heaven, should be cast down and almost driven to despair. How is our gold become dim! Still hope exultingly spreads her wings before us; as it assures us that there are mighty spirits, illumined with wisdom from on high; with genius, talent, courage and virtues suited to the most extraordinary exigencies of the darkest hour, burning with unextinguishable patriotism, and rushing with a martyr's spirit, to sacrifice everything for the establishment of our union, welfare, peace, prosperity and glory.

It being indisputable that the secession of the southern States meant rebellion, and that such rebellion, having not a single element of a justifiable revolution, is now confirmed into a civil war, it becomes us, if we wish to adopt any means for healing this political malady, to inquire into its causes, as these may suggest important civil and religious lessons. Some blindly charge this civil war to political animosities and mistakes. Others ascribe it to sectional prejudices, bitter jealousies, base ambition, violent fanaticism, party strife, agitations about domestic slavery or corruptions at the seat of government. Whatever effect these circumstances may have had in producing our present disastrous condition, we presume not to know. But we are sure that it has come from different, deeper and more powerful sources. Nor can it be said that the North is chargeable with this war; for it has always faithfully regarded the Constitution and government; has used every favorable measure for peace and union, and made every reasonable concession to the South. Our government, said Mr. Everett, has never passed a law hostile to the interests of the South on the subject of slavery; or failed to pass one, which the South has claimed as belonging to her rights, or needed for her safety. The North has never wielded the power of the government to the prejudice of the South; now had the generous overtures made in Congress to the South been acknowledged and approved by the Southern States, they would only have embittered their temper, strengthened their resources, and increased their powers of mischief.

But have the people of the South done nothing to cause these difficulties? Is there not every reason to believe that they rest on their consciences? Have they not for half a century maintained the independence of a State over the General Government? Have they not constantly endeavored to enforce those views?

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & Co.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters an efficacious remedy for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it promises to be.

Very respectfully yours,

American Women.

America is justly proud of its beautiful women; but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Hysterics, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my26daw3m

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become quite gray, and my head partially bald. I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, healthy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. ROBINHALL.

Franklin G. Bennett was then placed upon trial for stealing a watch and pair of pants from Alfred B. Irons, a student at Phillips Exeter Academy—while he was bathing in Exeter river last summer.

The Jury found him guilty of stealing property, to the amount of $25, and he was sentenced to four years in the State Prison and to pay costs of prosecution.

FROM THE SOUTH.

The Petersburg, (Va.) Express has additional particulars of the affair at New Orleans. It is stated that the Turtle, the iron clad steam tug, ran against the Preble without firing a gun, immediately sinking her! The balls from the whole Federal fleet glanced from her. The Turtle then turned toward the other two vessels, who got ashore in their endeavoring to escape, their crews deserting them. Hollins says he will be able to capture and bring them to New Orleans. The Preble cannot be raised.—A large number of prisoners, arms and ammunition, &c., were taken during the action. New Orleans was illuminated on the receipt of the intelligence. Hollins arrived there on the 14th.

The Pensacola correspondent of the PetersburgsExpress gives the names of twenty-four wounded rebels at the Santa Rosa fight.

The Richmond Inquirer of the 13th states that several hundred bales of cotton had been returned to their owners, and all the cotton will hereafter be sent back to the planters at their own expense.

Gen. Twiggs has resigned at New Orleans on account of ill health, and Gen. Mansfield Lovell succeeds him. Travel from New Orleans is under strict surveillance.

Gen. Wise's health is improving.

Parson Brownslow supports the candidates for the Confederate Congress but severely satirizes the rebel authorities.

Breckinridge and Preston were at Nashville on the 7th.

The Louisville Courier was to be revived at Bowling Green on the 14th.

Rebel accounts say that only two rebels were injured by the Monticello's fire near Chicamico, and both but slightly!

☞ The Cincinnati Enquirer estimates the vote cast at the recent election in Ohio at 250,00. Of these were cast

For Tod.....200,000
For Jewell.....150,000

Gov. Tod was President of the National Democratic Convention which nominated Douglas, and has now been the successful candidate of the Union party in Ohio. His opponent was the regular Democratic nominee.

☞ Gen. McClellan has issued an order that all bands shall drill one hour each day in the art of conveying wounded men, and putting them into ambulances, stopping the flow of blood in particular arteries, &c. Bands hereafter may be called "Knights of the Ambulance."

☞ The cotton raised at the confluence of the Bhuma and Kistna rivers, from which the Dacca muslin, the most exquisite in the world, is made, is said to be longer and finer than the best Sea Island.

☞ "Occasional" of the Philadelphia Press says "the impression is, from recent advices received from Richmond, that it is the intention of the rebels to winter the bulk of their army in that city."

☞ The Potomac appears at last to have been effectually closed by the rebels to all except our vessels of war—all merchant-craft being afraid to run the gauntlet of their batteries.

☞ Stamped newspaper envelopes are to be issued by the Post Office Department immediately. They will be furnished for $1.16 per 100.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Gen. Abbott has received notice from the Quartermaster General at Washington, that the 7th regiment is to be fitted out entirely with uniforms, camp equipage, &c., before leaving Manchester. The Quartermaster General authorizes everything comprising the outfit of a Regiment, with the exception of a baggage train, which is to be furnished at Washington.

—— It is intended to hold a series of Union meetings at various places in Belknap county, within a few weeks, to encourage the people in the work of sustaining the government, and to create a deeper interest in the filling up of the regiments now forming for the war.

—— Samuel B. Kidder, Esq., has raised a potato in his garden at Manchester, which weighed 3 1-2 pounds. The hill, from which he took it, contained a peck and a half, and the whole weighed 19 1-2 pounds. The vine grew to the height of five feet.

—— The Lebanon Free Press states that two of the clergymen in that town, Rev. Mr. Downs and Rev. Mr. Culver, are suffering from a disease of the eyes, the former to such an extent as to compel him to take a vacation of a few weeks.

—— A highly successful Union meeting was held at East Wilton, on Wednesday.—Addresses were made by Hon. Walter Harriman, Hon. Daniel Clark, Hon. George W. Morrison, and Lieut. Col. O. W. Lull, of the Eighth Regiment.

—— Thanksgiving in this State,—Tuesday, Nov. 28th.

—— Some "fellows of the baser sort" embraced the opportunity of the mass meeting at Wilton, to "go in for a time." There was some hustling about before dark, but they did no great mischief until the Nashua Cadets had gone on board the cars to return home. As soon as they were gone, these fellows went in for a promiscuous knock-down. They took possession of the public House and began to tear round and break things in a manner most fierce to behold. The police were powerless, and other citizens did not care for a set-to with them. A messenger was sent to Capt. Bowers—the train not having gone—and he ordered out his company and marched back. They made quick work of the matter, arresting four of the ringleaders, and taking three of them down to Nashua, where they were allowed to cool off in the lockup, and Wilton settled down into its usual quiet.

—— The Coos Republican says the old guns with flint locks, in the State armory at Lancaster, have been sold by Quartermaster General Gage, and sent to Nashua. Their removal, it continues, leaves the arsenal nearly empty. Nothing remains but the old iron cannon, famous for their capture from Burgoyne, and their temporary lodgment on the ramparts of Ticonderoga.

—— The Littleton Journal says:—Madame Anna Bishop was at the Alpine House, in Gorham, the other day, and gave a concert in Ingalls' Hall. While the inmates of the hotel were nearly all absent from the house, attending the concert, some scamp stole a large trunk belonging to Mad ame Bishop, filled with a very costly selection of music.

——Hon. E. H. Rollins reached Concord Thursday, bearing from Washington drafts for two hundred thousand dollars, this sum being a portion of the expenditure of New Hampshire for military purposes, now reimbursed by the United States.

—— Rev. Daniel P. Cilley, of Farmington—of the Free Will Baptist denomination—is announced as having received the appointment of chaplain of the Eighth Regiment of N. H. Volunteers.

—— Charles Scott, of Peterborough, has been appointed Major of the Sixth Regiment.

—— Rev. Henry E. Parker, called home by the alarming illness of a child, left for his post as chaplain of the Second Regiment, on the afternoon of Tuesday last.

—— The flannel factory belonging to John Townsend, at Milton Mills, N. H., was burnt Saturday morning, at about two o'clock. Loss about $40,000; partially insured. The mill was running on a government contract.

—— The School Committee of Manchester, as we learn from the American, have, in view of the low state of the city treasury, voted to suspend the schools in Districts Nos. 1, 6 and 9, at the expiration of eight weeks, and the schools in Nos. 10 and 11 at the expiration of ten weeks, the others to continue twelve weeks, the usual duration of the autumn term.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

NTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The most exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effects.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1859.

J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it ulcerated inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and neck with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was induced to try in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin began to form under the sores, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully, Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same; says he cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Shaw of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a hideous swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from ever two years."

Leucorrhea or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Chandler, of New York City, writes: "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla an invaluable alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhea by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the womb. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my knowledge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes: "A dangerous cancerous tumor on one of the females in my family, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your Extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physician thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

NEW ORLEANS, 25th August, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of those obstinate and inveterate Diseases. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of the bone, when the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, and his nose shows scarcely any disfiguration to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results will it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, G. V. LARIMER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INDEPENDENCE, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a spinal chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. The bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. HIGHAM.

Jules F. Getchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted 7 years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried everything, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Espy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because it had cured him, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I feel strong again. The last that can be said of you is not half good enough."

Schirrus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from use of this remedy, but our pamphlet does not admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the sick of the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless now to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivaled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living proof in their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won for it so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long, or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more evenly and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable damp grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an inactive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and the jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineha Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN OLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP OVEN, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being concentrated from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of the draft.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full "principle of the culinary process" may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and nor found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept space with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Brush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, who offers the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman the tein named, as using and dispensing the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart:—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

PATENT COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. PURE LIQUORS AND WINES FOR PRIVATE USE AND MEDICAL PURPOSES.

We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., and would say that our experience of more than FORTY YEARS as importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it enables us to offer advantages to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquors and Wines for medicinal and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no travelling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive our best personal attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Communications by mail will receive prompt attention, with full and complete catalogue of goods, prices, &c.

AN EQUINE EPIDEMIC. —A disease of a peculiarly fatal nature has made its appearance among the horses in Vienna, Verona and other parts of Oneida and adjacent counties, in New York State. The animals are first taken stupid and sleepy, lose their appetites entirely, and in the course of a few days die. A slight swelling in the region of the nose is the only external abnormal symptom. The affection is called "the horse disease," and all remedies, though they operate as expected, fail to cure or allay the affection. Large numbers have died.

Gen. Houston has put both feet, one son, and seven nephews into the rebellion. The old fellow goes in, hat and boots, for secession; says President Lincoln offered men men money in abundance if he would sustain the Union, but he had rather be a traitor, and an unmitigated one. Good bye, Sam; you have been bought by Santa Anna, offered yourself and Texas to Europe, and at last have sold out to the devil. This is your last trade, Samuel. Who is cheated?—Boston Post.

☞ George Bromley, of Preston, Conn., while sitting on the railroad track a few days since, was struck by a passing train, and pitched into the bushes. Upon the train backing up to ascertain his injuries, he came forward and told the conductor that if he had damaged the engine any he was ready to settle for it, and left for home.

☞ The Rising Sun, a Freewill Baptist paper published in Richmond, Me., for some years past, owing to the pressure of the times has been discontinued.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1861.

TWO NEW JERSEY SOLDIERS KILLED AND ONE WOUNDED.—On Wednesday afternoon, three of our pickets, from the New Jersey Third, were on duty at the outposts, when they were approached by the rebels, who said they wanted to speak a few words, and were allowed to approach. They conversed quietly for several minutes in sight of others, when, as is alleged, they suddenly wheeled and shot the three with their revolvers. Two were instantly killed, and the third was taken away by them. The two bodies left were recovered yesterday, and buried at Fairfax Seminary with military honors.—Newark, N. J., Journal.

Are these and such as these, the rebels who must not be coerced? And did we hear somebody talk of peace and compromise with them? They fight thus to perpetuate and extend slavery, which, being founded on treachery in the first place, must always live by treachery and falsehood. Honesty and truth are fatal to it.

☞ There is a report of financial troubles of a very remarkable sort among the Southern merchants. When they seceded and repudiated, they expected to keep all that they did not pay to Northern creditors. To their astonishment and consternation, they are now put upon oath, required to disclose what they owe at the North, and to pay the amount over to the rebel treasury, under the sequestration act. They had bargained for private emolument, not for public gains, and this demand drives them into close quarters. In Nashville, they have had a merchants' meeting, to beg of the Confederate Government the privilege of turning over to its officers the amount of Northern debts, in good paper made by their country customers.

☞ Antioch College, founded by the Christian denomination near Cincinnati, is likely to fall into the hands of the Unitarians. A little more than a year ago the Unitarians contributed $40,000 to remove the mortgage from the buildings; and now, the "Christians" being unable to furnish the means to keep the institution in operation, offer it to the Unitarians out-right on the condition that they will raise for it $7000 during the present month, and about $20,000 more during the coming year; which they will undoubtedly do, and thus come in possession of the first college in the West at less than a third of its value.

THE BANKS AND THE LOAN.—The New York Post of Saturday evening makes the following important statement:

"We learn that the banks have offered to take the third fifty millions of 7 30 loan, on the condition that interest is allowed from October 1. This Mr. Chase declines to do, and names November 1 as the date of this instalment.

We hear also that Mr. Chase, in answer to a proposition of the banks in regard to the $1,000,000 7 per cent. bonds which he is authorized to issue, informed the agent of the banks that he had an offer from foreign capitalists, equal to 7 1-2 per cent. interest, at par, for the entire loan. Mr. Chase, of course, expressed his willingness to entertain offers from the associated banks, at anything like the same terms."

FOREIGN NEWS.—The steamship Etna arrived off Cape Race on Friday night, bringing Liverpool dates of the 9th, and Queenstown of the 10th inst., four days later than those per steamer Arabia. The news is generally unimportant. It was reported that Prince Napoleon had sent the Emperor an important state paper on American affairs. The high price of bread continued in France and claimed attention. The Government has issued an assurance that the price will not be further advanced. It is stated that orders have been issued to prepare a French squadron for America.—The King of Prussia had paid a two days' visit to the Emperor of France.

Lord Russell is opposed to interference in the internal affairs of Mexico, but says Government should protect the rights of British subjects in that country. Mr. Vandenhoff, senior, the actor, is dead. In the Liverpool cotton market large sales were made, and the prices had slightly advanced.

☞ Two young married men of Searsburg, Vt., who left for California some years since and returned home recently, found their wives remarried. They having heard nothing from their husbands since their departure, applied to a young lady spiritualist, who was very exact in describing to them the death and burial of their husbands, the date of their funeral, and the disease of which they died. Their wives supposing this to be reliable, remarried, and there was a funny time when the long absent husbands returned.

☞ California news is to the 12th inst. A fire in San Francisco on the 10th, destroyed property to the amount of $25,000. News from the Sandwich Islands is to the 21st ult. The Hawaian Government has declared strict neutrality in relation to American affairs; but forbids privateers to enter its harbors. There is some complication in the relations between France and the Hawaian Government.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Peterboro' Transcript mentions the death of Miss Abbie J. Clark, of that town, and says she was the youngest of a family of five, who were all prostrated with typhoid fever, none of whom were able to see her during her sickness, and only one, a sister, could possibly attend her funeral.

—— One of the best illustrations of the advantage to be derived from advertising, that we have noticed for quite a while, was afforded in Concord recently. A notice in the Patriot not only brought back a cane, valuable to the owner, but also proved suggestive enough to scare up a lost cotton umbrella! If any of our traders have lost business recently, let them ponder seriously over these recoveries. When lost cotton umbrellas come back, anything will, even in war times.

——On Tuesday last the White Mountains were covered with snow half way down their sides. The rivers in the mountain districts are now very low for the time of year, and a general thaw of the old and new snow is greatly desired by those using the water power for manufacturing purposes.

——Rev. John Eaton, Jr., late of Andover Seminary, Chaplain of the 27th Ohio Regiment, was some weeks since captured by the rebels in Missouri, but has since been released by Gen Price, and is now at St. Louis. The particulars of the capture have not come to hand, but it is known that, while his regiment was at Mexico, Mo., he was sent to St. Louis with the sick, and left on the 19th of September, to rejoin his regiment, which in the meantime had marched for Lexington. Mr. Eaton is a native of Sutton, this State.

—— Mr. Sylvanus Haywood was ordained and installed pastor of the Congregational church in Dunbarton on the 9th inst. Sermon by Prof. Brown of Dartmouth.

——The American states that S.G. Langley, adjutant of the 2d Regiment, arrived in Manchester Saturday, having left the camp at Bladensburg on Wednesday.—Some weeks ago he tendered his resignation, which was not accepted. He now insists on a resignation and has left the Regiment. He probably has a better place in view.

—— Thanksgiving in this State,—Thursday, Nov. 28th.

THE REBELLION.

The announcement by the Cincinnati Gazette that Gen. Fremont has received notice of his removal, is contradicted by a dispatch from St. Louis, which says that no order has been served upon him, and that his interview with Mr. Cameron was satisfactory to both parties.

On Saturday the cable by which the Resolute was towing the schooner Fairfax from Philadelphia, broke while off Occoquan, near Budd's Point, when the latter drifted towards the shore. The rebels in boats started out and captured her.

Most of the new rebel batteries on the Potomac are placed above the range of the guns of our steamers, and cannot be silenced except by a land attack.

Special dispatches to the St. Louis Democrat state that the rebel garrison of Lexington, Mo., was surprised and driven out by a force of 150 men under Major Milne on the 16th. All our sick and wounded were recaptured, 100 of whom were sent to St. Louis. A quantity of arms of various kinds were also taken.

The work on the fortifications of St. Louis has not been discontinued, and no orders to that effect have been received. So say the dispatches Monday morning.

Advices by the Persia show that our relations with England are still satisfactory.—Lord Lyons has instructed the consuls at Southern ports to respect the law of blockade which forbids shipping a cargo after the blockade is declared.

The Missouri State convention adjourned on Friday, subject to the call of Gov. Gamble. The rebel Legislature is to assemble Nov. 4th. Gen. Johnson has been placed in command of the rebel forces, and has forbidden the transportation of any property (i. e., slaves) from the State. The Cherokees have "with marked unanimity" declared their adherence to the rebels.

The Tribune's dispatch says Secretary Seward assured a number of the Diplomatic body that in his opinion the Southern insurrection would blow over in three months; that the ports would be all opened and peace and prosperity again reign.

It is currently reported that Fairfax Court House has been fired and destroyed by the rebels.

The navigation of the Potomac appears to be again unobstructed. Forty-one vessels passed the batteries at Shipping Point Sunday afternoon; only one vessel was hit, the ball going through her main sail.

It is found necessary in consequence of the advance of our army to remove the headquarters of Gen. McClellan from Washington into Virginia, and in a few days he will be located in the midst of the camps.

The Richmond Enquirer says the Nashville is still in Charleston harbor, and that Mason and Slidell did not sail in that vessel.

FAST DAY DISCOURSE,

— DELIVERED BY —

REV. CHARLES BURROUGHS, D. D,

— AT THE —

Unitarian Church, Portsmouth, Sept. 26, '61.

Continued.

But these civil causes never would have brought on us such judgments, had we not incured them by our iniquities. Righteousness would have conducted away all those destructive bolts. But when God saw all the evils planned against us by base, designing, ambitious and rebellious men, and saw, too, the vast amount of our transgressions, why should he control those acts of just retribution? What was the real state of things at the seat of government? How did some of the great rulers of our land obtain their position, and how did they use it? Was it in the power of our just and holy men to check the abuses of the officers of government? Did not some of our high statesmen live in the practice of gross sins? Was not infidelity over all the land? Did there not go forth from rich cities, fiends who, on the coast of Africa, bartered their souls for slaves? Was not Sunday generally profaned by secular indulgences? Was not party the predominant motive of action everywhere? Were not justice and judgment turned away backward, and was not truth fallen in the street? Was holy knowledge the stability of the times, and was the fear of God our treasure? The judgment upon us is the effect of sin, evil, wrong, sensuality, pride, ambition, folly, crime. If we look into society or our own hearts, we cannot condemn the hand that smites us! Have we not been defective in Christian faith and holiness, and in reverence for our country and our God? Have we not made gold our hope, pleasure our pursuit, the world our idol, and the fashions of the age ours substitute for the decalogue? Then may we not be chargeable for the retributions of an angry God? When the volleyed lightnings fly through the heavens, and carry ruin in their path, his arm hurls the bolt.—He makes peace. He creates evil. He is a man of war. Without his permission no sparrow falls. We have sinned, and brought these evils on our nation, which he now threatens with ruin unless we shall follow the admonitions of the text.

One of our highest civil duties at this crisis is, if we would save our country, to reverence our Constitution. The more we examine it and discern its application to all the high interests of our people, the more shall appreciate the intense admiration bestowed upon it by him who stands in lustre before the world, as its great expounder.

That Constitution has been the mighty instrument, by which have been regulated all our movements amidst our tremendous political hurricane. Who can charge it with a want of power? It has been adapted to every emergency. It has shown a wadrous promptness and admirable spirit, that no despotism could surpass; for a free, thinking people like ours have known so much the sweets of liberty, that they could never bear the slightest form of tyranny. That Constitution has stood the experiment of fourscore years, and has been a skilful and faithful pilot in every storm. It has a definiteness that regulates everything important, and an elasticity that adapts itself to every occasion, and yet a firmness which nothing can break. It has given us a name which stands as a priceless gem on the earth. Abandon that Constitution, and ruin will immediately follow. It has ever worked well, and stands as a noble monument of human wisdom. It is firm as Atlas amidst the waves of this civil war. It has been formed and matured by the greatest and best of statesmen. The seal of Washington is upon it; and we can never have another with his seal. It is the charter that has made our glory at home and abroad. It should be the last thing which our country should yield. The very able Dane Professor of law at Cambridge, Mr. Parsons, in his lecture on the Constitution, has given us this beautiful eulogy of it. By its force the national government has all the strength which it needs or could possibly use. We have the strongest government in the world. 'Over us all,' says Mr. Parsons, 'the Constitution bends like the universal sky, holding us all within its embrace, but lifted up too high for any one to reach it with a sacrilegious hand. Like the sky it comes down as the beneficent air which surrounds us at every step and at every moment, supplying us with the elements of political life, and yet so soft, so yielding, and invisible, that we do not think of it, as we engage in the work or enjoy the happiness of every day. Soft, yielding, and invisible is the sweet air we breathe and live upon; and yet it may, when there is need, put forth its strength: and who can stand against the might of the unfettered wind?' Hold fast, then, that Constitution as the mightiest power for the preservation of the Union.

The next civil duty required of us at this crisis is love of country. It is an attribute or sentiment, which has existed in every known nation. Even the savage feels it in devotion to his tribe. It is like attraction and gravitation to matter, keeping it ever true to the great central power. It is like magnetism, pointing, — ever faithfully, — to the great polarity of government. Deeply do we regret to say that this virtue does not seem to belong to our people. A British subject is imbued with it to a wonderful extent. When the Swiss peasant hears in a foreign land the notes of the Rans de Vanche, his native air, he involuntarily weeps. "I am a Roman citizen," was the boast of every one born in the seven-hilled city of Italy.

Such is the patriot's boast, where'er he roam,
His first, best country, ever is at home.

Athens was not disgraced by a son that did not behold the Parthenon with filial adoration, as far surpassing the glory of all objects. The Grecian sage Isocrates, at the age of 98, in the midst of vigorous health, disdained all nourishment and died, because his fellow-citizens, the Athenian soldiery, perished at the battle of Cheroneia. The Scriptures urge obedience to government. Our Saviour evinced the strongest attachment to his country, loved its towns, took pleasure in mingling among its people; and wept as he gazed from Mount Olivet on the Holy City, in view of the calamities which should descend upon it. Next to obeying God, I know no duty more imperative than the love of country. It is impossible, said a Roman poet, to tell the sweet enchantment that attaches us to our native soil, and never allows us to be unmindful of it. Such feelings are not generally betrayed by our own countrymen. Nationality has not been considered their trait. If it were not for political ambition, strifes of party, and love of office, public interest in the country would be very limited in its extent. The times and condition of the country have awakened a warmer love for it. The government and institutions being endangered, have touched a chord of sympathy that will never cease to vibrate; have gone to every city, village and family, and roused to enthusiasm and action our whole population; kindled everywhere the love of country, and erected an impregnable fortress against every foe. It is this magic power which inspires zeal and valor, and makes swords leap from thousands of scabbards to avenge every insult to our nation's honor. The crisis has brought us feelingly to exclaim "This is my country, this is my own, my native land," and all its history and greatness seem at once to cluster about it, and give us a national pride. Our constitution, character, civil and religious liberty are not surpassed in any land, and tell us that love of country is a debt that we owe to it; and it should ever be our highest privilege and joy to support her generously with our resources, to honor her by our obedience, to make every sacrifice for her defence, and to exert all our energies for her glory. This is the important hour, then, to stand forth as patriots, for our land is worth all your devotion, and demands it. We need at this hour, near our ruin or our triumph, your prompt and gallant aid:

"Come as the wind comes when Forests are rended;
Come as the waves come when
Navies are stranded.
Leave unattended the hearth,
The flock without shelter;
Leave the corpse uninterr'd,
The bride at the altar."

That aid must be conspicuous in your words and actions, that all men may know that you are untainted by the spirit of secession, disunion, rebellion.

Under the present malady of our nation, another duty stands pre-eminent and imperative. It is the duty of sustaining, encouraging and aiding our government with the utmost decision and liberality. Our cause is righteous, just and true. There never was a more noble one in which man can be engaged if he has within him the lofty principles of patriotism. The most admirable constitution and government of the known world is assailed; unholy hands have been lifted against our political ark that holds the inestimable treasure of liberty. We may almost say, as did Pericles of Athens, that we are the only people of the world which is found by experience to be greater than in report.

We have not only a just, but a glorious cause to defend; a Constitution that cannot be surpassed, and we know not how it can be amended; a population, enlightened, high-minded and independnt; a country that has every advantage and beauty that could be desired; a fame, to no place unknown, and that gives our countrymen a welcome passport and confidence everywhere; a freedom, pure, bright and felicitous as ever was known and felt by man; a confederacy of States that form a galaxy of light and strength, honor and mercy; a code of laws, so wise and beneficent as to protect every man's rights and give the largest encouragement to virtue; liberty of the press; the rights of conscience; commerce; and every desirable institution of learning and philanthropy; a people abounding in intelligence and industry; wonderful inventive faculties and progress in the arts; love of knowledge and liberality of spirit. With such traits to distinguish our country, who would not be proud to be one of her champions. These are the traits which make us so strenuous for the support of the Union. The civil war is an agony to us because our foes, being of our own political household, would rend our Union, would tear from our flag some of the golden stars, would sever our confederacy, and destroy our government. We hold but one policy, and that is to re-establish the Union, and bind the severed States again in a golden bond. They are not severed; they are not gone; they are still of our political galaxy; they are not acknowledged as a confederacy by any act of our government. Our war, then, is not to subjugate them, but to recover them from their rebellious condition, and bring them in obedience to government. Our war is for putting down rebellion, and for sustaining and establishing our government. Our war is for the defence of the Constitution and Union. It has nothing to do with the agitation of slavery, or with the introduction of slavery, with changes in our Constitution, nor with the organization of any new measures that may interfere with previous rights of the South; but purely to reduce it to the status ante bellum, to the same privileges and laws which they once enjoyed, after suitable measures have been adopted to subdue and punish the civil crime of treason. God grant that we may recover and re-set all the State jewels of our national diadem. Should our Union be destroyed, anarchy, or something worse than anarchy, will be our destiny. Every one should be active for our common salvation. He that is not with us, whose voice and heart are not kindled with this national spirit, who is silent, distrustful, cold, suspicious, who betrays indifference, says disheartening words or throws sarcastic sneers over those who are zealous for the Union,—are against it, and against us, against our government and our administration.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co.—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since strongly recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 8, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gentlemen: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as the merit of it is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully yours,
WM. R. PRESTON.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

BOSTON, Mass., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry E. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these loathed creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and, most undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,
(Editor of the Odd Fellow.)

S. J. COURT—MONDAY, Oct. 21.

In the case Brown vs. Seabrook, a verdict was rendered for the plf. of $1 damages.

Chas. W. Batton, convicted at the April term, of an assault with intent to kill, was sentenced to ten days' solitary confinement and 4 years in the State Prison.

Theresa Smith, found guilty of maintaining a disorderly house, was fined $15, and costs $25.88.

Mary Louisa Eckhardt was convicted of same offence. Her counsel has moved the court in arrest of judgment.

John Williams, for larceny, sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment in jail, and to pay costs, and $45 to the owner of the property stolen.

Ann Durgin and Michael McCann, having pleaded not. con., were each sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment in jail, and to pay costs.

Mary Lindsey, for fornication, fined $25 and costs.

James Palmer, for selling liquor, fined $25 and costs.

☞ A horse, attached to a chaise in which a young lady was riding, became frightened on Monday noon, by the breaking of the bit. The accident occurred near Wibird's Hill, and the horse becoming unmanageable, ran through Middle into Summer street, and overturned the chaise in turning the corner opposite the jail. The lady was thrown out, but fortunately received no serious injury. The chaise was pretty effectually demolished.

☞ The workmen at our Navy Yard received one payment, chiefly in demand Treasury notes, on Monday evening. Another payment is already due, and a third becomes due on Thursday next. We understand that it is contemplated to pay both of these during the present week.

Tickets may be had in the cars along the route. 3t

For the Chronicle.

OLD KITTERY POINT AWAKE.—Mrs. Jane Hill, of Kittery Point, has contributed the first pair of yarn stockings for the troops, thus taking the lead among her townswomen in the patriotic work; and the men will not be out-done, for it is proposed that each man leave at the Yard $1 every pay day, making $3000 a month, to buy blankets and hospital stores. Glory to the man whose name shall head the list! Where is old Rye, in her country's cause. *

TELEGRAPH TO UTAH.—On the opening of the Telegraph to Great Salt Lake City, the following dispatches were exchanged:

"GREAT SALT LAKE CITY.—To the President of the United States:—Utah, whose citizens strenuously resist all imputations of disloyalty, congratulates the President upon the completion of an enterprise which spans the continent, unites two oceans, and connects the remote extremities of the body politic with the great govenment's heart. May the whole system speedily thrill with the quickened pulsations of that heart, the parricidal hand of political treason be palsied, and the entire sisterhood of States join hands in glad re-union around the National Fireside.

(Signed) FRANK FULLER,
Acting Governor of Utah."

The following is the reply:

"SIR,—The completion of the telegraph to Great Salt Lake City is auspicious of the stability and union of the Republic. The Government reciprocates your congratulations. (Signed) ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

To FRANK FULLER, Acting Gov."

☞ Special dispatches received at New York from Washington, say that a gentleman just from the South states that our squadron below New Orleans had an engagement with the rebel squadron under Hollins, and that two of our vessels got aground, and suffered considerably. The sinking of the Preble is denied. None of our vessels were captured, and but few lives lost.

☞ The Richmond Examiner abuses Alexander H. Stephens, Vice President of the Southern Confederacy, in round terms. It charges him with being a corrupt and mischievous man, and accuses the whole people of the cotton States with supreme selfishness, monopolizing all the offices, and spurning and treating with contempt the border States of secessiondom.

☞ The great trot between Ethan Allen and Brown Dick for a purse of $1000, will come off at 3 o'clock this Tuesday afternoon, at the Franklin Park, North Chelsea, Mass. There is a good deal of interest in regard to the race, and a large amount of money has been staked upon the result.

Information was received at Gen. Siegel's camp that Price broke up his camp in Cedar county, where it was said he would stand and give battle, and continued his retreat towards the Arkansas line.

☞ Our Ministers in England and France assert positively that neither of those governments has entered into arrangements with Spain to join the expedition against Mexico. Our government all along has been assured by both that they had no object in their interference with the affairs of Mexico than to protect their citizens and obtain reparation for outrages upon them.

CAPTURE OF THE PRIVATEER SUMTER. A letter received by Pendleton & Ross, of this city, from Capt. S. S. Mitchell, dated Barbadoes, Sept. 27th, says:—"The privateer Sumter was captured to the leeward by the U. S. steam frigate Powhattan.—The news arrived here this morning by steamer."—Bangor Times.

The Tribune says it knows it to be true that Secretary Cameron took with him to Missouri full discretionary power to supersede General Fremont and turn over the command of his army to General Hunter, and that he did not see fit to exercise that power. All beyond this is idle speculation.

Col. Dimick, who has been Post Commandant at Old Point for nearly two years, left Fortress Monroe on Saturday night for Fort Warren in Boston harbor. The garrison paraded on the occasion was highly flattering to the beloved Colonel.

☞ The Mayors of Southampton, England, of 1860 and 1861, having each had a daughter born in their Mayoralty, the city has been obliged to present a silver cradle to each of the young ladies.

☞ Mr. M. F. Tupper was recently thrown from his carriage, and had one of his ribs broken, besides sustaining other injuries. A lucky author to have a carriage to be thrown from!

☞ Portland and Boston manufacturers are "running" each other in the Kerosene business. The result is delightful to the pockets of all who want light. Kerosene is unprecedentedly cheap.

BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensible to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

☞ The first frost of the season in this vicinity was noticed on Monday morning, Oct. 21. Even then it was very slight and many of the vines still retain their green.

☞ Thomas Wilder, the founder of the order of Odd Fellows, died suddenly at Baltimore, on Saturday.

☞ The Ladies' Benevolent Society, of Kittery, are to give a Levee at Armory Hall, Foreside, Tuesday Evening, Oct. 22. The proceeds are to be expended in purchasing Blankets, Socks, &c., for the Volunteers. All persons disposed to aid this laudable object are invited to attend. The Portsmouth Cornet Band have kindly volunteered their services, and will discourse some of their best Music. There will also be Vocal Music by a Quartette Club, who have also volunteered their services. Admission 25 cents. Children 10 cents. Doors open at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Saleratus, like port wine, can be made for almost any price, which is done by using cheap and deleterious substances.—Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is perfectly pure and unadulterated, and one paper will convince any intelligent lady that there is nothing equal to it. It will produce one-eighth more bread than any other; is much better than soda to use with cream tartar. Grocers and Druggists sell it. 3t

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulder, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and even when the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet and weather when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1859.

J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it breaks out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turns inward and distresses me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my hand and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was referred to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the benefactors of the age, and remain ever gratefully, Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert H. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened his patient's life, and also a dangerous Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same; says he cures the common Erysipelas in a few days.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a disfiguring half-size swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulcerations, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes: "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla a most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhœa by it, and some others for the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured, and nothing within my knowledge equals it for those female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes, "A dangerous uterine tumor was cured in one of the best of my family, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, but at length been completely cured by your Extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physicians thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remained."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

NEW ORLEANS, 25th August, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I therefore comply with the request of your agent, and report in your behalf of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the case of Venereal and Mercurial Disease. One of my patients had nearly lost his nose in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disease would soon reach his brain. Your Sarsaparilla yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disfigurement in his face. A woman came to me troubled for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she felt as if some crucitating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from the formula which you have given me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, G. V. LARNER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INDEPENDENCE, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.

Dr. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a painful disease (Rheumatism) for nearly three years, and have tried the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and I could be very proud of my health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. It is a wonderful medicine. J. FREAM.

John T. Gotchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I should have died a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than the derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Egy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla. I did so, and to my joy, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I am strong again. The best thing can be said of you is not half good enough."

Scirrhus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Some of these may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the medical profession and people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivaled excellence for coughs and colds, and the truly astonishing cures of pulmonary disease, have made it familiar throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some trophy to their relief of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the benefits of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtue that it had when making the cures which have won for it such hold upon the confidence of mankind.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3½ long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in a Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in it out of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the floor of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet, when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air betw een these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are fined with tin, and all jackets are provided for the back and top of the plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mather, N. R. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harriet, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be true stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses of private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have sought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal.

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which the warm heat, in moving off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied, with a TIN OVEN, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

3. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

4. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being concentrated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

5. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the heat of summer fires, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a series of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if need be, improvements made in one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. The inventor, from the beginning, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the plates of the Stewart. He expresses complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE MAGEE PARLOR

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the few may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1861.

☞ The telegraph reports that Dr. H. S. Bradley, formerly of New York, and who was at Bull Run as a surveyor in the 2d Alabama regiment, has arrived at Washington. He attempted to escape, the day of the battle, but was detected. Sept. 25 he was released, and sent to New Orleans en route North. He reports at New Orleans, Oct. 1st., guns had been mounted on the Custom House and Levee, and on such buildings as were deemed strong enough.

A number of gunboats were placed on Lake Ponchartain, to repel an attack in that direction. The planters were dissatisfied with the refusal of the rebel government to allow cotton access to market.

☞ The Baltimore Clipper of the 17th, gives information derived from persons who came to that city on the Louisiana, from Norfolk and Portsmouth, via Old Point, "that there are in the two cities upwards of fifteen hundred persons, who would, if an opportunity presented itself, take up arms in defence of the Union. * * Union men openly declared in the streets of Norfolk that if Gen. Wool succeeds in reaching Norfolk with an army, he will find an accession of two thousand brave hearts in less than one hour.'

NAVAL.—Mr. Ellet, a prominent military engineer of Washington, proposes to the Government to construct steam rams with iron clad beaks, for the protection of our large seaports, in the event of foreign war. The Government is likely to adopt this plan.

Commander C. H. Pope, having asked an inquiry into his conduct while in command of the Brooklyn, in respect to the escape of the rebel steamer Sumter from the Mississippi river, in June last, a Court of Inquiry has been ordered to commence at Washington to-day, (Wednesday). The Court consists of Capts. Shubrick, Stribling and Sands; Judge Advocate, George M. Weston.

The chartered steamer State of Maine sailed from Boston, 20th, taking from the Ohio a draft of 212 able seamen, 329 ordinary seamen, and 61 landsmen, making 602 in all, in charge of acting master Kimball, who is ordered to report to Flag Officer Goldsborough.

Steam sloop Mohican, Com'r Gordon; gunboat Isaac Smith, Lieut. J. W. A. Nicholson; and steamer Ellen, sailed from New York, 20th.

The sloop Vincennes sailed from Boston for the Gulf July 20. Her officers are: Robert Handy, Commander; John E. Hart, 1st Lieutenant; Edgar Brodhead, 2d do. (acting); Edward F. Devens, Francis M. Green, D. Frank Mosman, Acting Masters; S. A. Engles, Surgeon; Somerset Robinson, Asst. do.; R. C. Spalding, Paymaster; J. H. Higbee, 2d Lieut. Marines; O. A. Batcheller, E. M. Shepard, Acting Midshipmen; Christian F. Anderson, Edwin Janvrin, Robert P. Swan, Master's Mates; Jos. Shankland, Acting Boatswain; Wm. Wilson, Acting Gunner; Augustus O. Goodsoe, Acting Carpenter; Nicholas Lynch, Acting Sailmaker; Thos. Wiezenthal, Captain's Clerk; William G. Wheildon, Paymaster's Clerk; Henry O. Stone, Coast Pilot.

CHRONOLOGY OF SECESSION.—Eleven States have formally seceded from the Union. The ordinances of secession were passed in the following order:—

1. South Carolina—December 20, 1860.
2. Mississippi—January 9, 1861.
3. Alabama—January 11.
4. Florida—January 11,
5. Georgia—January 19,
6. Louisiana—January 26,
7. Texas—February 1,
8. Virginia—April 17,
9. Arkansas—May 6,
10. Tennessee—May 6,
11. North Carolina—May 21.

The Slave States now remaining (nominally) in the Union are Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri.

☞ Teetotalism is now represented in England by three weekly newspapers, with a united circulation reported at 25,000 weekly; six monthly magazines, circulating 20,000; two periodicals for the young—the Advertiser, circulating over 50,000, and the Band of Hope Review, over 250,000; and two cheap quarterly reviews, together circulating about 10,000 copies.

"THE NEW HAMPSHIRE ARSENAL is nearly empty, as nothing remains there but the old iron cannon famous for their capture from Burgoyne and their temporary lodgment on the ramparts of Ticonderoga," —reports the Boston Transcript. Will its editor please state in what part of the State "the New Hampshire Arsenal" is situated?

☞ The Imperial Crown of England contains 1 large ruby, 1 large broad spread sapphire, 16 sapphires, 11 emeralds, 4 rubies, 1363 brilliant diamonds, 1273 rose diamonds, 147 table diamonds, 4 drop-shaped pearls, and 273 pearls. It has a crimson velvet cap, and weighs 39 oz. 5 pwt., troy.

THE REBELLION.

A skirmish took place on Monday between the Mass. 15th and 20th regiments and a party of 4000 rebels at Edward's Ferry, a portion of Gen. Stone's command having crossed the river and proceeded towards Leesburg. Later in the afternoon the right wing was attacked by a superior rebel force. Col. Baker was killed, and the troops under his command were repulsed by the rebels with considerable loss.

Washington dispatches state that only $800,000 will be sent to England for cloth and blankets, and this, on account of the absolute impossibility of obtaining an adequate supply in season from our own manufactories.

It is believed at Washington, that the Nashville has not run the blockade, but is still in Charleston harbor.

Additional rebel accounts of the reported sea fight below New Orleans, represent that a very powerful force was brought against our little fleet, but do not explain why they did not entirely annihilate our vessels. The Southern papers now assert that it was the Vincennes, instead of the Preble, which was sunk by Hollins. The truth of their reports cannot be ascertained until advices are received directly from the fleet.

There is also an additional Southern account of the attack on Santa Rosa island.—The rebel force was much larger than ours, but appears to have come off after all, second best.

It is stated that the traitors had totally destroyed the town of Humboldt, Kansas, by fire. It is thought that the records and papers of the United States Land Office were destroyed.

The Tribune's dispatch says a general order has been issued, requiring the soldiers to be exercised in heavy marching order for one hour daily.

It also states that District Judge Merrick is under the surveillance of the authorities, and that his pay is stopped. He is suspected of secession principles.

The Herald's dispatch says indications are that the rebels are in large force in the rear of Fairfax, and reinforcing the rebel army at Leesburg.

A severe gale which has prevailed, has somewhat retarded the great expedition fitting out at Fortress Monroe.

The rebels under Thompson and Lowe, numbering 5000, have been routed at Fredericktown, Mo., by the Federal troops. We captured four heavy guns. Lowe and a large number of rebels were killed. Our loss was small, and confined principally to the 1st Ind. cavalry, but included Maj. Gavitt and Capt. Wyman.

Accounts from the Upper Potomac, Tuesday, state that our troops had returned to their positions in far better order than was anticipated, and held the Virginia side of the river.

Flag officer Craven reports that the Potomac is effectually closed.

Gen. Harney is at Washington, but it is reported he will soon be assigned to active service.

Judge Merrick is guarded by soldiers, in his own house. The arrest was occasioned by proceedings in a recent habeas corpus case.

Gen. Todd has been assigned to the command of the Federal forces in North Missouri.

☞ Monday morning, William Pierce, a young man recently from New Orleans, who was arrested on a charge of waging war against the United States, was again brought before U. S. Commissioner Merwin at Boston. At the suggestion of District Attorney Dana, the prisoner was discharged on that complaint. He was then, agreeably to an order from Washington, sent to Fort Lafayette, going in charge of an officer, upon the 11 o'clock train for New York.

CAVALRY DRILL AND SABRE EXERCISE.—Under this title, J. W. Fortune, of New York, has published a little work by George Patten, late of the United States army. It is compiled, agreeably to the latest regulations of the War Department, from standard military authority. It has been received by A. Williams & Co., Boston, special agents for the sale of Harper & Brothers' publications.

☞ Orders have been received by the President of the Pike's Peak Express Co., to stop the running of the Pony Express as soon as the California Telegraph line is completed, which will probably be in the course of a week.

Perham, the indefatigable excursionist, has arranged another excursion to Washington and we find the following paragraph in his advertisement.

I am authorized to offer the excursionist one hundred thousand dollars for Jeff. Davis, delivered at the Aquarial Gardens, Boston, before Jan. 1, 1862. For further particulars, see advertisements in Boston and New York papers.

☞ There is a "News League" in Aberdeen, who, it is reported, are about to start a paper, the Aberdeen News, at one penny.

FAST DAY DISCOURSE,

—DELIVERED BY—

REV. CHARLES BURROUGHS, D. D.,

—AT THE—

Unitarian Church, Portsmouth, Sept. 26, '61.

Continued.

There must be the strongest enthusiasm in this glorious cause. We must be undivided in heart and action. We must be ready to sacrifice life, property, and everything but principle, to save our country. Everything dearer than life is now at stake with us. There must be no misgivings. There must be no compromise with the enemies of our Union. Nor must there be compromise with traitors or treason. The Constitution and law must have absolute and un cstricted power. Rebellion must be crushed, that it rise not again, and that State rights must not war against the government, and that accession must ever be considered as an overt act of rebellion; else this magnificent government must be overthrown, and we must stand before the world as a painful and awful demonstration of the failure and entire inefficiency and folly of a republican government.

Those who administer the General Government must have our confidence. He who presides over our country as our chief executive officer, has acted with wisdom and energy, possesses an intrepid and firm spirit, has at heart exclusively the interests of the nation, holds not his post for gain or glory; and undisturbed, uninfluenced by temptation, difficulties and assaults, he has fearlessly laabored for his country's good. To censure and oppose him at this hour, unless indisputably proved to be faithless and wrong, weakens our nation's defence, and wars against our political welfare. This is too solemn an hour to speak evil of our rulers. We gladly commend the other high and distinguished officers of our administration. They have been wise, determined, bold and united, in this evil day. They have resisted manfully and gloriously the treasonable attempts to obstruct and destroy the national councils and decisions; and their momentous duties, in defiance of all cavils, have been ably and conscientiously discharged. They have proved themselves true and faithful, independent and loyal. They should be most cordially encouraged, and sustained, and commended; and nothing should fall from the lips of a true friend to the Union, but defence and justification of their measures for our national independence, honor and liberty.

How gloriously should we rally around the star spangled national banner, which waves over our land. It had a glorious origin. An escutcheon with stripes of red and white is to be seen in Great Brighton, Northamptonshire, on a stone, which covers the remains of Lawrence Washington, the ancestor of the father of our country. Congress, in 1777, adopted a flag of thirteen alternate stripes of red and white, the old St. George's ensign without the cross, discarded by Endicott. The stars were afterwards added. As this banner spreads in the freedom of the breeze, it throws out its folds as a pavilion of universal protection. As its azure field is displayed, it tells us that it shall be our nation's canopy, like the vaulted heaven of omnipotent love. As the galaxy of the stars in the blue field send forth their lustre, they tell us that there is yet a galaxy of States, which never shall leave their orbits round our central government, and will forever utter forth a glorious voice, forever singing as they shine that our union is decreed to be perpetual.

"Flag of the free hearts! only home,
By angel hands to valor given,
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And all thy hues were born in heaven.
Forever float that standard sheet,
Where first it met the foe, but falls before us!
With freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And freedom's banner streaming o'er us!"

At such a time as this, when the salvation of our country is dependent on the patriotism, self-devotion and self-sacrifice of those who have come to our rescue in the season of danger, let us not neglect the imperative duty of this hour, in dispensing to them the language of eulogy and gratitude. It is a glorious thing, that so many have willingly offered themselves. We never can sufficiently honor them for their sacrifice to our noble and just cause. The ancient laws of Greece decreed an eulogy to all who sacrificed their lives in fighting for their country. Pericles delivered a funeral oration for the Athenians slain in battle. He said, 'that thus bestowing their lives on the public, they have every one received a praise that will never decay, a sepulchre that will always be most illustrious,—not that in which their bones lie mouldering, but that in which their fame is preserved, to be on every occasion when honor is the employ of either word or act, eternally remembered. This whole earth is the sepulchre of illustrious men; nor is it the inscription on the columns in their native soil alone, that show their merit; but the memorial of them, better that all inscriptions, in every foreign nation, reposited more durably in universal remembrance than on their own tombs.'

It is a debt of justice to pay superior honors to men who have devoted their lives in fighting for their country. At the battle of Chironeæa, where so many Greeks perished, the great Demosthenes was appointed to deliver the funeral oration. Can we, then, be silent about our valorous fellow-countrymen, who have fallen martyrs to their country in the present civil war? Could their virtues and sacrifices be known, they would astonish the world. The noblest proof of patriotism is to die for one's country. How many noble spirits, of whom the world was not worthy, yielding the endearments of home, have shed their blood on the battlefield, in consecration of their native soil? How can we estimate their chivalry and martyrlike patriotism? What should we, who are sitting at home in ease and luxury, think and feel if we were in the midst of conflict of arms, the vollies of artillery, and the carnage of cannon-balls and shells? The slain are over our land in countless sepulchres, and they cause everywhere the voice of mourning. Where, then, are your trophies to patriotism, your mausoleums to the martyred soldiers, your homage and sympathies for heart-broken mothers and sisters, for the father, agonized at the lifeless body of a darling and devoted son, and children mourning that they know no more a father's love?

"For them no more the blazing hearth shall burn,
Or busy house-wife ply her evening care;
No children run to lisp their sire's return,
Or climb his knees, the envied kiss to share."

Bless God for every man that goes out against our foes. Bless God for every willing victim to liberty. Pour forth your gratitude to heaven for every valiant spirit that has been on our side engaged in this war. Write the names of all slaughtered soldiers on the monuments of your country's fame. Go to the tent or hospital of the wounded soldier; pour oil and wine into his wounds; send your sympathies and alms to his family; write on enduring tablets in letters of glory, the name of every victim to his country's cause.

"Now sleep the brave, who sink to rest,
By all their country's wishes blessed!
By fairy hands their knell is rung,
By forms unseen their dirge is sung:
There honor comes, a pilgrim gray,
To bless the turf that wraps their clay;
And freedom shall awhile repair
To dwell, a weeping hermit, there."

Let it be stated that dreadful as it is to lose so many of our precious fellow-countrymen in battle, to stand before the world under the degrading circumstances of a civil war, to feel as if everything dear to us in our hopes and pride were gone; yet all is not gone—

What though the field be lost?
All is not lost. The unconquerable will,
And courage never to submit or yield,
Shall ne'er be lost."

There live within us, undying patriotism and glorious hope, and the assurance that immediate and perpetual fame is to be the portion of our country. We are not to be ruined by this evil. It is to develop some great principle, to introduce some effectual checks and safeguards in our Constitution, to produce a more healthful condition of trade and commerce; to show us the necessity of a more decided reverence for religion in order to secure the divine blessing and the stability of our government; to purify us from all political corruption; to remove all prejudices and party spirit; attach us more closely to our country; make us more pure, faithful and devoted citizens, and enlighten us about the inestimable preciousness of peace.

We desire peace; but we would not have it at a sacrifice of principle. We would have a peace that shall be honorably and nobly gained, such as our posterity and all heroic and great men shall approve. How can we esteem as peace that mere suspension of hostilities, by which our honor and constitution shall be sullied? We have had sad defeats. They do not dishearten our energies, but only strengthen us with greater discretion and valor. Onward, should be the countersign of our nation. Has we only open and avowed enemies, we should know where to direct all our efforts, but around us in every direction are treacherous spirits which often defeat our purposes. We wait for the hour when we shall have clear evidence who are the pure spirits of the country, and to whom we shall look as our bulwarks, fortresses, and champions. If some of those noble men should by victories or sublime counsel effect our peace, we should fervently bless God, and hail them as our greatest benefactors.

"Oh Peace, thou source and soul of social life,
Blest be the man divine, who gives us thee,
Who sheathes the murderous blade; the deadly gun
Into the well-piled armory returns;
And every vigor from the work of death,
To grateful industry converting, makes
The country flourish and the city smile.
Nor joys one land alone: his praise extends Far as the sun rolls the diffusive day;
Far as the breeze can bear the gifts of peace,
Till all the happy nations catch the song."

This rebellion is in the hand of God,—some mysterious purpose to solve the great problem which God is working out in relation to slavery,—a problem in which mercy and justice will meet together, and the colored race shall know the blessings of civil and religious liberty. This whole subject God has now taken into his own hands, as man has not ability, philanthropy, self sacrifice, or nobleness enough to settle it properly. This rebellion is not to disgrace us before other nations, or to diminish the high estimation in which we were held in our palmiest days. We are just and righteous as a country, lofty as are our principles; decidedly firm as we are in reverence for truth and virtue; ardent as we are in enterprise; skillful as we are in science; learned as we are in knowledge; progressive as we are in the great steps of civilization; rapid as is the increase of our population; strong as is the tide of immigration; mighty as is our moral code, with all the majesty, power and beauty of Anglo Saxon principles and precepts, feeling, learning and independence,—we shall ever possess a lofty position, and be ever growing in national eminence before the world. Though sometimes annoyed by rebellions from envious and rancorous foes, or the bitter sarcasms of pensioned hirelings connected with a foreign press, or the sneers of mischievous scoffers in our own land,—yet all the great and noble of our race, the statesmen, and scholars, and divines of Europe, and all the high-minded of the earth, will look on us with admiration, praise and gratitude.

The text most implicitly demands of us that if we wish to escape the evils which we now suffer, we must humble ourselves, and pray, and seek God's face, and turn from our wickedness. This is a large amount of requisition on us, but we must remember that only by such a course can we be rendered worthy of the divine blessing, and that our obligations are light in comparison with the recompense of the healing of our nation.

Concluded to-morrow.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various popularized acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE B. RAYMOND.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that poultry could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your exterminator. Yours, &c.

The first test he gave it was in his barn, and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, unhesitatingly pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been offered before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,
(Editor of the Odd Fellow.)

S. J. COURT—TUESDAY, Oct. 22.

The case of Maria and John Pickering, defts. in Review vs. Ephraim, James and John S. Pickering was on trial. This is a real action to try the title to one-eighth part of the Cedar Swamp in Greenland.

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD.—On Tuesday afternoon, the workmen employed at our Navy Yard were requested to meet at twenty minutes before one o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements for giving the amount of one day's work each to the Maine and New Hampshire soldiers now at the seat of war; the money raised thereby to be appropriated to the purchase of blankets, stockings, etc., for those who have left all the comforts of home, and gone forth to lay down their lives for their country's salvation.

Accordingly about twelve hundred assembled at the time appointed, and a most enthusiastic and patriotic meeting was held, which resulted in the choice of Charles Stimpson, Esq., as a committee to see that the money thus raised, be properly appropriated. Thus not less than two thousand dollars will be raised, which will go far towards furnishing the means to make our soldiers comfortable during the coming winter.

It need hardly be said that any like call meets with a prompt and hearty response at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. *

BARNUM SOLD.—Some time ago a Yankee from Connecticut called at the Museum, and said he had a great curiosity "to hum," he wanted to sell. Manager Greenwood asked him what it was. Yankee said it was a cherry colored cat, and wanted a hundred dollars for it. Mr. Greenwood said he would not give him so much for it; but if it was a real cherry colored cat—not colored for the occasion—he would give him twenty-five dollars cash for it as an addition to the Happy Family. Yankee, after considering a while, said he thought, as cherry colored cats were so rare, he might get a hundred dollars for it; but as he could not, he would take the twenty-five, and have the cat at the Museum the next day. Before going, he asked Mr. Greenwood to give him a written guarantee that he would pay him twenty-five dollars on delivery of the feline. Mr. G. did so. The next day the "Yank" was punctual to the moment; but what was Mr. G.'s surprise, when he was shown a black cat, the Yankee saying "it was black cherries he meant!"—Porter's Spirit.

WE SLEEP TOO LITTLE.—If night, and not day, is the time to sleep, then it may be said that the general principle prevails, that the amount of sleep should be regulated by the dividing line betw. en light and darkness; and that this view may be accepted as the correct one, is determinable from analogy; it being true that animals accept it and act upon it in the temperate latitudes, which are supposed to be the most favorable for the development of the human organism in its highest proportions. Take the year together, day and night are about equal; and were mankind within these latitudes to live according to the laws of life and health in other directions, they would sleep while darkness is on the face of the earth, and be active only during the period in which light was abundant. As a habit and fashion with our people, we sleep too little. It is admitted by all those who are competent to speak on the subject, that the people of the United States, from day to day, do not get sufficient rest.

SEVERE STORM.—One of the oldest residents of Exeter, N. H., states that fifty eight years ago last Thursday, he was at Gilmanton, where occurred one of the most severe storms on record. The snow drifts were in many places, four feet high, hundreds of trees were broken down, and in one pasture twenty cattle were found dead—in passing the fields, the ripe corn could be seen on the stalk just above the snow drift, and the apple trees pretty well loaded with apples;—truly a curious sight for October.—Exeter News Letter, Oct. 21.

The best way, says Quilp, (with a sort of Hibernian mixture of sense and nonsense)—the best way to take the sting out of disappointment is to expect it.—As Paddy said, the best way to avoid danger was to "meet it boldly," so disappointment is best prevented by moderate expectation. Remember, says Quilp, that in this life disappointment is as sure to follow you as an unpaid washerwoman. We hope Quilp doesn't personally know the force of the illustration.—Post. *

A truce to all professing propriety, and a welcome to life as it should be,—life of geniality, of fun, variety, earnestness, benevolence,—the surest means to make it a life of christian usefulness. A man who hates terribly is infinitely to be preferred to one who is dogged and slow of temper. The man who laughs to the ends of his toes, is a vastly better christian, than he who only laughs when it is proper to laugh. Sour milk may make good bread, but its acidity has first to be neutralized.—Brunswick Telegraph.

Matthew Campbell, Jr., of the Halifax (Nova Scotia) Rifles, seeing a large sea gull passing in the distance, sighted his rifle at four hundred yards, and at that distance passed a bullet through the bird's body, and while it was reeling toward the water he seized up the loaded rifle of one of his companions and sighting it at the same distance, passed a second bullet through the bird's head.

Try this, some of you: Fasten a nail or key to a string, and suspend it from your thumb and finger, and it will oscillate like a pendulum. Let some one place his open hand under the nail, and it will change to a circular motion. Then let a third person place his hand upon your shoulder, and the nail becomes in a moment stationary.

We believe that, in fact, no salary has yet been voted to the Rev. Mr. Foote, recently called to King's Chapel. It is understood to be the custom of that society to suit themselves with a minister, and not to bargain about a salary—but it is believed that no clergyman ever had occasion for regret in the subsequent arrangement.—Boston Courier.

Perley always was a favorite with the ladies, and could find out their secrets. He says now that it will be soon necessary to fit up one of the rooms at the White House as a nursery.—Boston Gazette.

From Stratham 90 cents and from Newmarket Junction 75 cents.—Children under 12, half price. This will be an excellent opportunity to visit the public places at Concord, and to visit the camp of the 7th Regiment, which will leave the next day for the seat of war. BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensable to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

Saleratus, like port wine, can be made for almost any price, which is done by using cheap and deleterious substances.—Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is perfectly pure and unadulterated, and one paper will convince any intelligent lady that there is nothing equal to it. It will produce one-eighth more bread than any other; is much better than soda to use with cream tartar. Grocers and Druggists sell it. 3t

The Oxygenated Bitters, are recommended by Physicians in their practice. A distinguished clergyman, who had taken six bottles, by direction of his physician, writes us that they have cured him of Dyspepsia, of twenty-five years' standing. Try this remedy, Dyspeptics!

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambucci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

American Women.

America is justly proud of its beautiful women: but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my26dawtm

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather, thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely relieved, the whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE YARLKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by SHOOTING ON THE WING.—It is astonishing how unwilling young sportsmen are to believe in the principle that it is necessary to fire in advance of a distant flying object, for the purpose of killing it! They persist in the foolish notion that, almost on the instant of pulling the trigger, the shot reaches the object aimed at. Many years ago I was among that stubborn class, until convinced of error in a simple but somewhat extraordinary manner. I was out shooting one day, when a brace of partridges rose at a distance of fifty-five or sixty yards; they flew rapidly to the right, in direct line, one behind the other, at a space of about two feet apart. I took deliberate aim about two inches in advance of the leading bird, and fired; when, to my surprise, the hindmost bird fell dead, and the leading one, which was the object of my aim, flew away untouched. At the moment I felt so astonished at the result, that I could not recover myself soon enough to discharge the other barrel at the bird which had flown away. On picking up my bird, I found that five shot had struck it in the head and neck; so that my aim, which was at least two feet six inches in advance of the bird killed, was not any too much at the distance and rate at which they were flying.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire, so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 31½ long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time: The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire pretent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The double dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, set in the end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and air jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomforts usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, instead to the fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country for sale.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison with another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman the one named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the Stewart stoves in his house, but after long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

The rebel General Zollicoffer was unsuccessful in an attack, thrice repeated, on Monday, with a greatly superior force, upon Col. Garrard, in the South-eastern part of Kentucky. At the last accounts, reinforcements were hastening to the assistance of Col. Garrard.

Additional particulars of the battle at Edward's Ferry on Wednesday, show that it was more favorable to us than was at first reported. Gen. Stone was not repulsed. He was eminently successful, having effected his object, although at some loss to his right wing. Both wings were attacked as early as 9 A. M., but the enemy was repulsed whenever he appeared. At about 5 P. M., the right wing found itself confronted by nearly 4000 of the enemy, under Gen. Evans, with artillery. Gen. Baker gallantly essayed the charge in which he was killed. The troops were then ordered to fall back to the river's bank, which they did in good order, carrying off all the dead and wounded. Our loss in killed and wounded is estimated at 175.—During the night the balance of Gen. Stone's force crossed the river and threw up temporary works that render his position secure.

Gen. Banks is in person on the Virginia side, and has assumed the command.

Banks' army arrived at Edward's Ferry Monday night, and was crossing the river securely on Tuesday.

Indiana has not only been the first State to supply her quota of the troops, but her troops are stationed at more points than those of any other. She has fifty-seven regiments organized, and will, it is believed, soon have at least sixty regiments in the field.

The latest accounts from New Orleans report that the Vincennes was still afloat at the Passes.

The Mobile Tribune of the 11th, speaking of the Santa Rosa affair, says:—"The coup was made at considerable loss on our side, but doubtless the Federal loss much exceeds ours."

Gen. Fremont had finished his pontoon bridge at Warsaw, Mo., on the 16th. The river was very high.

It is rumored that the letter of the British Minister on the arrest of two British subjects was written by the Earl of Russell, or at least the terms dictated by him.

Trustworthy information says the only rebels at Fairfax Court House are the pickets. The roads are in bad condition from the drizzly rains, and in some places are impassible for army transportation.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says that Col. Wilson resumed his place at the head of his regiment, on learning that they with others had received orders to be in readiness to march.

Gen. McClellan left for Gen. Banks' headquarters in the field Tuesday morning.

Gens. Banks and Stone are now firmly established on the Virginia side of the Potomac.

The result of Maj. Wright's march with his battalion to Linn Creek, Mo., is thus summed up:—three successful fights, in which 68 rebels were killed, about the same number wounded, and 87 taken prisoners: 123 muskets, 15 horses, several yoke of oxen, wagons and many other articles captured.

Price's rebel army was at Greenfield, Mo., 16th, still headed South.

The pirate Sumter is still cruising among the Windward Islands.

FOREIGN.—It is reported by English papers that the leading Chambers of Commerce in France had petitioned the Emperor to recognize the Southern Confederacy. The Bank of France has lost specie to the amount of eighty one millions of francs during the month past.

The Queen of Madagascar is dead; she was chiefly distinguished for her bitter animosity to the Christian religion, and persecution of the Christians.

The Liverpool Cotton Market was excited, and prices had advanced 1-4 a 3-8d on the week. The sales of the week were 125,500 bales, leaving a stock of all kinds of 677,000 bales. Flour firm; wheat advanced; in provisions no change except a decline in cheese. Sugars and rice were both higher. Consols closed at 92 1-3 a 92 5-8 on the 12th.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— R. M. Rollins of Bedford has three cabbages all growing on one stalk, all full grown, and weighing together 16 pounds. The remarkable fact about it is that the three should come to maturity on the same parent stem.

—— The members of the Manchester Zouaves, of the 7th regiment, in camp at Manchester, have organized a debating Society. The question is to be given at the meeting previous to that during which it is to be discussed; but the disputants are to be appointed by the chair when the meeting is called to order. Thus each one will have to speak extemporaneously. Such an organization in the camp is suggestive.

—— A correspondent of the Boston Traveller states that on Saturday, Oct. 12th, there were 57 members of the New Hampshire Second Regiment in the hospital and quarters sick, at Bladensburg.—They, with others, are in the care of ten surgeons, under the superintendence of the brigade physician, Dr. Bell.

—— As the morning freight train on the Boston & Maine railroad was passing the Newton station, Mr. John Joseph, a brakeman, was thrown from the car by the sudden action of the brake, and had his arm badly mangled, two car wheels passing over it. He was taken to Exeter, where his arm was amputated by Dr. Perry.

—— The Light Battery at Manchester has received new tents of the James' pattern, with stoves.

—— Lieut. Conner, U. S. A., has declined the Lieutenant Colonelcy of the Fifth Regiment. Maj. Cook will probably succeed him, and Capt. Langley, late Adjutant of the Second, will probably be Major.—The several companies came over to the State House last week and were mustered in by Lt. Col. Seth Eastman; they have received their uniforms, a handsome rig of dark blue blouses and coats, with light blue pants and overcoats, and enameled cloth capes. It is a substantial affair, better made than any yet out, manufactured by Messrs. Lincoln & Shaw of Concord. The uniform intended for this regiment, made at Portland was condemned. The Fifth has a regimental band of 24 pieces, under direction of Mr. Addison Adams. It comprises a selection of gentlemen from different bands in the State. One of the members of the Band is the celebrated little drummer, "Jimmy," 14 years of age, who was down at Bull Run. He drums like a "Major," and ought to be appointed a "Drum Major."

—— The Patriot says it is understood that the Governor declines to commission the officers of the Ninth Regiment, for Maj. Gen. Butler's Brigade, until the other regiments are filled up.

N. H. SECOND REGIMENT.

COWDIN'S BRIGADE, Camp Union,
Bladensburg, Md., Oct. 20.

After a fortnight's sickness, I am once more able to write a few lines. Since I wrote you last, our First Sergeant, George E. Sides, has been promoted to be Second Lieutenant—which just suits the boys.—There has also been a change in the officers of the Brigade, as you will see by the heading of my letter. Brigadier General Hooker has been appointed brevet Major General; and Col. Robert Cowdin, of the 1st Massachusetts Regiment, has been appointed brevet Brigadier General. We have also had an addition to our Brigade; the 1st Michigan Regiment is encamped close to us, and is included in our Brigade, which now consists of five regiments—the 1st and 11th Massachusetts, 26th Pennsylvania, 2d New Hampshire, and 1st Michigan Regiments.

They have had two deaths in the Michigan Regiment within a short time, and I assure you it was a solemn sight to see the funeral procession,—the band playing a dirge, and a guard of eight marching with arms reversed, followed by the corpse. The coffin was covered with the American flag; then came the members of his company, the officers of the regiment bringing up the rear. It was a sight that made one think of home.

We are expecting to march every day. When they get ready for us, we are all ready to go.

Friday, Oct. 11th, we were inspected by one of Gen. McClellan's staff, and he was so well pleased with the regiment that he ordered one of the companies to be furnished with rifles. Company A has since received new arms. Since that the Brigade wagon, and everything belonging to the Brigade, have been reviewed by Gen. Hooker and staff, and he was much pleased with the appearance of the whole Brigade.

Since I wrote you last, Company K, to show their good feelings and their appreciation of his services as an officer, have presented Lieut. John S. Sides with a splendid Sword. It is the finest thing in the regiment.

Col. Marston is in Washington, and has been out to see us several times; but Lt. Col. Fiske is still in command, and the regiment is progressing finely under his charge. The regiment would be very sorry to lose him.

The weather is very pleasant here by day, but cold at night; and as our regiment is very poorly supplied with blankets, it is very uncomfortable. Some boys in our company have nothing but their overcoats to cover themselves with. C. E. P.

☞ A letter received from a member of the New Hampshire 4th Regiment, dated "Camp Walton, Annapolis, Oct. 19th," states that there were then about 30,000 men there, and it was said that other forces from New York and Fortress Monroe were to be united with them. The N. H. Third embarked on the afternoon of the 18th, and the Fourth received orders at 5 o'clock the next morning to embark that forenoon, on board the Baltic, formerly of the Collins line. No one knew anything with certainty as to the destination of the fleet. Yet the men were all eager to embark, and wherever they go will try to maintain unsullied the honor of the State.

FAST DAY DISCOURSE,

— DELIVERED BY —

REV. CHARLES BURROUGHS, D. D.,

— AT THE —

Unitarian Church, Portsmouth, Sept. 26, '61.

Concluded.

It must be obvious to you how much we need the virtue of humility. We have the reputation of being a people greatly addicted to boasting and vain glory, and that we never distrust our preeminence in relation to any of the characteristics of greatness. But if we ever boasted of the strength and union of our nation, what must we say now? Many States have issued the indignant edict of their rebellion, and have formed a confederacy. We cannot tread the soil, enjoy the commerce, or mingle with the population of those States.—Though our fellow-countrymen, they view us with malignant hatred. They show us no mercy on the ocean, or on their shores. They threaten with mighty legions the invasion of our national city and Capitol, and threaten to plant there their rebellious banner. Vast treasures do we expend to save our lives and property, and support an immense army. Does not all this cure our vain boasting and teach us humility, and warn us not to place too much confidence in any of our blessings,—not to build upon the shifting sands of a vain world,—not to think ourselves so perfect in virtue, as to be safe against calamity; but to cherish holy principles, to turn our hearts to religion, our thoughts to God, to feel our insignificance and unworthiness, to rely not upon human but divine power, to be assured that God alone keeps the city and holds the reins of government, and that only by our obedience to him can we obtain liberty and peace? Indeed, to live in the midst of this horrible rebellion, and not be humbled, seem wondrous ignorance and stupidity, a blindness to God's judgment, a rebellion against the majesty of heaven, and a fatal contempt of the hand-writing of divine wrath on every part of our land. It seems as if God was speaking to us face to face, as if he were pointing with his hand to the footsteps of his retribution, and as if he told us to enter our chambers and closets, our churches and parlors, and on bended knees ask for such humility as shall take from us the divine indignation.

Our next duty is prayer. God has prescribed this as the condition upon which he will dispense such blessings as we want.—If we ask in faith, we shall receive. God alone brought our evils on us, and he alone can remove them. He sent them to make us look to him. Some persons imagine that He carries on the government of this world as he pleases, without any regard to mortals, and without any reference to their recognition of him. Hence men are surrendered to their own worldly pursuits. They consult him not. Mornings, evenings, and even God's holy days pass along, and multitudes never consecrate them with any holy offices or recognition of God. Judgments come to teach us a different course, and tell us that our prayers are the wonderful machinery for giving a peculiar direction to the divine government.—They create the rain drop, purify the air, direct the winds and waves of commerce, send light amidst darkness, rule the human passions, counsel statesmen, aim the volled lightning, point the deadly artillery of man, turn spears into pruning hooks, scatter those who delight in war, and send to embattled hosts the angel of peace. If now, with penitent hearts and lively faith, you pray for the healing of our nation, you will do more to effect peace in our borders than all the forces that could be marshalled on the battle-field.

Another duty of this crisis, is to seek God's face. This means a recognition of Him; of His attributes; of His agency in all events; of his presence, and of his special interposition in all the scenes of life. We too often ascribe events to secondary causes. We speak of a conquest as the result of military prowess, without being aware that the battle is the Lord's. It is not the malignant spirit of the rebellious States that has caused this rebellion.—Look above all the legislation of the insubordinate portion of our country; look above all the dread artillery that made the first assault in our war; look above the thick smoke and the exploding shells of martial conflict, and seek God's face; and He will dispense His radiant smiles,—and will make of the field of carnage a fertile vale and dewy mead, and an enchanting scene of peace and joy.

But the duty most imperative is to turn from our wicked ways. God hears not sinners while engaged in their sins, and determined to live in them. The heart must be right in the sight of God. Our wickedness justifies all the divine wrath that we endure. The fast is indeed to abstain from worldly indulgence and the gratification of sensual appetites, and for a while from meats and drinks. But a Christian fast goes beyond all this. It is abstinence from sin; it is the absolute renunciation of it. It is a bitterness of sorrow at transgression, an abhorrence of it, and a dread of its consequences to our own souls and to our country. Under the command to turn from our evil ways, each man is to consider the plague of his own heart. Individuals, as composing the nation, must have individual repentance. You may be the individual who has sided in bringing this civil war on our land. Our neglect of prayer, our worldliness, selfishness, fraud, lying, malice, slander, unbelief, irreligion, and such like sins, are the real rebels of our country. Our whole people must mourn and turn from their wickedness, and become a holy race, whose God is the Lord.

Such are the duties prescribed to us in the services of this Fast Day, to secure the momentous object for which it has been appointed,—the healing of our nation.—That object will be obtained, if the conditions are conscientiously and fully regarded. God has said,—"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wickedness, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and heal their land."

He promises that He will hear from heaven, his glorious throne. Here is the promise of His attention to our requests.—Though he is all-glorious in his seat of majesty, and we are but worms of the dust in a perishing world, his ears will be open to our prayers; not a voice will be unheard.—The whisper and the silent emotions of a penitent enter into the ears of the Lord of hosts, as well as the dread thunder peal.—The rolling of the penitential tear on the cheek will be as dear to God as the rolling of any of the magnificent orbs of the sky.—The movements of our Divine ruler will have their sources from our penitential emotions. He is called the hearer of prayer; and when He witnesses the distress of His children, and knows what evils our enemies may purpose against them, we are assured that, with divine compassion, He has listened to our supplications, and accepted with blessing our prayers and fastings, as the oblation of pure incense.

He promises, also, that he will not only hear us, but forgive us our sins. This is striking at the root of our calamity, and purifying the very fountain of our malady. Such an act shows infinite mercy; as forgiveness not only checks the calamity, but places us in such a state before God, as to save us from other judgments. It is wonderful that our sins thus forgiven, should shut up the flood-gates of divine retribution, and bring on us the divine beatitudes.

God also promises that, by a compliance with his prescribed condition, he will heal our land. If it be not healed, we must suffer great terrors and miseries, and a fatal dissolution. God alone can prevent the ruin threatened by this rebellion. The numerous slaves of the South are to have a portentous bearing on their own destiny and on ours. In this mysterious rebellion, bursting suddenly, and with the fury of a volcano, on our land; affording no opportunity to prepare for it, we learn how, at all times, we are unsafe. Conspiracy, intrigue, fraud, base ambition, secret ambush, perpetual deception, have long been working these ruinous results, and have been strengthening against us the resources of the South. God has allowed all this, to solve, perhaps, some mysterious problem about slavery; or, by this process he may be maturing more perfectly our system of government. He has taken into his own hands the absolute management of slaves as well as of ourselves; and he will do all things well. While he has come out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for iniquity, we are to enter into our chambers and shut the door, and wait till God's wrath has passed away. Let us do our duty, and God will heal the land. Man can not do it. Counsels and compromises have failed. The South has organized a confederacy to overwhelm the whole country, change our laws and government, take possession of our Capital, and hold the country under a system that shall establish slavery and the slave trade. This may not be the purpose of all the South; where, doubtless, are high-minded and honorable men, who would triumph in the re-establishment of the Union. We are in the hands of God, and we trust that he will let the oppressed go free, and break every yoke, and so do it that every one shall glorify the divine ruler of events. We know not what may be the issue of our martial conflicts. The battle is the Lord's. We are not to trust in our own bows or swords, but in God's right hand and in his holy arm. This alone can give us victory. Some trust in chariots and some in horses, but we will remember the name of the Lord Most High; then shall we be as Mount Zion, which can not be removed. We are aware that "whirlwinds have come out of the South," that with all our confidence we may be in danger. We trust that our fasting and prayer may ascend as grateful incense to heaven, and secure for us victory and peace. Sad as our condition is, political health and glory will come from conformity to the requisitions of the text. We know not what may be the process of our healing. We are assured that it can not be effected by any compromise, and we could not be justified in adopting such a course.

The principles of right, justice, honor and constitutional law, demand that this rebellion be crushed, whatever it may cost us. We aim not at any subjugation of our enemies, but only to defend our Constitution and our Union, and bring all rebels in obedience to that government which they are solemnly bound to protect, and from which they have withdrawn without any justifiable cause. Our prayer is, that God will bring this contest to a favorable issue, in his own just and righteous way. May rebels lay down their arms, submit to our government, and acknowledge our union, on such terms as our administration shall determine. May the azure field of our banner, bearing the constellation of the thirty-four stars, all beaming with renewed splendor, be spread by every breeze from heaven as God's record, as his handwriting, that this national fast-day, like that among the Ninevites, in the days of Jonah, shall bring down on us the benedictions of infinite mercy. May it call forth a divine decree that our land shall be immediately healed. May hosannas and hallelujahs for the complete and perfect restoration and re-establishment of our union, soon ascend to the throne of God from every State and every tongue in this glorious country.

☞ Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock, Sch. George A. Lewis was run into and sunk, about ten miles outside of Eastern Point Light, by Sch. Canton, from York, Me., loaded with bark and bound for Boston.—Mr. Geo. A. Lewis, who was on board, went down with the schooner and was drowned. Henry Tucker, who was in the cabin, made his escape by catching hold of the bobstay of the Canton. He was taken off by Mr. Dowbridge of the Syren, and taken into Salem, where the schooner belonged.

☞ The ship Thomas Watson, which attempted to run the blockade at Charleston on the 13th, was pursued by our blockading vessels, and, as escape was found impossible, her crew ran her ashore and deserted her. Her cargo, consisting of blankets, salt and other stores, fell into our hands, and the vessel was burnt to the water's edge. She hailed from Liverpool.

For the Chronicle.

ACTIVITY AT THE NAVY YARD.—Probably but few of your readers, save those who are employed upon the Navy Yard, have any idea of the amount of work performed there; you will therefore allow me to state a few facts to show that there is one other place besides the Charlestown, Brooklyn and Washington Yards, where Uncle Samuel can get his work done "with neatness and dispatch."

Besides the Kearsarge, just set afloat, there are three vessels on the stocks,—the Ossipee, nearly ready to launch; and the Sebago and Mahaska, whose planking has commenced, and they will also soon be afloat. The two former are screw propellers, and the two latter side-wheel steamers, drawing about six feet of water. We learn that the keel of another steamer is to be laid on the ways of the Ossipee, as soon as the latter is launched. A large gang of riggers, caulkers, painters and laborers are employed upon the Portsmouth and Constellation, both of which will soon be ready for service.

In the gun carriage department, we were astonished at the amount of work performed in this new branch of government work. We were informed by Joseph Williams, Esq., the gentlemanly overseer, that fifty gun-carriages have been made, thirty-four of which were for 9-inch guns, ten for rifled cannon, and five for 32-pounders. Sixteen of the 9-inch gun-carriages were sent to St. Louis, and eighteen to Fortress Monroe. Besides these, there are ninety in process of completion, seventy of which are for 9-inch guns, and the rest are howitzer carriages. There are also twenty-eight gun-carriages nearly finished, which will cost $3000 each.

There are about 1700 workmen now employed on the Yard, and this force will probably not be diminished yet awhile to any great extent.

☞ We give in this morning's Chronicle the concluding portion of Rev. Dr. Burroughs' eloquent, timely and patriotic discourse, delivered on Fast Day, and furnished for publication at our special request. Our Weekly, also published this morning, contains the entire sermon—to make room for which, we have been obliged to omit much other interesting matter, as well as advertisements, from both issues. But we are sure our readers and patrons will agree with us, that the document is one which should be read and pondered by all true Christian patriots; and we hope no reader will lose its instructive lessons on account of its length.

☞ Rev. Mr. Davies, of Middletown, Conn., has accepted the call to the Rectorship of the St. John's Church in this city, and will enter upon the discharge of his duties upon his return from Europe, in May.

☞ Fine ripe raspberries, second crop, were gathered in the field of J. Johnson, Esq., in this city, Oct. 23d.

Ripe strawberries were also picked in the open fields last Friday. Dandelions and clover are in bloom and help prove that this is a "remarkable Fall."

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. But it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHFIELD, N. H., Oct. 8, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, which its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

The author will be remembered as the gallant young officer who fell at Big Bethel last June.

☞ Harper's New Monthly, for November, 1861, is received at Mr. Foster's Bookstore. Its leading article, illustrated, is a spirited sketch of Benedict Arnold. SYMPATHY.—Sympathy is a lovely and beautiful thing, for it exhibits the angelic part of human nature. We deeply sympathize with those who cannot obtain Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus, for they are deprived of one of the greatest luxuries the world affords. But we have no sympathy with any family who will use any other Saleratus, or soda, if this article can be purchased. We see most of our Merchants have it. One trial will convince any one. Their depot is 112 Liberty Street, New York. 3t

To Cure a Cough: to relieve all irritations of the throat, to prevent hoarseness, to restore to perfect soundness and health the most delicate organization of the human frame—the Lungs—use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. 6tdaw

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar:—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he went, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn, and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. HEWIN,

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and have the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulder, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Rheumatism, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transferring the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and it is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of the Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; where, however, there have been any slight indications of the old complaint, a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who continually to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL. Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Fine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and then restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bill bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness, it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BERNHALL.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the other they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to these, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The insertion of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and ample pockets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineha Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Stuart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be the stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that ever is found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and clear, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in the oven of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box, and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the performed metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last and last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

And the pieces constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country and sell.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and now found wanting in any particular. Yet, the Stewart has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Rush Scythe.

And now we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison with the almost well-known Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved, and fully tested Stewart (in universal use one of the old pattern); and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart;—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

PATENT COOKING STOVE,

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

OF CHOICE OPORTO ELDER,
For Physicians' Use.
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.
SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Elder, grown in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

The Washington Star says the expedition from Annapolis sailed on Monday.—Among the troops composing the part of it that embarked are the following:—

First Brigade, Gen. Viele—N. H. 2d, on the Atlantic; N. Y. 46th, 47th, and 48th, and the Maine 8th.

Second Brigade, Gen. L. L. Stephens—10 companies of the Penn. 50th, the Mich. 8th, and N. Y. 79th.

Third Brigade, Gen. H. Wright—New Hampshire 4th, on the Baltic; Conn. 6th, and 7th, and the Maine 9th.

The division and staff officers are on the Atlantic. In addition to these troops, the Star learns that quite as many more will join the expedition at Old Point, having been quietly shipped at New York, Boston, and elsewhere. Gen. Sherman arrived at Fortress Monroe on Tuesday.

Our loss at the Edward's Ferry engagement was 200 in killed and wounded.—Col. Baker was struck by one ball in the heart, four in various parts of the body, and three in the head. He was on horseback, in full uniform. It is said that 100 Mississippi rifles were aimed at him.

Many evidences of satisfaction and signs of welcome are displayed by the inhabitants of Loudon county, Va., towards the newly arrived troops of Gen. Banks.

It is said to be well understood at Washington, that the reports of the intended interference with our blockade by European Governments, are for the most part inventions of cotton speculators, or those who wish to engage in the same business.

The N. Y. Commercial learns from an English gentleman that Mason and Slidell had gone to Europe via Tampico, Vera Cruz and Havana, and that the steamer Nashville had not left Charleston.

The St. Louis Democrat states that Gen. Fremont has detailed Brig. Gen. Strong to take up all the unsettled accounts and contracts of his department, that everything may be searchingly scrutinized in reference to their final adjustment by the Secretary of War.

The steamer McClellan has arrived at New York from the Gulf. The rebel attack on Wilson's Zouaves was an utter failure: 100 rebels were killed and 33 taken prisoners. Our loss was 13 killed and 19 prisoners. Our forces opened a very destructive fire upon the rebels as they were leaving in their steamers.

The McClellan also brings reliable accounts of the fight at the mouth of the Mississippi. The rebel fleet consisted of six gunboats, the ram Manassas, and a number of fire-ships. Our squadron was at anchor inside of the South West Pass.—The Manassas drifted foul of the Richmond, knocking a hole in her quarter and stern, doing but little damage. To avoid the fire-ships the squadron got under weigh immediately and drifted down the river. The Richmond, Preble, Vincennes, and Nightingale got ashore on the bar, and while ashore were attacked by the rebels. Only one of their shots took effect, and that struck the Richmond on the quarter. They were beaten off by the Vincennes with two guns, she having thrown overboard the rest of her armament to lighten her, being much exposed to the rebel fire. Not one person was killed or wounded in the squadron.—The Richmond, Preble, and Vincennes were towed off the next day by the McClellan. The Nightingale was still ashore, but probably got off the next day.

The rebels have retired beyond Fairfax Court House. Leesburg is in entire possession of our troops. The whole of Gen. Banks' column has crossed the Potomac.

A Key West letter reports the arrival at Cardenas, on 16th, of the rebel steamer Theodore, from Charleston, with the French consul, and Mason and Slidell on board.

Rebel steamer Salvor, from Havana, with pistols, percussion caps, shoes, coffee, etc., has been captured and towed into Key West, by the Keystone State.

IN LOVE WITH EPAULETTES.—In a small town of the Lower Rhine, in Germany, recently, a dashing young lieutenant in the army gained the affections of a wealthy baker's daughter; and she promised him her hand if papa would consent. The parental baker was good enough to do that much, but made it a condition that the soldier-lover should resign his commission, and settle down in the baking business.—So the gallant lieutenant threw aside his gorgeous epaulettes, and gold lace. But no sooner had he doffed his uniform, than his affianced grew cold toward him, and finally rejected his hand altogether. She loved the officer, not the man. The poor lover was taken all aback by this, but rallied, and entered suit against the parents for damage. As he showed that the lady's promise of marriage had caused him to give up his commission, from which he had derived his support, the court condemned the girl's father to pay him a life annuity of 525 florins—that being the amount of pay he had resigned for her sake.

☞ Many of the newspapers have accused Senator Sumner of being an Abolitionist, and of this we think he is verily guilty, especially when we remember his antecedents. He was elected to the United States Senate by the coalition of the Abolition and Democratic parties in Massachusetts; and he was re-elected by votes from all parties, just after he had been assaulted by the bullies of the slave power, for words spoken in debate. It would be quite natural for him to hate the name of slavery, and to despise all who bow down to it.

The same papers also accuse Mr. Sumner of having falsified and misapplied classical and historical memoranda, in his late speech. Here, however, the doctors disagree. The Boston Traveller, in its Review of the Week, takes sides with Mr. Sumner, as to history and the classics: and proceeds to show that his accusers have blundered, and that Mr. Sumner differed from them, chiefly in that he is a better scholar and a more thorough reader: in one word, that he is right and they are wrong, as to the quotations and allusions.

The verdict is, then, that he is guilty of being an abolitionist, but not guilty of being a blockhead.

☞ The new North Congregational Church in Newburyport was consecrated on Wednesday. The Herald pronounces it "the finest church edifice in some respects, ever erected in Newburyport. The pulpit is the gift of Hon. Edward S. Rand, of that city. This catholicity of feeling in one of another communion is exceedingly commendable. As all the wood work of the interior of the church is of chestnut—natural color—with the exception of the cappings—so the organ in its recess appears like a beautiful, large, Romanesque latticed window of richly colored chestnut. "There are no open-mouthed pipes, or showy gilding, to take away the harmony of the general effect. The central ornament at the top is something like the celebrated Rose-window, as it is called, in the renowned Lincoln Cathedral, England. In the belfry is a fine steel bell of 1458 lbs. This large steel bell from Sheffield, England, was presented by the munificence of Josiah and Joshua Hale of Belleville. There can be entrance to the interior from the front and rear, by four doors. The large front doors open outward, as any door of a public edifice should. Let a fire begin in most of our churches during worship, and the doors inside will prove perfect man-traps."

☞ The Boston Commercial Bulletin of last week has two of its large columns full of the advertisements of Messrs. Allen & Paine, the indefatigable and successful dealers in Cloaks and Mantillas. It also refers, editorially, to the firm in the following terms:

THE MANTILLA CLOAK BUSINESS.—It is generally found to be the case that men who are smart enough to make a liberal and judicious use of printers' ink, who know the benefit of advertising their business, are among the cleverest and shrewdest men in other business matters. We have before had occasion to direct attention to the enterprising, go-a-head firm of Allen & Paine, the leading house in the wholesale Mantilla and Cloak trade in this city; and, to-day, present their Fall announcement to our readers. This concern is one of that class who are determined not to be affected by hard times, and who are shrewd and clever enough to turn all things to advantage. They were smart enough to buy largely early this season of such cloths as are used in their trade, and are now, therefore, in possession of a fine stock of goods such as cannot be had, owing to the fact that the mills usually making them are all at work on large army contracts. They have devoted much time and attention to the getting up of new patterns and styles of Mantillas, Cloaks, and Trimmings, and have now one of the largest stocks in the market. If industry must prosper, this firm who are up early, work late, sell for cash, keep the largest stock and most desirable styles, and sell cheap,—their business, which is now more than ever before, will show a gratifying result at the end of the year. Jobbers and country dealers are referred to their announcement in this paper, and their store 160 Devonshire street.

Besides this, we notice that the Bulletin devotes another column to an explanation and illustration of the extensive law and collection business of S. B. Allen, Esq., who has recently located in Boston. Well, Allen & Paine certainly deserve well of the printers and the public,—and we are glad they are getting due reward for their energy, industry and enterprise.

CENTRIFUGAL GUN.—Mr. D. Rood of Skowhegan, Me., has a gun of which he is inventor and for which he has applied for a patent. The power employed is the centrifugal force of the ball. The ball is dropped at pleasure from a hopper, and descends through a tube to the centre of a rapidly revolving wheel; within this wheel is a spiral tube through which the ball passes and is thrown through a barrel. The model on exhibition at Augusta, Me., throws a ball across the river and buries it in the bank.

☞ A noble and correct portrait of John Howard Paine, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," has lately been discovered in New York. It is believed to be the only real likeness of the poet in existence, and Mr. E. Anthony has published copies of it in the shape of a carte de visite.

☞ Mr. Gerald Ralston, the noted Colonizationist, writes to Lord Brougham a letter, in which he says:—

"I have great pleasure in informing your Lordship that the decision of the Federal Court in the 'Dred Scott' case is practically annulled by the present government of Washington. I have before me the passport granted to Rev. Henry H. Garnet, a black man of note, and of great distinction among the negroes of New York, given by Wm. H. Seward, the Secretary of State, dated Washington, Aug. 26, 1861, in which the Secretary requests 'all whom it may concern to permit safely and freely to pass Henry H. Garnet, a citizen of the United States, and in case of need to give him all lawful aid and protection.' This passport is impressed by the seal of the Department of State, and signed by the Secretary of State in the 86th year of the Independence of the United States."

☞ In New Britain, Conn., last week, some burglars who entered Mr. Dewey's house at midnight were heroically met by that gentleman with an iron "lifter." They fired pistol shots and Mr Dewey laid about him with the "lifter," until finally receiving a wound the gentleman fell and the burglars escaped. Five bullets were found in the walls of the room where the desperate struggle took place. Mr. Dewey's wound was not fatal. Mrs. Dewey alarmed the neighbors, but search wasfruitless.

☞ The Princess Frederick William of Prussia, eldest daughter of Victoria of England, is not treated well by her husband, so report says, and is very unhappy. Her's was deemed a "splendid match," but titled Princes under ordinary circumstances are not any more liable to turn out model husbands than common people.

☞ It is said that a fellow in Boston advertised that "to all who would enclose $1 he would send by mail, post-paid, a finely-engraved portrait of George Washington, together with an elegant portrait of Franklin, or either, separately, for four shillings." A victim sent his dollar, and received a three-cent and a one-cent postage stamp.

☞ On Monday afternoon, Mr. James Webster, of Methuen, Mass., 78 years of age, was employed, with the assistance of one of his neighbors, in getting in his crop of corn. The neighbor left Mr. Webster in the barn to pick up a few scattering ears. After waiting some time he returned to the barn and there found him lying dead.

A good many years ago, a satirist wrote the following epigram to a pale faced lady with a red nosed husband:

"Whence comes it that in Clara's face
The lily only has its place?
It is because the absent rose
Has gone to paint her husbands's nose!"

There is wit for you of the first water—or rather, of the first vinegar. Now, see how a man of sentiment can turn the same idea into poetry. In a famous tee-total song by Dr. Holmes the poet says:

"The rose of her cheek was dissolved in his wine."

A better example of how palpably poetry may lay in expression—in the diction apart from the idea—cannot be found in the whole range of literature.

☞ It is understood that the blankets ordered from Europe in August are arriving. 29,500 have already reached New York. They cost the United States 40 cents per pound, weighing five pounds.

☞ A nolle prosequi has been entered at New York, in the case of A. G. Faris, one of the crew of the pirate Savannah, and he has been accepted as a witness.

W. J. Brunsden, aged twenty-two, tied his legs together, and threw himself into the Thames, because his sweetheart told him she could only think of him as a friend.

The discharge of duty at this time involves the discharge of cannon, rifles and muskets.

GOD SAVE JOHN BULL!

"God save me, great John Bull!
Long keep my pocket full!
God save John Bull!
Ever-victorious,
Haughty, vain-glorious,
Snobbish, censorious,
God save John Bull!

"O Lords, our gods, arise!
'Tax' all our enemies,
Make tariffs fall!
Confound French politics,
Frustrate all Russian tricks,
Get Yankees in a 'fix,'
God 'bless' them all!

[Sinistra manu.]

"Thy choicest gifts in store,
On me, me only pour—
Me, great John Bull!
Maintain oppressive laws,
Frown down the poor man's cause,
So sing with heart and voice,
I, great John Bull."

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——William Palmer, Esq., of Dover, gathered from his garden, on the 22d inst., a mess of green Peas, fully grown. They were planted about the first of August, and were the third crop in success on this year. The peas remaining on the vines will probably be ripe in ten days, if covered up nights. They are of the dwarf variety, called "Tom Thumb," grow six or seven inches high, and are full of pods.

——Wecohamet Lodge of Odd Fellows, of Dover, has voted to invest $1000 of its surplus funds in the national loan. The Enquirer states that about $2000 a day have been subscribed to the loan in Dover.

—— Rev. B. F. Parsons, late of the Belknap Church in Dover, has received and accepted a call to become the pastor of one of the Congregational Churches in Nashua.

—— Rev. E. H. Legro, of South Tamworth, has enlisted as a private in the Sixth Regiment.

—— It is not true that J. M. Williams, who was tried a year ago for the murder of Vannes Wyatt, at Warren, has left for "parts unknown." It is not true that his bail was at first $10,000, and has been reduced to about $2000. On the contrary, Williams was at the court at Haverhill, and is now at home in Warren, where he has been since Wyatt's death. The bail at first was $7000, and remains so now, no application for a reduction having been made. The case has been continued till November next.

—— The Sixth Regiment is progressing finely. Oscar A. Mack, U. S. A., who was appointed to the Colonelcy, could not accept. Nelson Converse, of Marlboro', has been appointed Colonel; S. G. Griffin, of Nashua, (recently Captain of the Goodwin Rifles of the Second Regiment,) Lieut. Colonel; and Charles Scott, of Peterboro', Major.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION,

BY GOVERNOR BERRY.

In accordance with a most worthy custom, it becomes my duty to set apart a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise to Almighty God, the Ruler of men and of nations. In conformity to this custom, honored by time and sanctioned by religion, we cherish the memories of our noble ancestors, and offer to Him upon whom we are dependent for all good, a grateful tribute of praise. Notwithstanding the cloud of war hangs sullenly in our sky, and the clangor of arms echoes along our hillsides and through our valleys, and many of our brave sons have gone forth to meet danger and death in defence of equal rights, and of the Union, the Constitution and the laws, we still have reason to feel grateful to our God for manifold blessings. Our fields have yielded bountifully. Our domestic industry has been protected. Labor, in all its departments, has been amply requited.—Health has prevailed. Justice has been impartially dispensed. Religion and education have shed abroad their benign influences. The loyalty of the people to their country, in this hour of peril, has been nobly manifested to the rejoicing of every patriotic heart and every friend of a free and Republican Government.

I therefore, by advice of Council, do appoint THURSDAY, the 28th day of November next, to be observed as a day of Thanksgiving, Prayer and Praise to Him who is the author of all good, and on whom we as individuals, and as a State and nation, are dependent for every blessing. I do earnestly invite the people of this State to suspend on that day their usual secular avocations, and to assemble in their accustomed places of worship, and heartily and devoutly render thanks to the Giver of all Good, for the multiplied favors He has graciously shown us; to acknowledge our dependence upon Him; to invoke His continued favor and blessing upon our Nation, our State, our Communities, our Families and ourselves.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 22, 1861.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.
A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!
ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.
Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & CO.:—
Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

Read the following Testimony!
From a prominent Druggist of Portsmo., N. H.
PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1860.
Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston:—
Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.
Very respectfully yours,

☞ The workmen at Portsmouth Navy Yard have had two other meetings since our report, to complete their arrangements for raising funds to aid the Volunteers. At the second meeting, on Wednesday, Chas. W. Stimpson, Esq., who at the first meeting was authorized to nominate a committee, (of which he was himself elected chairman,) to take charge of and disburse the funds, reported: Governors Berry and Washburn, Messrs. Asa Gowen, Ephraim Otis, John E. Salter and Samuel Rowell, as the committee—which was accepted.

Spirited and patriotic remarks were made by the Chairman, Mr. Stimpson, and also by J. G. Prescott, Esq., Master Machinist, and Isaiah Hanscom, Esq., Constructor, which were enthusiastically received by the sturdy crowd.

At the third meeting, on Thursday, the chairman announced that the sum of one day's pay for each man, would be reserved by the Paymaster from the payment to be made next Monday; and requested any who did not agree to this, to notify the Paymaster. It is fair to presume not one will do so—and the net sum will be about $3500.

Capt. Pearson, the Commandant at the Yard, also informed the foreman, Mr. Stimpson, that all the officers would also contribute toward the fund—no doubt, a sum which will swell it considerably.

It was stated at the beginning of operations, that this movement was not to be understood as aiding a needy government—but only to conduce to the immediate comfort of our troops from New Hampshire and Maine, and show the loyal and patriotic feeling of the men at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Mr. Chronicle:—Quite a large sum of money was raised on the Navy Yard here, to pay the expenses of an agent to Washington, for the purpose of procuring one or more of the side-wheel steamers ordered by government, to be built here. That agent was sent, his expenses paid,—and from his own mouth no word has been uttered in the shape of a report. Those who put their hands in their pockets for his benefit on that occasion, would like to hear from him. Common justice, if not politeness, demands it; and that he will do so, is the request of Navy Yard, Oct. 24. MANY.

Messrs. Editors:—It is a good thing for the workmen on the Navy Yard, to devote the pay of one days' work to the benefit of the Volunteers in the field. It would be another good thing, for all office holders under Government here, to give a day's pay to the same object. Why not?

ONE WHO IS READY.

MAKE IT EVEN.—Mr. Chronicle:—Is it either just or generous—not to mention policy—that workmen at the Navy Yards should receive $2.25 per day and more, while we poor soldiers, who work much harder, and fare the best we may, do not get half as much? We think our pay ought to be as much as theirs, at any rate; and if it was, we would see the ranks of the Volunteer regiments filled up faster, and with better men, too. RECRUIT.

☞ If our city hasn't sufficient police force to stop the outrageous nuisances of boys beating drums and blowing horns in the streets,—then we respectfully recommend the Mayor and Aldermen to appoint a few specials for the duty.

☞ Another payment was made at Portsmouth Navy Yard on Thursday—and the third, next Monday, will square up.

☞ Winter is coming—we had quite a snow-squall on Thursday, about noon, and the night was really cold.

A CARD.—The treasurer of the Soldiers' Aid Society, acknowledges the receipt of fifty dollars, the donation of Commander Stephen Decatur of the United States Navy, for the purchase of blankets for the benefit of the army. Oct. 24.

☞ It is hoped that the Manchester Branch of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad will be open for travel on or before the first of January next.

DROWNED.—A man by the name of Albert Frisbie, of Kittery, one of the crew of schooner Edward and Frank, was drowned Monday afternoon by falling from a raft at steamboat wharf, Bangor. His body had not been recovered at last accounts.

BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensible to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

☞ To those of our gentlemen readers who will persist in buying their cloths and clothing in Boston, instead of patronizing home trade, in which and by which we all live,—to such we would say, that among all "the city's" numerous and excellent clothing and furnishing establishments, at no one can they do better than at Charles A. Smith & Co.'s, whose advertisements are frequently to be seen in the columns of the Chronicle and almost all other papers of note. Their immense stock gives capital opportunity for selection; and the magnitude of their business secures the latest fashions and lowest prices.

CHEAP EXCURSION TO CONCORD.

Postponed on account of the Weather.

An extra train will leave Portsmouth for Concord on Friday morning, Oct. 25th, at 8 o'clock; returning from Concord at 4.—Fare from Portsmouth and back will be only one dollar. From Stratham 90 cents and from Newmarket Junction 75 cents.—Children under 12, half price. Tickets may be had in the cars along the route. 3t

☞ The New-Hampshire Gazette and Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room. Price 3 cents. $1 per year, in advance.

SYMPATHY.—Sympathy is a lovely and beautiful thing, for it exhibits the angelic part of human nature. We deeply sympathize with those who cannot obtain Henrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus, for they are deprived of one of the greatest luxuries the world affords. But we have no sympathy with any family who will use any other Saleratus, or soda, if this article can be purchased. We see most of our Merchants have it. One trial will convince any one. Their depot is 112 Liberty Street, New York. 3t

To Cure a Cough: to relieve all irritations of the throat, to prevent hoarseness, to restore to perfect soundness and health the most delicate organization of the human frame—the Lungs—use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. 6tdaw

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

MESSRS. W. R. HAGAN & CO.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. Wm. BOSHARTL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a deranged state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c; and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every tissue and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although it has proved to be infallible in such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discernible, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and persevering-ly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole systems invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the incontestable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

Morning Chronicle.

SIGNIFICANT.—The published statement of the first quarter of our postal receipts, since secession, shows a decrease of only about $500,000 from the receipts of the previous quarter, while the expenses have been $1,100,000 less—a saving of over $1,000,000 in thirteen weeks. This shows where the leak in the Post Office Department has been. The Southern States have never paid the expenses of their postal service.

☞ The street railroads feel the pressure of the times keenly. At Cincinnati their earnings, the past few months, have been about 25 per cent. less than during the corresponding period last year. Their expenses, however, are ten or fifteen per cent less. The business of the Philadelphia and Boston passenger railways shows a very similar result.

☞ The Journal des Debats of the 28th of September has a lengthy article on the state of affairs in the United States, of which we subjoin the last paragraph:

America seems thus condemned to undergo severe trials; but, notwithstanding, one thing appears to us certain. Not only will the American nation not perish, whatever may be the result of this struggle or the horrors through which she may have to pass. Not long hence North America will appear on the theatre of the world stronger than ever, because there is no other race in the world having so much vitality. Neither is there any having so many resources. She possesses in a superior degree the majority of those qualities which cause the grandeur of nations to survive the most threatening storms. In ten years there will possibly be another North America—very probably the same—but this other America will weigh heavily in the balance of nations, just as France, a few years after the horrors of 1793, found herself more powerful than ever, despite of the sinister predictions which announced that the revolution was the cause of her irrevocable decadence.

DUTY ON TEAS.—It is stated that it has been decided by Secretary Chase, with the assistance of experts, that green teas are manufacturul articles, and coming from other than places of growth, must pay twenty-five per cent duty. The manufacture consists in the coloring process, from which black teas are exempt.

☞ Letters received in St. Louis from Price's army state that ex-Governor Jackson is at present very dissipated, and bordering on the eve of delirium tremens—that he often raves about the camp like a maniac.

☞ The Bermuda Gazette of the 15th inst. states that the English fleet in those waters comprises 500 guns and 6500 men. The French fleet comprises 210 guns, and will soon be largely increased.

☞ Rev. W. H. Channing accepted the call of the Unitarian Church at Washington, and will be installed at the beginning of next month.

SAVING MANURE.—The Trustees of the Asylum for the Insane, in New Hampshire, have constructed a tank 64 feet square, and 4 feet deep, which they fill with clay, marl and muck, and pass all the drainage of the hall, bathing rooms, water closets, and wash-house, through it. This material retains all the valuable matter in the water, and gives it a high value for manure. The tank holds 260 cords, and in six months becomes sufficiently saturated to be removed.

Bad for the Lawyers.—Joe—Sam, how's biz? Anything stirring in the law line?

Sam—Very quiet, very quiet indeed.

Joe—Why then, people have really stopped quarreling and gone to fighting.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The double clamp grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an inactive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and asbestos jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to MESSRS. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range,

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder any she't, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the parts constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and now found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Sickle Scythe.

And now we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison with another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewart, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE MAGEE PARLOR

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Aperient. It is highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Elder, grown in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1861.

CERTIFICATES OF CITIZENSHIP FOR COLORED MEN.—Mr. Seward has reversed the practice of the State Department hitherto, in regard to colored persons; and such persons, who desire to go abroad, are furnished with certificates of citizenship.—Exchange.

Only a very short hitherto! Mr. Seward has restored the old usage, of Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Adams, Jackson, Van Buren, Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Taylor and Fillmore.

Their old usage was reversed by the same power that is now making a rebellious war upon our government—and a corrupt court set its judicial seal to a base lie, in regard to such citizenship.

Mr. Seward merely reverses the lie, which has been told for the last four years hitherto!

☞ The changing season notifies us that life is changing with us, as rapidly if not as visibly. Our drouth has been washed away by repeated rains; and the frost, which had kept off so long, came in good style on Thursday night, Oct. 24th, making ice more than 1-8 of an inch thick. One of the old house-joiners informs us that in 1810 he was employed in building a new house in Newington, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 23d. On Thursday, the 24th, there was a violent, cold snow storm: the snow fell all day, and drifted, so as to make difficult travellings—though a healthy and hardy man, his hands were so chilled that he could not bring home some poultry he had bought and brought part way.

Extract of a letter from Cognac says:—"The vintage of 1861 will prove a complete blank, so far as genuine Cognac brandy is concerned. The vines, instead of recovery from the effects of the frost in May, have grown worse at every change in the weather, and it will not yield even wine enough for the consumption of this part of the country."

The Boston Post suggests, "We shall all have to take to whiskey."

Uncle Toby replies, Not quite all: for men who have lived thirty or sixty years without drinking a quart of either wine or whiskey, will hardly take to anything of the kind.

THE BATTLE AT EDWARDS FERRY.—The whole number of Federal troops which crossed the Potomac, at Edwards Ferry on Monday was 2389. The California regiment took over, men and officers, 689.—The drowned are about 50; killed, 30; prisoners, 300; wounded, 125. Total, 505. Safe 184.

The engagement took place on the height above the landing, commencing at 4 o'clock, P. M., and continued till dark. Our troops were drawn up on the edge of the hill, in a semi-circular field or opening, skirted by dense woods.

Two howitzers and two field pieces of the Second Rhode Island battery were also hauled up the hill and effectively handled by Col. Baker himself, aided by some of his officers, it being asserted that the men attached to the battery, retreated early in the fray. Col. Baker was killed by a horseman, who rode close to him and fired five shots from a revolver, all taking effect. The slayer was at once brought down in turn by Capt. Berriel. The same brave officer recovered Col. Baker's body, heading the charge of his company for that purpose.—When the order to retreat was given, an individual rush was made down the hill.—Only one gun was brought away. The scene at the river was horrible in the extreme. The rebels came to the edge of the hill and fired down upon our retreating masses. One boat filled and sunk, and those who did not attempt to swim across were forced to surrender. Many were drowned in crossing, and the rebels kept up a murderous fire on those struggling in the water. The remnant were gathered in a dismal rain on Harrison's Island, and the carnage ceased.

It is believed that our whole number killed was 79; wounded in our and the possession of the enemy, 141; missing, now prisoners and wandering in the woods on both shores of the river not exceeding 400. Total loss killed, wounded and missing, 620. This will be reduced by men returning to camp, as they are constantly coming in.

☞ The N. Y. Express says there has been quite an improvement in trade during the past week, which is an agreeable change from the dullness of the past few weeks. The West have purchased more freely, while there has been a better demand from the near-by and retail trade. Jobbers have been compelled to assort up again, which has induced more activity among the Commission merchants. One of the most important features at present, is the large amount that is sold for cash; and the trade is in a very healthy condition.

☞ Gov. Washburn has appointed Thursday, Nov. 21, as Thanksgiving in Maine; one week before ours. That is good: we can keep Thanksgiving in two States.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mr. Hamilton E. Towle, the scientific engineer who has the credit of having saved the Great Eastern, is on a visit home, in Exeter, at the house of his father, Gardner Towle, Esq.

—— Ephraim H. Dewey, of Nashua, has been appointed Master's Mate in the U. S. Navy, and ordered to the steam sloop-of-war Seminole. Mr. Dewey was on board that ship at the time of her late engagement with the rebel batteries near Quantico Creek.

—— The large dwelling, with two barns and outbuildings, owned and occupied by Oscar C. Burritt, in the western part of Keene, was burnt on Saturday night. The fire originated in one of the barns. The dwelling was one of the best in that part of the town. Its contents were mostly saved, but those of the barns and outbuildings were nearly all destroyed. The whole amount of insurance was $1,750—but $150 was on a small building not injured, and now occupied by the family.

—— Luther A. White, of Marlboro', died a day or two since, his death being occasioned by injuries received from the premature discharge of a cannon on the 4th of July last, while engaged in "celebrating" with a juvenile artillery company. His clothes were set on fire and he was burned in a most shocking manner.

—— The locality referred to being in this State, we feel fully justified in giving in this column the following brilliant production, entitled a "conundrum by a provincial," which we find in the Boston Saturday Gazette:—Why is the summit of Mount Washington like goods sold at a great discount from cost? Because it is not nigh the valley of it.

—— "Chestnutting" seems to be in great favor just now. Large and small parties have within the past week, been off on such expeditions from Lawrence, Mass., to the chestnut region in Derry. Some have gone as far as Chester, for this special purpose. Chestnuts are very plenty this season, and as a natural consequence very cheap, too, the best selling for a trifle above a dollar a bushel.

—— The knapsacks introduced by Mr. Joseph Short, and adopted by the authorities of New Hampshire for the Fifth, Sixth and Eighth regiments of this State, combine many advantages over other patterns. They are lighter than any other knapsack in use—they are carried with much greater ease, and the water-proof duck of which they are made is not liable to the objections against India Rubber or Leather.

—— The 40th anniversary of Rev. Dr. Burnham's ministry in Rindge, will be publicly observed by appropriate services, Nov. 14th. Exercises to commence at 10 o'clock A. M. A discourse and collation in the day-time—a Social Gathering in the evening.

—— A Convention of the Sabbath Schools within the limits of the Piscataqua Association, will be held in Rev. Mr. Butterfield's church at Great Falls, on Wednesday, Nov. 6th, at 10 A. M.

NAVAL.—Com. Samuel F. Hazard, recently in command of the steamer Pocahontas, and who was ordered to St. Louis, to take charge of one of the gunboats now building near St. Louis, has been recalled, and ordered to take command at Fort Calhoun, on the Rip Raps, which is about half way between Fortress Monroe and Willoughby Point. This fort is defended by the big "Union gun," of 15 inches bore, and twenty-seven other pieces of heavy ordnance, and commands the entrance of Chesapeake Bay. Commander Hazard will have subordinate officers and three hundred seamen. This important post is thus under the direction of the Sec. of the Navy.

The sloop-of-war Dale was spoken on the 16th inst. in the Gulf stream, cruising.

COLLEGE PRANK.—The Bath Times is informed that a lot of the Bowdoin College students were detected in an attempt, Sunday night last, to saw off and throw overboard the belfry of the College Chapel.—Four of the ringleaders were expelled on the following day.—Boston Courier.

Will the editor of the Times please inform us in what manner those students attempted to "saw off" the granite towers of the College Chapel? And if "throw overboard" is to be taken in a literal sense? and if so, how they intended to transport that granite tower from "the hill" to the river, nearly a mile distant?

☞ The New York Journal of Commerce says:—"Rumors of plots to destroy the Croton Aqueduct, and thus inflict a terrible blow upon New York city, have been in circulation for some time past. These reports have not, like too much startling street talk, proved altogether unfounded, although the acutest efforts of the police detectives have not been able to show what diabolical thing was contemplated, or who was to do it."

☞ The Newburyport North Church Pews—(or the choice of a portion of them)—were sold on Thursday. Those sold brought nearly one thousand dollars more than the appraisal. Capt. John H. Spring paid $300 for the first choice; and others from five to forty dollars.

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

GOFFE, WHALLEY, OR THE DEVIL.—The reader must not suppose that Uncle Toby ever had any personal knowledge of these three "illustrious predecessors."—But he may, if he pleases, suppose Uncle Toby to know something, by reputation, tradition and study, of President Stiles, who preached in Portsmouth less than a hundred years ago, and who knew a good deal about Goffe and Whalley, who lived a hundred years before that.

Goffe and Whalley were two of the puritan judges of King Charles I., who were concealed in New England from the vengeance of the crown,—and who lived in concealment and danger, as well as in exile, sometimes in Boston, then in New Haven, then in Hadley.

Abridging from President Stiles' curious account, to show the dexterity of the Judges as fencing, this story is told: "That while at Boston there appeared a gallant person there, some say a fencing-master, who, on a stage erected for the purpose, walked it for several days, challenging and defying any to play with swords. At length one of the Judges appeared among the spectators, disguised in a queer, rustic dress, holding in one hand a cheese wrapped in a napkin, for a shield; with a broom-stick, whose mop he had besmeared with dirty puddle water as he passed along. Thus equipped, he mounted the stage. The fencing-master railed at him for his impudence, asked him what business he had there, and bid him begone. The Judge stood his ground, upon which the gladiator made a pass at him with his sword, to drive him off—a rencounter ensued—the Judge received the sword into the cheese, and held it till he drew the mop of the broom over his mouth and gave the gentleman a pair of whiskers. The gentleman made another pass, and plunging his sword a second time, it was caught and held in the cheese, till the broom was drawn over his eyes. At a third lunge the sword was caught again, till the mop of the broom was rubbed gently all over his face. Upon this the gentleman let fall or laid aside his small sword, and took up the broad sword, and came at him with that. Upon which the Judge said, "Stop, sir; hitherto you see I have only played with you, and not attempted to hurt you; but if you come at me now with the broad sword, know that I will certainly take your life." The firmness and determinateness with which he spake, struck the gentleman, who exclaimed, in surprise, "Who can you be? — You are either Goffe, Whalley, or the Devil,—for there was no other man in England that could beat me." And so the disguised Judge retired into obscurity, leaving the spectators to enjoy the diversion of the scene and the vanquishment of the boasting champion. Hence it is proverbial in some parts of New England, in speaking of a champion at athletic exercises, to say that none can beat him but Goffe, Wralley, or the Devil.

I say nothing of a few variations in narrating this story—as that some say the scene was at New York, where the fencer staked and offered a hat crown full of silver to any man that should beat him. The place certainly was Boston, if anywhere, for the Judges never were out of New England;—and that the fencer discerned and recognized his master in the art of fencing, and desisted instantly, saying, "You are my master, Col. Goffe, who taught me fencing; you, sir, and no other man can beat me."

Among the traditionary anecdotes and stories concerning the events which took place at and about the time the pursuers were at New Haven, are the following:—The day they were expected, the Judges walked out towards the neck bridge, the road the pursuers must enter the town.—At some distance, the Sheriff or Marshal, who then was Mr. Kimberly, overtook them with a warrant to apprehend them, and endeavored to take them. But the Judges stood upon their defense, and placing themselves behind a tree, and being expert at fencing, defended themselves with their cudgels, and repelled the officer,—who went back to town to command help, and returned with aid, but found the Judges had escaped, having absconded into the woods.

Immediately after this, on the same day, the Judges hid themselves under the bridge, one mile from town; and lay there concealed, while the pursuivants rode over the bridge into town. The Judges returned that night into town, and lodged at Mr. Jones's. All this, tradition says, was a preconcerted business, to show that the magistrates of New Haven had used their endeavors to apprehend them before the arrival of the pursuers.

On a time when the pursuers were searching the town, the Judges, in shifting their situations, happened, by accident or design, at the house of a Mrs. Eyer, a respectable and comely lady. She, seeing the pursuivants coming, ushered her guests out at the back door, who walked out a little ways, returned to the house, and were concealed by her in her apartments. The pursuers, coming in, inquired whether the regicides were at her house. She said they had been there, but were just gone away, and pointed out the way they went into the fields and woods; and by her artful and polite address she diverted them, put them upon a false scent, and secured her friends.

THE REBELLION.

The Pensacola Observer has the following semi-official statement of the rebel loss at Santa Rosa Island:—Killed, 21; wounded, 38; prisoners 22, including Lieut. Cayre. The rebels had 18 Federal prisoners.

The Richmond Enquirer of Oct. 17th says Fairfax Court House was abandoned by the rebels Tuesday night, and the rebels in the neighborhood, occupied for quarters, burned, to prevent the enemy from using them. Trains from Manassas to Fairfax are busily employed in transporting troops and conveying supplies to Manassas.

It is reported and believed at St. Louis and Jefferson City, Mo., that Lane and Montgomery had intercepted Ben. McCulloch, or some one assuming that name, in his attempt to join Gen. Price and cut his whole rebel army to pieces.

Gen. Fremont is said to have discovered 160,000 bushels of corn buried at Warsaw, Mo., and delivered it over to the U. S. Paymaster.

The election for a division of the State as ordered by an ordinance passed at the last convention, came off throughout Western Virginia, on Thursday. The vote was not full, but overwhelmingly for a division. Thirty nine counties are included in the new State.

Our troops have not occupied Leesburg, and all our force in that vicinity is back on the Maryland shore.

Tuesday evening Gen. Sigel was about as far South as the rebel Price, and some 25 miles east, while Gen. Lane was only 2 days north of him. Gen. Sigel was endeavoring to cut off his retreat South.

One of the crew of the Jeff. Davis has been found guilty of piracy, by the Jury at Philadelphia.

Supposing the story to be true that the steamer "Theodora" carried Messrs. Mason and Slidell from Charleston to Havana, she is probably a very small boat, and of but little consequence, even should she engage in privateering. No American steamer of any note bears that name, unless quite recently applied. Were it the Nashville in disguise, she would probably have proceeded direct to Europe.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad was sold on Thursday, at auction for $2,000,000, to J. F. D. Lamier for the purchasing committee, and the sale has been confirmed by the Court.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 9, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and as rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I still retain the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 3, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston:—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia, in its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully yours,

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD.—The machinery of the Kearsarge has been taken from the schooner which brought it, and safely deposited in the former; the work of fitting it is rapidly progressing. The contractors have a large gang of men employed, and we are informed that by the middle of December it will be ready for operation. After it is completed it will be tested by a trial trip, before its acceptance by the Government.

MAKE IT EVEN.—Messrs. Chroniclers: Is it just or generous for Uncle Sam to pay workmen at the Navy Yard $2.25 a day, and to pay soldiers, including their board and clothes, a dollar a day and more—while we farmers don't get that, though we work harder, and fare as we can?

Do, Messrs. Editors, tell us why it is that the Naval Constructor gets more than a good carpenter, who works harder: why the carpenter gets more than a laborer, who works harder still: why the Commodore gets more than the Porter of the Yard; and finally, why Gen. Scott and the President get higher pay than private soldiers, and workingmen who always go to town meeting? AGRARIAN.

☞ The Boston Journal says:—"The liberal and praiseworthy example of the workmen in the Portsmouth Navy Yard, in contributing the amount of one day's wages to the aid of the soldiers, has been followed by the sailmakers in the Charlestown yard, at the suggestion of Gen. Boyd, the master workman. It is to be hoped that their action will be imitated by all the workmen in the yard, which would result in contributing about $5000."

Paymaster John A. Bates of Charlestown, who returned home from the coast of Africa in the sloop-of-war Portsmouth, a few weeks since, has been ordered to the receiving ship Ohio.

Mr. S. also has a prime assortment of choice foreign Flowering Bulbs, just right for setting in pots or out of doors, and which will assist delightfully to keep dreariness out of winter, or make it "haste away."

☞ There is to be a voluntary Militia Muster and Parade, near Barrington, on Tuesday, Oct. 29th, under command of Gen. Hoit of Durham. About 1000 men are expected to be in line on the occasion; and we learn that Co. C, Horse Guards, Capt. Burleigh, of Great Falls and Portsmouth and vicinity, ha e voted to accept the invitation to fall in.

☞ Geo. Wilkes writes an obituary on the death of Col. Baker, in which he says:

It was our good fortune to know Col. Baker well, and we had the honor to entertain him as our guest at dinner, on an afternoon in the month of August last. On that occasion when we expressed (in view of the recent disaster at Manassas) a natural concern as to the deportment of his troops, he said "Wilkes, I have some peculiar notions as to the part I am to play in this extraordinary war; and I want you to bear in mind that what I now say to you is not the result of any idle fancy or vague impression. It is doubtful if I shall ever again take my seat in the Senate!" To the look of surprise which I turned upon him at this expression, he replied, "I am certain I shall not live through this war, and if my troops should show any want of resolution, I shall fall in the first battle. I cannot afford, after my career in Mexico, and as a Senator of the United States, to turn my face from the enemy!" There was no gloom or depression in his manner, but it was characterized by a temperate earnestness which made a deep impression on my mind. Lo! before October has shed its leaves, his sword lies upon his pulseless breast, and his toga has become the cerements of the grave. Good friend! brave heart! gallant leader! hail and farewell!

☞ A duel was fought Oct. 15th, in Arkansas, opposite Memphis, between Messrs. Lanke and Chambers, both of Mississippi, and rival candidates for Congress. Lanke was mortally wounded.

☞ Nine grain-laden schooners were ashore on Presque Island, Lake Huron, on Thursday, three of which will prove a total loss. Four steam tugs have been sent to their assistance.

☞ Another pirate is afloat—the Sallie which ran the blockade from Charleston on the night of the 10th. She mounts one long gun amidships.

A PRUNING HOOK.—A man has been arrested in Cincinnati for stealing a box of prunes.

☞ Brig Granada, Capt. Pettingill, from Neuvitas for New York, was captured on the 13th, in lat. 33, lon. 71, at midnight, by the privateer Sallie, of Charleston.—The Granada had a cargo of 400 hogsheads of sugar, molasses, and a quantity of cedar.

The Sallie was formerly the schooner Virginian, of Brookhaven, of 140 tons, and has a crew of 40 men. She is commanded by Capt. Libby, formerly of the ship Gondar, of Charleston. When last seen she was steering west.

☞ The dwelling house of Mr. Thomas Stafford, in Hallowell, Me., caught fire early on Friday morning, the 18th instant, and the flames made great progress while the family were asleep. The members of the Augusta Band, on returning from a Union meeting, about one o'clock, saw the flames, and aroused the family—taking some of them from their beds while fast asleep, and thus saved their lives.

The Alleghanians—old time favorites of our public—are giving a series of their pleasant evenings at Hope Chapel. What with singing and bell-ringing, one can manage to pass a couple of hours quite agreeably in their company.—N. Y. Times.

SYMPATHY.—Sympathy is a lovely and beautiful thing, for it exhibits the angelic part of human nature. We deeply sympathize with those who cannot obtain Fitterick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus, for they are deprived of one of the greatest luxuries the world affords. But we have no sympathy with any family who will use any other Saleratus, or soda, if this article can be purchased. We see most of our Merchants have it. One trial will convince any one. Their depot is 112 Liberty Street, New York. 3t

To Cure a Cough: to relieve all irritations of the throat, to prevent hoarseness, to restore to perfect soundness and health the most delicate organization of the human frame—the Lungs—use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. 6tdaw

BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensible to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BURNHALL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely trans muting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is designed to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will in every instance effect a cure, notwithstanding that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discernable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the beneficial effects of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of the weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the invaluable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

From the Journal

PORTSMOUTH GYMNASIUM.—Exercise is the first requisite for developing the faculties which have been bestowed upon us, whether physical, moral or intellectual; and it is as much a duty to attend to one class as to another—to the body as well as to the higher nature.

Although the practice of gymnastics in some form is almost an absolute necessity to health and strength, especially to those who have become subject to the general proclivity of Americans for sedentary pursuits, yet the establishment of an institution of this kind in Portsmouth has, until within a few months, been limited to a private one with a dozen or twenty subscribers. There is now a pleasant, sizeable, well ventilated room, with all the necessary appurtenances, at No. 88 Market street, over the store recently occupied by J. B. Upham, Esq. to which subscribers can resort at any time, day or evening, for the practice of gymnastics. The institution is quite complete in its parts, comprising parallel and horizontal bars, ladders, poles, weights, gymnastic swings, lifting apparatus, vaulting horse, sets of dumb bells, Indian clubs, boxing gloves, foils, and indeed, arrangements for pulling, lifting, jumping, turning, pushing, hanging, carrying, &c. so as to develop every muscle of the human body to its fullest extent. See advertisement.

An institution like the Gymnasium is calculated to be a lasting benefit to the young man who attends it. It need consume but a small portion of his time, and will many times repay the slight annual expense. Half an hour every day spent in vigorous exercise will make life tenfold happier, and the man a vastly more valuable member of society.

PISCATAQUA BATH.—It was with great regret that we chronicled last week the destruction by fire of one of our public institutions, which if it has not occupied so prominent a place in the eyes of men as the churches and school-houses, yet has deserved to be ranked close along side of them by all who believe that "cleanliness is next to godliness." The Floating Bath, which was burnt on Thursday evening by some malicious or reckless scamp, was projected in 1855 by a few gentlemen who had long taken notice of the lack of such a place where boys could with safety learn the art of swimming, and where adults could with comfort and decency enjoy the luxury of a plunge in the beautiful river which encircles our town.—They obtained subscriptions by which they were enabled to construct a bath-house, which if far inferior to the celebrated baths of Trajan in elegance and costly splendor, yet has been sufficient to give satisfaction to those who estimate a thing according to its real value, and not by its factitious associations. An act of incorporation was obtained in 1856, and the "Piscataqua Bath" became an "institution." Since that time every summer has seen more or less of those who have here first learned that art which Dr. Franklin esteemed "so essential for all men to learn in their youth," and by teaching which he once had some idea of making his living—and every "heated term" has found those who here sought refreshment, while even the coldest weather has not at all times deterred the zealous bather from taking a plunge in the icy wave.

Although we understand that for the last year or two the establishment has not been so much patronized as formerly, we trust that the directors will be encouraged by the appearance of spring to re-build the house, and even to enlarge it so as to give, what is very much needed, a place where ladies can get a bath in the salt water.

RARE FRUIT.—In the garden of Dr. W. R. Preston in this city, is a Bear tree of the Passe Colmar variety, which for the last eight years has regularly produced three crops of Pears—or rather has had three seasons of blooming, June, July and August. We saw this week some of the first product, which weighed one 14 and the other 13 ounces, a weight which these pears rarely attain. Pears from the second crop of blossoms were gathered with them which weighed 4 ounces.—The third series were also perfect pears, which weighed an ounce each. They were on exhibition in Boston last Thursday.

The Ladies of the Soldier's Aid Society would give notice that their rooms in the Custom House will be opened from the 10th to the 15th of next month for the purpose of packing Hospital stores for the Volunteers, and an opportunity will be offered for any contributions either of Blankets, Bedding, good knit Socks, or Clothing of any suitable kind. Stores for the sick, such as Farina, Cocoa, Dried Fruits, Jellies, Wines, Sago, &c. Also reading matter in the shape of Books, and Pamphlets, all of which would be very acceptable and continue to be much needed. All articles will be carefully packed and forwarded to suit the wishes of the donors.

LADIES' AID.—A box containing 24 pairs of blankets, other bedding, a large quantity of socks, and the garments, hospital stores, books, &c. collected by Miss Lizzie Chamberlain, was forwarded through Dr. Howe of Boston to Washington this week. Another box is being filled, and any articles sent to the residence of Mrs. F. W. Fernald in Court street, will be carefully attended to. Miss C. is deserving of much credit for her efforts, and to the ladies of Portsmouth is due much credit for the prompt response to the call made upon them.

NAVY AGENCY.—The office of the Navy Agent has been removed to the more convenient room over Benj. Chesver's store, in Market street.—There probably has never been a time since the establishment of the government, that so much business has been brought through this office.—Mr. Tullock has business capacities adequate to the position he occupies.

CITY COUNCIL.—In the Board of Aldermen, on Thursday evening, a proposition to give the City about two feet of land in front of the residence of the late Alexander Ladd on Market street, on certain conditions, was referred to the Committee on Streets, the Mayor added, with power to act.

A Washington correspondent says the German soldiers have christened the rebel earth-works back of Munson's Hill, Fort Skedaddle. Skedaddle means "to cut stick," "vamose the ranche," or "clear out." So that Fort Skadaddle is equivalent to "Fort Runaway."

disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and disturbs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the system, producing general derangement, and ultimately, sometimes, serious results. While in this condition, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, take AYER'S PILLS, and see how speedily they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in some of the deep-seated and dangerous diseases. The same purgative effect expels them. Coming by similar channels into and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills will neglect to employ them whenever any of the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known points per annum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Mo. 1, 1857.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little children of almost sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her face and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of your gems. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than to say of them in our first with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER, Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the most headache any body ever knew by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PRESLEY, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as aperient, but I find their beneficial effect upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of Bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely believe that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1855.

DR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their prompt acting action on the liver is quick and decided, and consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have found them beneficial in cases of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Respectfully yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhea, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their admirable qualities recommend them as an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhoea. They supersede castor oil, which they equal in quickness and efficacy, and are much more agreeable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I collect under my care in Boston. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the foundation of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of your remedies have half the efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your Pills effect that organ and cure the disease.

From Rev. E. Smart, Physician and Minister, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent preventives of the sufferings arising when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very efficacious to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hendee, of the Methodist Episc. Church

PULASKI HOTEL, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which I thought would be incurable. Nevertheless, by the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Richmond, Dr. Rockwell, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SERGT. CHARGES, Sabine Rouge, La., 1 Dec. 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured of your Pills, of chronic Gout—a painful disease that has afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury which, although a valuable remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. Those which do contain it, or mineral substances whatever, are not offered by us.

☞ One, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

HOUSE FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT,

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or for the removal of a single plate; in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which reaches no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used more than once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and bake can be added I if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns for years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact, for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range,

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal.

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and burn, upon the fire, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off, to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, brought set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVERS, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no additional fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose may be subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "open-work arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it must burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements on the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And now we do not venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in a manner worthy of the almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the Stewart Stoves in his house, and never, for a time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished two more stoves for his same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1861.

A GREAT IF.—In a late editorial the Newburyport Herald says:

There is nothing on earth so valuable to this nation as Union. To defend ourselves against Jeff. Davis and his myrmidons, is worth a war of a century; but if even that arch traitor was in power to-day, and the country remained one, there might be hope in the distant future.

The country could very easily be made one again, IF the 20,000 of people in the free States, and the two or three millions of free people in the slave States, would only be so submissive as to let the slave-ocracy, led by Davis and Floyd, Mason and Wise, Breckinridge and Lane, govern the country as they please, making slavery the corner stone and crushing out liberty.

This great IF, however, was rubbed out by the emphatic No! which the Douglas Democrats gave to the slave power at Charleston—and which can never be recalled. They were tired of being ruled by that power; their leader had rebelled against it and was denounced by it; they sustained him; they are sustaining the war now; and they will fight until the rebels and their cause are overthrown. If slavery can live through the fight, perhaps they may not trouble it; and if it gets killed, they will shed no tears.

☞ The Boston Post contains an able editorial on "Our Generals and the People," which deprecates crude editorial criticism on our Generals in the field; and says:

The only possible result that can satisfy the public is a triumph; but to achieve this triumph, the officers must have men, time, and adequate supplies; but failure to triumph has been enough to elicit a savageness of off-hand criticism that has been disgraceful to the presses that indulged in it.

But it is not enough to refrain from criticism. If an officer is exerting himself with energy and well-directed labor in preparing for the field, it is but right that he should be cheered on by tokens of public confidence.

We have seen no criticisms on Generals Anderson in Kentucky, Banks in Maryland, Wool at Fortress Monroe, and McClellan, and but inconsequential ones on Rosecrans.

The Post then copies and endorses some handsome compliments to Gen. McClellan, and adds:

"But a like confidence in advance is needed for all our Generals."

This is very true—not only in advance, but all along in their responsible career.—And in this connection we introduce the name of Major General Fremont, who has been criticized without stint, and we may say almost without measure. Yet, at the present writing, he appears to be the only General who has driven the rebels out of a whole State. It appears highly probable that he paid double price for muskets and commissioned officers, without stopping to hear from Washington. He has, however, got no more guns nor officers than he needs, but he has frightened Price from the State of Missouri.

THE ENGAGEMENT AT BALL'S BLUFF. It is very clear that what should have been an reconnoissance, not in force, was, with entirely imperfect knowledge of the numbers and position of the enemy, made an engagement, by Gen. Stone's sending inadequate reinforcements with no means of retreat. It was very easy to withdraw Col. Devens's small force when outnumbered. It was impossible either adequately to reinforce or withdraw, in order, the troops sent by Gen. Stone to support Col. Devens. In these circumstances it is not only unfair on the facts, but cruel to a gallant Senator just fallen, to charge this disaster upon him. It does not yet appear that he did more than he was ordered to do, or that he did more than to attempt to repel an attack of the enemy. His fault, if any, was trifling compared with the great mistake which placed him in that position imperfectly supported and with no means of retreat, in face of a greatly superior force.—Boston Transcript.

What is done cannot be undone;—especially the killed and drowned on this occasion cannot be brought to life again by any amount of grumbling. But every body sees now, that adequate reinforcements might have been sent in more boats—and that more boats for a retreat were very desireable.

In view of this fact, let us be allowed to say, that any regiment of New England men in a timber country, being furnished with axes and augers, would, in three or four days, build strong flat boats enough to carry themselves across the Potomac, with artillery, ammunition, and horses to draw them.

☞ The Secretary of War on Friday promoted 20 sergeants to 2d Lieutenants, among whom is Sergeant Griffin, who served 20 years under Gen. Lyon, sharing with him the dangers of every battle. The only favor ever asked of Government by Gen. Lyon was the promotion of Sergeant Griffin.

☞ They have evening auction sales of books in New York, at which books, published to be sold for two dollars each, sell for two cents.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mr. Jefferson Hosmer, of Littleton, has a hen of the Shanghae breed, whose eggs are double yolks, and will fill an ordinary tea-cup, some of them being considerably larger. A portion of the time during the past summer, she has laid two a day, which were not larger than ordinary eggs, and single yolks.

—— Mr. Timothy Hurd, of Lyman, has a lamb of the Southdown and Leicestershire breed, which weighed 140 lbs., when five months and twenty days old.

—— Seven members of the 3d New Hampshire Regiment were baptized on the first Sunday in October, at Washington, in presence of the regiment drawn up under arms, and also of a large concourse of civilians.

—— Capt. John G. Foster, of Nashua, has been appointed a Brigadier General, and has been ordered to report to Gen. Burnside. The Telegraph says "there is not in the country a man more worthy of the appointment. He is one of the bravest of the brave, and withal a most accomplished military officer. His services in the Mexican war, and his connection with Fort Sumter, have given him a fame throughout the country, and the appointment will be hailed with satisfaction everywhere."

—— The N. H. Battery is practicing daily at Manchester, and making rapid progress in discipline and drill. It will leave for the seat of war to morrow (Tuesday.)

—— A man in Littleton has in contemplation the establishment of a great poultry house, in order to supply at all seasons eggs at reasonable prices.

——The Captain of Co. D, Fourth Regiment, in a letter to the Laconia Democrat, describes the experience of his company when on picket duty. He says:

"We flourished till evening, when it began to rain. However, the Captain's quarters being inside a hollow tree, I was dry all night, and so were those with me. At 10 o'clock the next morning, we were relieved by another company, and marched into camp, having all our knapsacks filled with fat turkies, chickens, tobacco, chestnuts, grapes, cabbages, &c.,"—these slightly dissimilar articles comprising the spoils of war.

TWO WAYS OF TELLING A STORY.—The Manchester Union, edited by Mr. Harriman, gives the following plain and true account of the late election in Ohio:

In Ohio, a Governor, and other State officers were elected. David Tod, the People's or Union candidate, is said to be elected, by 50,000 majority, over Jewett, the regular Democratic candidate. Vallandigham's district gives 3000 Union majority, which is a well-merited rebuke of his bald disloyalty.

The Portland Argus gives the following account of the same transaction:—

The Democrats of Ohio appear to have had things all their own way in the late election. Col. Tod, vice president and finally president of the Democratic national convention last year, is elected Governor, and his competitor Mr. Jewett, was also a member of that convention—both full blooded Douglas Democrats. If the Democrats can't crow over the result we should like to know who can? It is a triumph of patriotism and true principles.

It was such a triumph as Washburn and Jameson had in Maine lately, over Dana, who was the regular peace candidate.

The Republicans and loyal Democrats, with the Union men, voted for Mr. Tod, in Ohio, and defeated him. It is to be presumed, that the Vallandigham democrats voted for Mr. Jewett.

☞ The Pacific Telegraph was completed to San Francisco on Thursday, and is in fine working order. The first through message over the line was from Stephen J. Field, Chief Justice of California, in the absence of the Governor, to Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States. The enterprise is a complete success. Press dispatches and private business forwarded from St. Joseph, Mo., up to 12 o'clock Thursday night, were laid before the public in California on Friday morning.

The following message from H. W. Carpenter, President of the California State Telegraph Company, was received in Cleveland:

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—To J. H. Wade, President of the Pacific Telegraph Co.—We greet you across the continent. You beat us by a day or two, but we forgive you, and for it receive our congratulations.
(Signed) H. W. CARPENTER.

In Western Kentucky, where the secessionists are in the majority, the negroes belonging to the rebels, as well as those of the Union men, are all made by the rebels to believe that if Jeff. Davis succeeds, they will be made free. All the negroes, no matter by whom owned, are dangerously insolent to the Union men, and especially to the female portion of the families of the latter.—The rebels employ their slaves in sacking farms and running off the chattels and stock belonging to the Union men.—Exchange.

Would it not be a great pity to break up such a lovely nest as this?

OUR HARBOR DEFENSES.—We learn that the managers of the Portland Board of Trade have forwarded a memorial to the Secretary of War, asking that a new and larger armament may be placed on the forts in our harbor.—Portland Advertiser.

THE REBELLION.

"Another stupendous blunder" is the general verdict on the Battle at Ball's Bluff.

A detachment of U. S. cavalry broke up a rebel camp at Buffalo, Mo., on Tuesday night, killing seventeen, wounding a large number, taking ninety prisoners, a number of horses, and twenty-two wagons.

Reports, regarded as reliable, say that a band of rebels which have been infesting the country west of Rolla, Mo., are concentrating at Springfield. Also, that a part of Price's army has arrived there, and the balance is soon expected.

Another report says that orders have been issued from the rebel headquarters requiring all the Texas troops to march to Houston, the Arkansas troops to Little Rock, and the Missourians to Camp Walker.

Col. Boyd, commandant at the headquarters of the Federal forces, at Pilot Knob, Mo., announces that the proclamation of Gen. Fremont is modified by the President, but declares that martial law will be rigidly enforced in Jefferson, St. Francis, Washington and Ironton counties.

The Courier, of Bowling Green, Ky., publishes a card from Breckinridge, avowing his intention to resign the Senatorship.

Further reports from different counties in Western Virginia, show that a division of the State has been carried almost unanimously. The vote is not a full one, owing to prevalent disturbances.

THE NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.—A letter from on board U. S. steamship Richmond, dated off S. W. Pass, Oct. 14, to the Boston Merchants Exchange, says that during the engagement the Vincennes and Richmond grounded on the Bar, where the rebel steamers coolly took up such positions as they considered most desirable, and opened upon them with their rifled guns—keeping out of range of the broadsides from the frigates.

At about 9 o'clock the Vincennes was abandoned by her crew and officers, and a slow match connected with the magazine and lighted. But unfortunately it failed to burn, and Capt. Pope at once ordered Capt. Handy to return to his ship. At 10 o'clock the enemy withdrew. On Saturday the McClellan arrived with two rifled Parrot guns. On Sunday both frigates were towed off the Bar by steamer South Carolina.

☞ The Federal leader in the recent battle of Fredericktown, Mo., where Jeff. Thompson's rebel army was cut up, it seems is a native of Massachusetts. The Chicago Tribune furnishes the annexed particulars of him:

Col. Joseph B. Plummer, who commanded the troops at the battle of Fredericktown, Mo., is a native of Massachusetts, and graduate of West Point in 1841, when he entered the regular army. In 1852 he was promoted to a Captaincy in the First Infantry, and in that capacity commanded a company of regulars under Gen. Lyon at Springfield. He was a few weeks ago appointed Colonel of the Missouri Eleventh, and placed in command at Camp Girardeau. When, therefore, the forces from Cape Girardeau and Ironton met at Fredericktown to give battle to the enemy, his rank as an army officer gave him command of the whole. The troops under him numbered about 5000, with cavalry and artillery, and their success is represented to have been complete.

VIRGINIANS IN ARMS FOR THE UNION. Western Virginia has now in the field, and organized and equipped ready to take the field for three years, on the receipt of the requisite arms, clothing, and equipments, the following troops, viz:—3000 cavalry, 3800 infantry, 500 artillery—total, 12,300.

These are all in addition to the original three months' men lately in service, and make full 15,000 troops so far raised in Western Virginia for the cause of the Union.

OPINIONS OF THE ENGLISH OF THE LONDON TIMES.—A gentleman of Boston has just received a letter from a highly respectable and intelligent merchant of England, in which he says: "You complain very justly of the tone of the 'Times' in respect to your national calamity. Be assured that the unsympathising, bantering, depreciating spirit of its articles is as offensive to the best men here as it is to you."

BILLY WILSON.—The New York Express says that "so much of the information derived from a passenger per steamer McClellan, as relates to Billy Wilson, of the Zouaves, that he did not appear on the field till the fight was over, &c., must be taken with an allowance, as a strong feeling exists between the parties."

AN EDITOR RELEASED.—James A. McMasters, of the New York Freeman's Journal, was released from Fort Lafayette after subscribing to the oath of allegiance. He protested against what he was pleased to call the indignity of his arrest and incarceration, and also against being required to take the oath of allegiance.

THE USES OF PROSPERITY.—Prosperity has its "sweet uses" as well as adversity, for no sooner does a man come into a little prosperity than he instantly learns the number of his friends; whereas if he remained poor, the chances are that he would have died in perfect ignorance of the fact

MARRIAGE.

The distant brooklet's murmurs come,
Like bell-notes through the leaves;
And many an insect's many hum
Its dreamy music weaves.
The dove's last note, in dippling beats
Upon the air departs,
The breath of all our garden sweets
Is creeping to our hearts.

The russet woodbine round our porch
In clustering ringlets twines;
The honeysuckle's crimson torch
Gleams through the dusty vines;
The sunset rays are trembling now
Amid the trellis-bars—
They paint upon my darling's brow
A glory like the stars.

Her cheek is nestling on my breast,
Her eyes are bright with tears;
A prayer, half breathed, and half-repress,
My bosom stirs:
Oh! blessed be the changeless love
That glorifies my life!
All doubt, all fear, all guile above
My own true-hearted wife. —Dugane.

"Forget me not" is a pretty prayer, says the Boston Post, and as fervently prayed as any in the sacred Liturgies, and yet the world goes on forgetting all the same as if there were no supplication to the contrary! I remember (says Quilp) a touching little song to the flower "Forget-me-not," which the poet found in a book where he had put the posy years before. It was an incident too striking to be left unsung. So the bard wrote a bitter rhapsody on the world's forgetfulness, but in the last stanza he is obliged to confess himself as bad as the rest. He has forgotten the giver of the flower!

"Well—I must bow to Nature's laws,
For strange although it may be thought—
I can't tell who the deuce it was
That gave me this Forget-me-not!"

THE WORLD MOVES.—In Nankin, China, it is said, every idol has been destroyed, and the temples, with one exception, razed to the ground. The only temple spared has been converted into a Christian house of prayer. The Buddhist monastories have been dismantled and the priests sent to secular life.

Never was temper so reserved but it has its moments of unbending—moments when the full heart unlocks its secret fountains, and tells of emotions unsuspected, and thoughts hitherto concealed by the guarded brow and practiced lip.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptics, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & CO.:—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but found no permanent relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

FIRE AT THE E. R. R. DEPOT.

Our city suffered from another disastrous conflagration on Sunday evening, involving the loss of property owned by the Eastern Railroad Corporation. The fire was discovered by the City Police just before nine o'clock. It had been set in a pile of wood in the shed, just in the rear of the small freight depot, and when discovered had obtained but little headway. The officers at once gave the alarm, and endeavored to extinguish the flames, by drawing out the burning pieces. But finding such means ineffectual, they hauled out Engine No. 4 from its house immediately adjoining the freight depot, and as, by this time, quite a crowd had assembled, the engine was manned. Other engines had reached the spot, and streams of water were thrown upon the flames. This apparently so far subdued the fire that it was thought by many that the greater part of the danger was over.—But the flames had been carried, by a strong draft, into the centre of the wood-pile, and soon broke through the roof of the long shed, almost immediately spreading throughout its entire length.

All hope, therefore, of saving this building was necessarily abandoned, and the attention of the firemen was turned mainly to the depot and other buildings in the immediate vicinity. The small freight depot, near which the fire originated, was partially burned, and the remainder was hauled down. Its contents, consisting of furniture, groceries, &c., were nearly all removed uninjured.

The passenger depot caught fire several times from the heat, and the lower end was somewhat injured. The wood-shed was totally destroyed, together with most of its contents, consisting of wood, coal, &c. We were informed that it contained about fifty-five cords of wood and over one hundred tons of coal,—one gentleman, whom we presume to be well informed in regard to the matter, stated that there were over 200 tons of coal. A fine, stationary steam engine in the same building, used for sawing wood, was ruined, with its fixtures.

The blacksmith-shop, adjoining the wood-shed, was saved, though it was on fire several times. A passenger car, two mail cars, six or seven freight cars, and several platform cars, which were in and about the depot, were saved, being pushed by the bystanders beyond the reach of the flames.—The two-story building, owned by the city, and used as a Ward room, hearse house, and engine house, also narrowly escaped destruction.

The firemen labored under great disadvantages, there being but a limited supply of available water in the neighborhood.—The water in the North pond was very low and difficult of access, and the wells in the vicinity were quickly drained. A strong wind prevailed at the time, and had the depot been once fully in flames, a disastrous fire must have resulted,—hardly equalled even by the past experience of our city,—severe as that has been.

The whole amount of property destroyed cannot fall much below $3,500, if it do not exceed that amount. A large proportion of this loss will be covered by insurance.

S. J. COURT.

In the case of Goodwin vs. Varney, the Jury returned a verdict for the deft. The action was brought on an account for some bottles said to have been sold the deft., who is a physician at South Newmarket.

In case of Dennett vs. Dennett, a verdict was given for the plf. for $190. Rollins for plf., Hatch for deft.

State vs. Elias Taylor was on trial Saturday. The deft. was found guilty of soliciting Mrs. Mary H. Blaisdell, in Chester, to commit adultery.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—Bishop Chase will preach, and administer the rite of Confirmation at St. John's Church this, Monday, afternoon,—services to commence at 3 o'clock.

VEGETABLE WONDERS.—We write this item, entrenched behind a blood Beet, weighing 6 lbs., raised by John Locke, of North Hampton. This is flanked by a couple of olive-shaped Radishes, fresh and nice, just pulled from the garden of Jeremiah Johnson, in Portsmouth.

☞ Those rude and noisy boys, small but with unrivalled capacities for making a din, who congregate regularly in the Post Office, at the time of the arrival of the afternoon's mail, have become an intolerable nuisance, and should be "abated" at once.

An eastern paper says, "The greatest case of love is that of a youth in Kentucky, who got into a hollow tree, where he lived a week, peeping through a knot-hole at his lady-love, as she sat sewing a bear skin petticoat at her window."

LOST.—In going to the fire on Sunday evening, a lady's red SCARF. The finder will be liberally rewarded on leaving it at the Chronicle office. o28 *

LOST, on Thursday, a Fifty Dollar TREASURY NOTE, near the Eastern Depot. The finder will be liberally rewarded on leaving it at the Chronicle Office.

The official report of Com. McKean, of the late engagement below New Orleans, has been received at the Navy Department. It does not differ materially from the report brought by the steamer McClellan. Capt. Pope of the Richmond reports that the hole made in her by the Ram was two feet below the water-line, and five inches in circumference. He also reports that the Vincennes and Richmond are both afloat, and the leak of the latter so reduced that the small engines keep the ship free. It is only temporary, and the ship will have to go to some place and have three planks put in.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says that two English sailing vessels entered the port of Charleston a few days ago, their being no blockading vessels before the port. Lord Lyons now demands that they be allowed to leave unmolested, on the ground that at the time of their going in the blockade was not effective.

The Federal troops under Col. Curtin now occupy Fredericktown, Mo. Jeff. Thompson's rebel force were pursued 22 miles beyond Fredericktown, after the recent battle, when the chase was abandoned. The rebels left 200 of their killed on the battle-field.

An order from Washington was received in Boston on Friday, directing all officers on furlough to return to their regiment without delay.

☞ The Washington Republican intimates that the secession members of the Trinity Church are trying to get rid of their pastor, the Rev. Dr. Butler, because of his strong Union proclivities. This is the aristocratic church of Washington, and contains very many rebels within its pale. They have been very much dissatisfied with Dr. Butler's active sympathies for the federal soldiers all summer, and, finding that he will not consent to "neutrality" in this contest, they are now determined to dismiss him.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—On Saturday evening, Oct. 19th, the dwelling-house of Mr. Charles Neidthardt, at Castleton, Staten Island, was struck by lightning. The fluid entered the roof, ignited it, and it commenced burning rapidly, notwithstanding the severe rain. Some of the neigbors assembled, and soon succeeded in subduing the fire.

☞ A trot came off on the Franklin Course, North Chelsea, Mass., on Thursday, for a purse of $75, open to all horses that had never beaten 2:40. "Ajax," entered by H. H. Smith of New Market, took the purse, winning the last three heats in 2:39, 2:40, 2:40.

☞ There is a loud call in various quarters for the Navy Department to fit out some steel-clad ships forthwith. Have they not some steamer at Washington Navy Yard, or some one here, which could be plated and sent down the coast speedily?

The Polynesian, a paper published at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, warns its readers against the barbarism and shocking state of society in the United States, and contrasts it with the peaceful life of the Sandwich Islanders. It is rather hard if we have sunk so low as to become an object of pity to the Sandwich Islands.—Transcript.

☞ An exchange gives reasons for not publishing a "poetic" effusion, as follows: "Rythm sounds like punkins rolling over a barn floor, while some lines appear to have been measured with a yard-stick, and others with a ten-foot pole."

A green latin student being requested to render "Mind your eye," into the language of Cicero, wrote "Animus vester ego."

BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensible to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

LOST—On Thursday, in or near this city, a stout black CANE, with a hooked handle. The owner, being a lame man, would be greatly obliged if the finder will leave it at the Chronicle Office, where he will receive a suitable reward.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and pliable.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not soil the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—it composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will pay for any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BOSWELL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as flesh-brushing, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, and well adapted, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted in its trial; and that, in some instances, even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its variety forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the precursors of serious illness. A dose of AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS is all that is needed. Try it, and you will see at the right time why Ayer's Pills are thus recommended by the wonderful cures they effect, and the good they do. Stand not in the beaten path of disease, but be bold and take the lead, if you would be restored to health. Again, they stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the accumulated humors which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, exposed to the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the blessed feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1858.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches, which disfigured her side and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR SIR, AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that no ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for this class of complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1857.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I add them to others as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. This auspicious quality makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills in my family and parish with great success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best medicine I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1857.

DEAR SIR: I will say a few words about your Pills to my patients, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Two boxes received by me of your Pills for the cure of cachexia. If others of our Canadian Physicians find them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming to the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the propagator of others that are worse. I believe cachexia to originate in the liver, but your Pills effect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Sharrt, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretions when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and regulate the bowels. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

Rev. Rev. Dr. Hawley, of the Methodist Episc. Church

PULASKI HOTEL, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which baffled my skilful medical friends. Nevertheless, I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Madden, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering, at the end of three, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Mo., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These Pills are entirely or mineral substance whatever.

Price, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a single plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. The permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is as a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be TRUE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the market; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE In the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which the heat of the stove may be drafted, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which, the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no additional fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burner attachment," and a application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 8 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and not found wanting in any particular. Yet, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Moving Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain the reasons, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman referred to, has, after trying and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the XXW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave him such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—so that we do say

—HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

SAMBUCUS FREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1861.

RUSSELL ON ARISTOCRACY.

In a late letter to the London Times, its correspondent Mr. Russell makes some interesting statements, which we copy as follows:—

The officers of the regular army, however much they may love the Union, do not, as a body, love the present Government. On the contrary, they regard the great number of the Cabinet with aversion and detest their principles. It is hard for men to fight for a cause with good heart, and at the same time to hold in contempt those who have that cause in hand at the moment.—I was talking with an officer the other day in front of his tent, around which were standing six other officers. The conversation turned on Gen. Fremont's proclamation, and one said, "If this is to be made a war of Slavery I shall resign, no matter what the consequences may be." I don't think there was an officer there, except one, who did not join in and say, "I would do the same." On inquiry I found some were Marylanders, one from Delaware, one a Virginian, one from Ohio, and one from New York; and it was reported to me that every one of them voted against Mr. Lincoln. The Black Republicans, somehow or other, are not considered 'genteel.' They are noted as unfashionable and low, and it is odd enough to see men who are tobacco, sugar and rice merchants, swelling with indignation at the idea of being ruled by a set of hungry lawyers and politicians sprung from the very lowest condition of society. In a monarchy one might comprehend this extreme disgust, but it seems out of place here. However, though the law does not create or define them, there are strong and broad limits between the different classes of society, which, purely conventional as they are, nevertheless are rigidly observed. All men are equal, but it by no means follows that the man who sells tobacco behind the counter is equal to the man who grows tobacco for sale on his estate. The North has got the taint of commerce upon it; the South, from its broad fields of profitable crops, worked by negroes, turns up its refined nose at the smell of the lucre though not indifferent to the thing itself. As one of my friends expressed it, "The North may put what 'construction' they please upon the war, and shout for the 'Union' as long as they please. We are determined never to be ruled by a set of low-lived black guards, and (excuse the words) 'suffer our property' to be at the mercy of the loafers 'in these over-grown towns.' This is a war of gentlemen against the rule of snobs.'" The snobs are not always beaten in such battles, and, according to one definition of that peculiar race, it may not be easy to determine how far they may be distributed on both sides.

It has long been plain to intelligent minds, and is rapidly becoming more and more apparent to the most stupid, that the rebellion is the work of an odious aristocracy, based on chattel slavery, and aided by the "snobs" who deem it an honor to be noticed by an owner or driver of negroes.

And if the slave should chance to get free, by any accident or blunder, then how would the country get along without that aristocracy? Would it not be dreadful?

NAVAL.—Captain Alden, of the U. S. steamer South Carolina, reports the capture of two rebel schooners in the Gulf, with valuable cargoes of military stores and merchandise. Capt. Alden says the officers and crew of his vessel are in fine condition, and enlivened by their success, their prizes amounting to sixteen in the short space of three months.

A very full account of the great naval expedition, which has left Annapolis, and is on its way to some part of the Southern coast, has some how got into the papers.—There are in the expedition thirty-one large transport vessels, conveying about 15,000 troops, with all their arms, provisions, &c.,—sixteen steam gunboats, with eight or ten other vessels of war, carrying in all about 400 guns. The military arm of the expedition is under the command of Brig. Gen. Thomas W. Sherman, who achieved a high reputation during the war with Mexico for his services in connection with a battery of field artillery, which is still known by his name. The division is divided into three brigades, respectively commanded by Brig. Gens. E. L. Viele, Isaac I. Stevens, and H. G. Wright, all educated soldiers, and well qualified for the positions they have been called to fill. Capt. Rufus Saxton goes as chief Quartermaster of the expedition.

The U. S. steamers Powhattan and Iroquois, in search of the pirate Semter, were at St. Thomas Oct. 14; also the San Jacinto, on a cruise and for home.

DEATH OF NED KENDALL.—Edward Kendall, the celebrated bugle player, died in Boston, Saturday morning, of consumption. He has been quite ill for the past two years. His age was 54 years. Wherever he went his bugle playing excited the greatest wonder. He was doubtless the best performer on that instrument in the world.

☞ The British brig Spartan, at St. Thomas, was overhauled by the pirate Semter after a chase of 12 hours, Oct. 5, in lat. 19, lon. 47, but was released, being an English vessel.

☞ Stinging B's, Big Bethel, Bull's Run, Ball's Bluff.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mr. Francis Gilman, formerly of Gilmanton, committed suicide by drowning himself, at Skowhegan, Me., on Monday last.

—— The uniform of the 7th regiment is now very nearly settled upon, and is as follows: Regulation hats, with black ostrich plume, forage caps, regulation overcoat, flannel blouse, regulation frock and trowsers (blue,) sewed shoes, flannels of the best quality, and blankets weighing five pounds. The regiment will probably be armed with Springfield rifled muskets. The tents are to be of the best quality, Sibley, and the camp equipage is to be of the most complete and thorough description.

—— Mark Emery, a volunteer, broke his arm on Wednesday, by being thrown from a carriage, in Suncook.

—— The Cavalry Company under Dr. Nelson, now numbering 80 men, was mustered into the service on Friday by Col. Eastman, U. S. A. Only one recruit was rejected, and he on account of his youth.

—— On Tuesday last, Mr. John Esty, of Londonderry, lost his left hand by a premature discharge in a ledge, while engaged in digging a well.

—— Dr. W. W. Wilkins, a brother to the Chaplain of the 5th Regiment of N. H. V., has been appointed Assistant Surgeon in the United States Navy, and ordered to report to Com. Bruce, at New York, immediately.

—— The Generals of the armies of the Union seem to place confidence in the New Hampshire regiments, after they reach their commands. The Third is embarked on the steam ship Atlantic—formerly of the Collins line, one of the most magnificent vessels ever constructed—with Gen. Sherman and staff. The Fourth is on the Baltic, a consort of the Atlantic, with Brig. Gen. Wright. These are reported to have sailed from Annapolis on Monday. It was rumored in Washington, on Tuesday, that the New Hampshire Second would soon join Gen. Banks' column.

—— A white headed eagle was shot last week at South Hampton. A son of Rufus Dow, Esq., standing at the door of his father's house, saw an eagle flying toward him, about a mile off; he went for his gun, and, as the bird was within shooting distance, he aimed and fired. The eagle fell dead in front of him, his wing broken, and otherwise fatally injured. His wings expanded, measured six feet and four inches.

—— Moses Kelly, of New Hampshire, who has for several years been the chief clerk of the Department of the Interior, has received the lucrative position of Register of Wills, of the Orphan's Court of the District of Columbia. W. J. Smith, son of the Secretary, has been appointed chief clerk.

—— The Claremont Eagle states that on the 15th of July Mr. D. F. Maynard, of West Claremont, mowed from one acre of land 4 tons 510 lbs. of hay. On the 13th of September he mowed 1 ton 760 lbs., making altogether 5 tons 1270 lbs. of dry hay from a single acre.

—— During the session of the court in Ossipee, a Union meeting was held in the Court House, of which Hon. Samuel Emerson, of Moultonborough, was President, and Joel Eastman, Wm. M. Weed, Obed Hall, Charles Nowell, John B. Dow and Alvah Sawyer, were Vice Presidents. Resolves were introduced by Samuel M. Wheeler, Esq., of Dover, and supported by remarks from the mover, and by George W. Stevens, of Laconia, Hon. Joel Eastman, Wm. L. Foster, Esq., of Concord, Francis R. Chase, of Conway, and Messrs. Penniman and Jewell, of Sandwich. The resolutions recommended calling a State Convention at Concord, in November, to form a Union party, to operate in New Hampshire next March.

—— The papers in Manchester, Concord and other cities are making considerable talk about the number of volunteers who were born or enlisted in their respective cities, and we wish to say a good word for Kingston, in Rockingham County. That town has 260 voters and, we are informed, sends 76 volunteers to the war. Is it not the "banner town"?

THE KNICKERBOCKER, for November, is issued. The "Revelations of Wall Street," which have attracted so much and so favorable attention during the present year, will be concluded in the early part of the ensuing volume; and, what is better, will be followed by a new serial of similar character and of equal interest, by the same able and fascinating writer. "The Revelations" have been a great feature in this ever-popular magazine, and the new series will, undoubtedly, be looked for with increased interest. And the other contributors who have aided the Knickerbocker so much in acquiring its good reputation, will continue to enrich its pages.

A blind man has been arrested in Cleveland for marrying three different blind girls within as many weeks. Two months ago he buried his first wife, who was not blind. He declared he could not see any wrong in it.

THE REBELLION.

It is reported that there are now at least 50,000 rebels in the vicinity of Leesburg, 40,000 men having been sent from Manassas. The rebels are again reported to be in full force at Fairfax Court House.—Their object, of course, is to protect their army at Leesburg.

The Richmond papers of the 24th acknowledge the rebel loss in killed and wounded at the action at Ball's Bluff to have been three hundred. The number of Federal prisoners in the enemy's hands is known to be over five hundred.

It appears from official data that Pennsylvania has 70,000 troops in the field.—Thirty additional regiments will be in service within a month, making a grand army of 100,000, besides having material for fifty additional regiments if needed.

Maj. Scagoni, at the head of Gen. Fremont's body-guard of about 300 men, charged upon the rebels, about 2000 strong, at Springfield on Friday, drove them from the town, and hoisted the stars and stripes on the court house. Gen. Fremont, in his dispatch announcing the fact, said that he should occupy Springfield with his force, on Saturday night.

The 50 prisoners taken in the battle at Fredericksburg, Mo., have been put to work in the trenches at Cape Girardeau.—The accounts of Maj. Scofield, who commanded the batteries in the action, show that this victory was the most complete of any yet achieved by our army during the war. Jeff. Thompson escaped on foot, after having his horse killed under him. The rebel force was about 6000, while ours was only 4000.

Gen. Kelley drove the rebels from Romney, Va., on Saturday, taking many prisoners, and capturing three pieces of artillery, several baggage-wagons and a quantity of camp equipage. Our loss was trifling.—That of the enemy is not reported.

An item of Western news, not received by telegraph, is the capture, a fortnight since, at Chelsea, Butler Co., Kansas, by Capt. P. G. D. Morton, of a train of 31 wagons, 425 cattle, 25 ponies and 35 prisoners. The train was on its way from Pike's Peak to the Cherokees, who seceded some weeks ago. Capt. Morton handed over his prize to Major Cloud, at Fort Leavenworth.

A despatch from Fortress Monroe, Sunday, says the sailing of the great expedition had been delayed by the gale.

Refugees from Yorktown state that the rebels are in considerable force in that vicinity, and that there are apprehensions of an early attack by the Federal troops.

Commodious barracks are being erected for "contrabands," none of whom go with the expedition. Quartermaster General Meigs has directed the providing of shelter and clothing for "contrabands" to be as good as is customary with the best masters in Virginia.

It is stated that the rebels have sent very large reinforcements to Leesburg, in expectation of a renewal of the attack by our forces on that point, and an immense force has been congregated at Norfolk, under the impression that the naval expedition is intended to make a demonstration there.—The rebel army rests at Centreville and has been been drawn liberally upon.

Garibaldi has written a letter to the American Consul at Antwerp, stating that he shall not be able to come to this country at present. He adds:—"I do not doubt of the triumph of the cause of the Union, but if war should unfortunately continue in your beautiful country, I shall overcome all obstacles which detain me, to hasten to the defense of a people who are so dear to me."

SOCKS FOR THE SOLDIERS.—The Pittsfield Eagle makes a good suggestion in regard to socks for the army, of which article from 200,000 to 400,000 pairs are wanted for the winter supply. It is this: It is well known that the leg will last three or four times as long as the foot: therefore, let everybody collect as many as possible, cut off the feet, wash the tops carefully, and then foot them. This will save half the expense and half the time, and the article will be just as good as new. This is what the Berkshire ladies propose to do.

SMOOTH BORE MUSKETS.—Many army officers prefer a large proportion of regiments armed with smooth bores, in a general engagement. Each is loaded with a bullet and three buckshot, and they are far more effective than rifles for close fighting, besides bearing much longer use, without becoming fouled. The best military judgment has been that a part of the Massachusetts regiments should be thus armed. The mistake in the late engagement was in selecting men thus armed for skirmishers.—Transcript.

☞ The Jamaica (West Indies) Watchman says that the cultivation of cotton is engaging the attention of a great many persons in all parts of that Island. With a staff of fifteen or twenty coolies or Africans it thinks it will be easy for any man to keep up a very respectable cotton plantation.

☞ The N. O. Picayune admits that the braggart, Hollins, was chased up the river by the Richmond—his ram proboscis broken and his machinery disarranged.

☞ We think that the Republicans in the Fifth Congressional District in Massachusetts have made a judicious selection in designating Hon. Samuel Hooper as their candidate for Representative. Mr. Hooper is a merchant of liberal views and sound judgment. He is known in New Hampshire as a Director in the Eastern Railroad and as an owner and Director in the Great Falls Manufacturing Co. The interests of New England will be well represented at the hands of Mr. Hooper, and the people of his district will do themselves honor in sending him as their Representative.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.
A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.
This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:
Dyspeptics, Read!
ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.
Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & Co.:—
Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in health as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various physicians of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the strongest confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now remain in the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a powerful antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE RAYMOND.

This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

S. J. COURT.

The case of Orlando S. Langley vs. Wm. Jones was on trial Monday afternoon. The plf. was at work for the deft., haying, and was cut by a scythe in the hands of another workman. The plf., therefore, sues for damages. Small for plf.; Christie for deft.

POLICE COURT.—Monday, Oct. 18.—Judge Odell presiding.—The case of Wm. Ross, charged with stabbing one Card and others, of New Castle, with intent to kill, having been continued, came up this morning for hearing; and for want of bonds he was committed to jail, to await the action of the Grand Jury at the April term of the S. J. Court, to be holden in Exeter.

Daniel Hennessey pleaded guilty to being drunk, and was fined $3; costs, $4.03.

John McDonnell, for violation of Ordinance No. 2, Sec. 1, was fined $7, and costs, $4.80. Oliver P. Tucker, being found guilty of a like offence, received a similar sentence.

James Hussey, for violation of Sunday ordinance, was fined $7, and costs, $3.80.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.—Among the improvements now going on in and about our city, we notice that the Market street front of the Ladd estate is being widened, the line of fence straightened, and a new pavement laid. The rear of these fine premises, on High street hill, has also been much improved.

The enlargement of the Rockingham House is also progressing well, and when completed will render this a spacious hotel, and no doubt handsome as ever.

The preparations for the new Station buildings for the Concord, (Manchester) & Portsmouth Railroad, are rapidly being made; as also for the extension of the track to Manchester, and to tide-water in this city.

There have recently been made quite extensive repairs, alterations and improvements in the Noble's Island Bridge, owned by the P. S. & P. Railroad, and occupied by their track and the carriage travel. The course of the bridge has been changed, so as to get rid of several sharp corners in the track, and also to obviate in a great measure the troublesome liability of catching carriage wheels in the track at the crossing.

We also observe that much improvement has been made in the appearance of the house of the late Mr. Stephen Pearse, on Islington street,—which we learn has been purchased by Mr. A. W. Simpson—who offers for sale his late delightful residence on Middle street. The trimming up and thinning out of the trees in front of the Pearse house, was much needed, and the example should be followed all over town. It is no evidence of good taste, or discreet love for the beautiful, or of common sense, to insist on letting trees or shrubbery, in street or garden, go unpruned till they fall so low as to knock the hat from your head, or slap in your face when wet,—or so thick as to exclude all the light, sun and air from your dwellings and grounds.

We may also mention the enlarged and greatly improved Livery Stable of Mr Nathan Jones, on Vaughan Street. It seemed to be a pretty good sized stable, as it stood, but proved too small for the business, and the owner removed to the Stone Stable: but he has recently removed the Vaughan Street Stable to the rear, doubled its size on the floor, and more than trebled the capacity of the loft, making it a noble building outwardly, and very convenient within. With the ample yard and carriage shed, he has now every accommodation for a large business in the line of Horses and Carriages, which he will carry on there as soon as the improvements are completed.

☞ It was, perhaps, a little circumstance, yet it served to point out one characteristic of New England people, that while, on Sunday evening, hundreds of persons were passing hastily through the cemetery at the time of the fire, a beautiful bouquet, recently laid upon a grave near the entrance, remained untouched and unharmed,—and on Monday afternoon was lying there, almost as fresh and beautiful as if it had just passed from the hands of the mourning friend. However carelessly feet may have elsewhere pressed the sods above the dead—that spot was sacred.

☞ The fine Flag-Staff, at the corner of Middle and Cass streets, which some traitor attempted to saw down recently, has been braced and strengthened, and is now stronger than ever. Thus may the star-spangled banner ever come out from all attempts to lower it to enemies. The wretch who attacked it ought to have his legs sawed off, close to his head.

"FIRE."—Messrs. Editors:—I understand the residents of Kittery are subjected to toll across Portsmouth bridge in cases of fire, just as on ordinary occasions. Hundreds of men on either side, would assist in saving property, if the bridge was free during fires in Portsmouth or Kittery.—Winter is coming—fires may be frequent—and assistance needed. *

☞ Mine host of the Market Street House, in this city, says he had a noble "salute" at his house, very early Monday morning—a real ten pounder. See report in another place.

☞ Capt. Ichabod Pearl, late of the 2d N. H. Regt., is now engaged as mail agent on the Boston & Maine Railroad, from Boston to South Berwick Junction. From the Captain's experience at Bull Run, he doubtless prefers to run on this route, to being routed on that Run.

EDWIN FORREST.—The present engagement of this eminent tragedian at the Boston Academy of Music, is one of the most successful in the annals of the stage, large and enthusiastic audiences packing the building on each night of his appearance, and testifying their delight by loud and long-continued applause. Mr. Forrest on Monday evening appeared as Othello, the Moor of Venice, in Shakspeare's celebrated tragedy; and during the present week he will appear on three other nights—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

On Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, there will be a grand performance, in which will appear Miss Julia Daly, the beautiful Cubas, and Senor Ximenes and full corps de ballet, in new dramas, new dances, new songs, &c. On Wednesday evening Forrest will appear as Peruvian Rolla, and will shortly re-appear in his great Shakspearian personation of King Lear,—due notice of which will be given.

☞ The Tribune's Washington dispatch says the utmost astonishment and indignation is expressed in all the Departments at the White House at the publication by certain New York papers of the details of the Naval expedition. A newsboy was arrested by our pickets this side of Fairfax with a quantity of Saturday's Times, with which he was going to market among the rebels.

☞ The Lowiston Journal relates a remarkable case of a woman in one of the cotton mills in that place, earning $365 in a single year.

☞ They say a fair sample of cotton has been raised in Southern Illinois this season. All it lacks is staple, but it makes good batting.

BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensable to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambucl Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

A CARD.—The officers and members of Atlanta Engine No. 6 would return their sincere thanks to those "Volunteers" from Fort Constitution and others, for the aid and favors received from them at the late fire. If you ever need, rest assured, gentlemen, that the 6's never forget such friends, and the services you rendered us on that evening will never be forgotten while the "Atlantics" live. And we would also return thanks to Mr. George Catley, for the aid he furnished us on that occasion. "EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will be for any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BODENHALL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as embrocations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is strongly an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, provided the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of the old complaint, a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? Then a few doses are often the prelude to great blessings. Some 3d of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and disease and disorder be more—purify the blood, and the fountains throughout the whole edifice of the body run vigorous as infancy; purify the system from the obstruction which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, opposed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the desperate and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1854.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

YOUR Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR SIR, AYER: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to my all that no one trust with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Mar 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to seize them as a fiend seizes which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PRESLE,
Clerk of Steamer Sierra.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the liver very marked indeed. They are in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1856.

DR: I have used your Pills in my practice and family practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quite decided, and consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhea, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. A. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in mild doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhea. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in sickness. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of life.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of sedentary. Hitherto of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should be more use to profiting it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the primitive of other diseases that are worse. I believe our diseases to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent preventives of the accident sometimes when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very efficacious to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are much the best physic we have that I recommend to other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawley, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PULASKI HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excru-ciating pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 3 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease, and one I suffered for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These Pills are purely vegetable, and contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Price, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove cools no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an active feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once in each day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of the flues, both of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and 12 jackets are provided for the back and both sides of plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Usto, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Jones, N. Brewster, E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE.

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR-TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it is removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVERS, a coal fire may be kept throughout the day, and break fast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer draught, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIRKNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured in a family by the use of a Stewart apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and now found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to the Rush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city contemporaries, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the sxw, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that he has recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

IS NOT HERE EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1861.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS UNDER THE LAW: in Three Lectures, delivered in Boston, January, 1861, by Caroline H. Dall.—This is a neat little volume of 185 pages, just published by Walker, Wise & Co., Boston, and for sale in this city by J. H. Foster.—It comes to us with the Author's regards, which are fully reciprocated by our esteem for the talent and fidelity of the author.

A harmless rhetorical flourish in the first lecture, about the imagined blue laws of Connecticut, is defended with unnecessary earnestness in the preface, especially when it is considered that those blue laws never had any existence, save in the inventive powers of a most unmitigated liar, who made the book to sell.

The preface, however, is beautiful, and the lectures are very valuable for the information they contain, and for the ability and spirit with which important subjects are discussed. No judicious person can read them without improvement; though the terrible array of dismal facts and odious laws might drive a weak and irritable mind to madness.

The book will be widely read, and the subjects considered, by many persons who would not otherwise think of them.

☞ An official order, signed by the Secretary of War, and addressed to General Sherman, has been sent with the officers commanding the naval expedition, to govern themselves, so far as persons held to service are concerned, by the principles of the letter addressed to Gen. Butler, but discretionary power is given to the commanders for special circumstances; and instructions are given to avail themselves of the services of any persons, whether fugitives from labor or not, who may offer themselves to be employed, in such manner as is deemed most beneficial to the service; also to assure all loyal masters that Congress will provide a just compensation to them for the loss of the service of persons so employed.

It is devoutly to be wished that this expedition may be so successful as to recover the forts on some navigable river, land troops, fortify a noble camp, open the port for trade, export cotton, and call for the envy of all the blockaded ports.

An Augusta (Ga.) dispatch of the 22d says it was reported that the English and French naval officers were to have a meeting to decide upon and report that the blockade is totally inefficient.

This is eminently worthy of the rebel source whence it comes. The officers are to meet, decide, and then report in a certain way!

The whole rebellion has been managed somewhat in the same manner. For example, in Louisiana the people were to meet, vote on the question of a convention, and at the same time choose delegates.—They did so, and voted by a small majority not to have the convention! But the delegates met, and voted the State out of the Union.

It is by no means certain, or even probable, that the French and English officers at Augusta will act as above indicated.

A USEFUL MAN.—It is related by one of the dispatches from the battle field at Edwards' Ferry, that when our brave boys were trying to make their way from the trap into which they had been led, back across the Potomac, a poor negro, with a small skiff, employed himself the whole night in ferrying over the fugitives. He succeeded, in this way, in saving the lives, or in securing the escape, at least, of no less than one hundred persons. His master all the while was probably on the Virginia shore trying to send a Minie ball into the hearts of our men.

Now, as the "service" of this fellow did not belong to himself, but his master, what right had he to lend his labor to the suffering soldiers? Was he not defrauding his owner? Will not some of our generals insist upon "delivering him up" to be properly punished for so audacious a use of his muscles? Of course, no one will be so insane as to propose that he should be emancipated for this timely rescue of so many loyal troops. That would be abolitionism.

☞ A New Hampshire paper applies to Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson the very offensive term of renegade. Mr. Dickinson recently stated, before a concourse of people, that from the time he became twenty-one years of age to this War he never failed to carry the most regularly nominated and approved tickets of the Democratic party.—Mr. Dickinson goes for a vigorous support of the war and the government. For this, apparently, the epithet is applied.

☞ Rev. Frederic Frothingham has requested his discharge from the pastoral care of Park Street Church (Unitarian) in Portland, in order to accept a professorship in Meadville Theological Seminary—his discharge to take effect in December.

THE REBELLION.

Notwithstanding the rebels have sent such large reinforcements to Leesburg, our force at Edwards Ferry is sufficient to prevent the rebels from crossing. The Sickles brigade, which is guarding the East shore of the Potomac below Washington, has been compelled to retire a little way inland, to avoid the shells thrown by the rebel steamer Page.

Gen. Fremont and staff arrived at Bolivar, Mo., on Saturday night, and expected to reach Springfield on Sunday evening.—Gen. Price's men do not like the idea of leaving the State, and it is thought that they will compel him to give battle to Fremont. On the other hand it is stated that Gen. Johnson has left Kentucky to take command of Price's and McCulloch's forces, and that before leaving Kentucky he sent couriers to Price and McCulloch, directing them to fall back into Arkansas, and not give Fremont battle until he could reach them.

A dispatch from Richmond, Ky., says Zollicoffer renewed his attack on Monday night at 11 o'clock, and attempted to take Col. Gerrard's breastworks by storm, but was repulsed with a loss of 400 to 500 men. Col. Gerrard's loss was about 20 killed and 30 wounded.

The Tribune states that one of its correspondents with the great naval expedition, writes from Hampton Roads on Friday evening last, that he had just been informed upon good authority, that the Private Secretary of Com. Dupont had absconded, taking with him the maps and charts, and even the sealed orders of the Commodore. The Tribune does not vouch for the above, but says the writer is worthy of credence.—A later dispatch, however, states that at noon Tuesday, the Navy Department had the best reasons for believing the story untrue. It is suggested that the foundation for it was the sudden disappearance of a master's mate of one of the ships,—a crazy fellow.

The Tribune's dispatch says Gen. Scott will voluntarily retire from his rank and duties within the next ten days, solely on account of physical infirmities.

Government advices from Europe state the official opinion there is that it is to their interest that the Union be maintained.

Beauregard has made his official report of the battle of Bull Run, comprising 100 foolscap pages, but Jeff Davis withholds its publication.

Gen. Lane has captured a rebel transportation train in Bates Co., Mo., and taken the escort prisoners. He also took a large amount of lead in one of the Western counties. There is no definite news of the whereabouts of Price or McCulloch.

☞ The Democratic Convention in Boston, have nominated Hon. Geo. B. Upton for Representative in Congress, vice Mr. Appleton, resigned. Mr. Upton was a Webster Whig; and is endorsed by the Boston Courier, which says that the Democratic Convention, "in nominating a gentleman aside from their own political organization" for Congress, have given to the voters of the District the surest pledge of both their liberality and nationality."—And it adds:

In a sense singularly striking, Mr. Upton meets all the remarkable requirements of our present political condition. He has been, for some years past, connected with no polical organization, and can therefore be consistently voted for by all.

In the convention, Mr. Upton had 119 votes, Mr. Chas. B. Goodrich, democrat, 36: every intelligent democrat knowing that one of their own party had no reasonable prospect of election at this time.

The "Republicans and others" had previously nominated Hon. Samuel Hooper for the same office.

CHASE OF THE SUMTER.—Lieut. Porter, of the Powhattan, reports, arrived at Maranham Sept. 24th, only five days after the Sumter had left. The latter had cruised for two or three days at the mouth of the harbor, to overhaul the brig Maria, expected from New York. The Governor of Maranham treated the officers of the Sumter with every courtesy, promising them that they might sell the Maria there if she was captured, and supplied the Sumter with coal, but was unwilling to do the same by the Powhattan. On entering Maranham, the Sumter got ashore and lost her false keel, and when she left was leaking. She left under sail, having housed her smokestack. She had taken no prizes since the Abbie Bradford, and it was understood that her motto was to burn, sink and destroy, particularly Boston and Eastern vessels. Lieut. Porter left Sept. 28, and put into St. Thomas Oct. 9, where his last dispatches were dated.

REBELLION RECORD.—Part eighth of this valuable diary of events has been published, by G. P. Putnam, New York. Besides the customary documents, summary of events, poetry, &c., this number has excellent portraits of Gens. Wool, Banks, Beauregard and Com. Stringham, in themselves well worth the price of the number. We see it stated that the Record was quoted as authority last week, during the trial of the Jeff Davis pirates, in New York.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——Rev. S. S. Hunting, pastor of the Unitarian Society in Manchester, has tendered his resignation, and it has been accepted.

——Dispatches from Washington report that Capt. Jesse A. Gore, of the 10th U. S. Infantry, has been appointed to the Colonelcy of the Mass. Regt. lately commanded by Col. Henry Wilson. Col. Gore is a native of Concord, is a graduate of Norwich Military University, was a Lieutenant in the 9th U. S. Infantry in the Mexican war, Secretary of State of New Hampshire on his return, and was appointed a Captain in the 10th Infantry in 1855, since which time he has been in service exclusively upon the frontier.

——Marden Locke formerly, of Seabrook, and recently master of the schooner Palm, of Newburyport, on his return from the Bay recently, put into Halifax, N. S., where he sold her fare of mackerel, amounting to some $700, pocketed the money and decamped. The vessel arrived at Newburyport clean, on Friday last, having been sent home by the American Consul.

——In Manchester, Saturday, Mr. Byron Wyman, while engaged in shingling a house, fell to the ground, breaking his right arm; and a son of Peter Woodman fell from a load of hay, breaking both bones of the right arm, and spraining the wrist of the left.

——The Fifth New Hampshire Regiment left for the seat of war, on Tuesday, via Worcester.

——B. B. Ford, of Company I, 2d Regiment N. H. V., is reported to have died in Hospital at Washington, on Sunday.

☞ Rev. Mr. Conway, Chaplain of the 9th N. Y. regiment, has arrived in Washington, from Hatteras Inlet, whence he was despatched by Gen. Williams to the President, informing him of the loyal feeling of the citizens of Hyde county, N. C., and bringing with him a declaration of independence of the people of that county, announcing themselves forever free and independent of the rebel Confederacy; together with a request for arms for their defence.—They are represented as suffering terribly, almost to a point of starvation, from the despotism of the rebel army. The President has given them every assurance of protection in his power. Mr. Taylor, pastor of the Hatteras church, who accompanies him, represents the Union sentiment growing stronger.

☞ A fellow about to start a hotel in New York hired a thief to steal bedding for him from other hotels. The thief would pay for his lodging, register his name, and request to be called very early, taking when he went, sheets, pillow-cases, &c. He had visited all the large hotels of the city, and accumulated several dozen pieces, when he was nabbed.

NAVAL.—Steamship Brandywine (late frigate) left New York 27th for Fortress Monroe, in tow of steam transport McClellan. This is the first time she has been moved during the last ten years, having been lying up since her return from the straits of Gibraltar, in 1851. She will be anchored off the Fortress, as a permanent storeship.

The World's dispatch says that Lieut. Scott has been arrested for disobedience of orders in bringing the Keystone State to Philadelphia, after being ordered to pursue the pirate Sumter till he found her.

☞ Lieut. Leach, of Lewiston, of the 3d Maine Regiment, who was shot through the groin at Bull Run, besides losing an eye, having several shots through his leg, and being run over by the Cavalry horses, but yet came out of his misfortunes alive, was married at Lewiston last Thursday, and will, says the Journal, leave soon for Washington to avenge his wounds.

☞ The Government has been informed that the British Government has agents all along the coast buying all the ship timber that can be found. The Administration has taken proper steps, through the collectors in those localites, to ascertain the facts in the matter, and if it should prove true, to stop it at once.

☞ Waskoe, Chief of the Snake Indians, arrived at Salt Lake City, on Monday, with a band of Indians, and returned to the Overland Mail Co. a number of horses and mules stolen by the Bannoch Indians, he having captured them from that tribe. The old chief received suitable presents for his exploit, and was being handsomely entertained. He is the best friend the whites have in that vicinity.

A RIOTER SENTENCED.—Judge Bond, of the Baltimore Criminal Court, on Wednesday sentenced John Konig, one of the rioters of April last, to one year's imprisonment and $500 fine, at the same time telling him that the evidence would have warranted his indictment and conviction for murder instead of riot, and that all who took part in that riot were guilty of murder.

Dr. Charles Wilson has written a volume of some hundred pages to explain the pathology of drunkenness. Diogenes explains it in two syllables—zigzag.

SWORD AND PLOUGH.

The sword came down to the red-brown field,
Where the Plough to the furrow heaved and keeled;
And it looked so proud in its jingling gear,
Said the Plough to the Sword, "what brings you here?"

"Long years ago, ere I was born,
They doubled my grandsire up, one morn,
To forge a share for you, and now
They want him back," said the Sword to the Plough.

The red-brown field glowed a deeper red,
As the gleam of War o'er the landscape sped;
The sabres flashed, the cannon roared,
And side by side fought the Plough and the Sword.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query.—Why will you suffer? DYSPEPSIA is a brief but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters, medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The Dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Half it not this power, such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

Dyspeptic, Read!

ASHUELOT, N. H., Oct. 6, 1859.

MESSRS. S. W. FOWLE & CO.—

Gents:—Nine years ago I was so much reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to the common duties of my household, and suffered from a complication of diseases that truly rendered life a burden. I resorted to various specious of acknowledged skill, but without relief, and my case was considered beyond the possibility of cure; but at this juncture I made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, and so rapidly did I mend that the effect was wonderful. My physician's distrust of the medicine gave place to the utmost confidence in it. After a lapse of years, I now report to you the enjoyment of good health, and have ever found the Bitters a never-failing antidote for the various symptoms which arise from constitutional derangements. I have since recommended them to several of my friends, with uniform and satisfactory results. CATHERINE HAYMOND.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 8, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gents: Please send me by express two dozen OXYGENATED BITTERS. With us there is an increasing demand for this excellent specific for Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, and we know of no remedy more fully entitled to the confidence of the public. This much we say, disclaiming any intention of puffing the article, as its own merit is a sufficient guarantee of all that it purports to be.

Very respectfully yours,

POLICE COURT, Tuesday, Oct. 29.—Judge Odell presiding.—William Hussey, charged with keeping a house of ill fame, was bound over in $100, to await the action of the grand jury at Exeter, at the April term, 1862.

William Hussey, being found guilty of keeping a disorderly house, was fined $20 and costs, $7.79.

☞ A man named Brewster, of Cape Neddick, employed as carpenter, on the Navy Yard, cut his leg very badly, Tuesday. He was immediately conveyed to the Hospital, where his wound was properly dressed.

SNOW PLOWS.—Messrs. Editors:—There is now some prospect of having the walks, crossing the streets, where they intersect, and in front of public buildings, with the sides of the bridges, sufficiently cleared of snow by the use of plows. This improvement will be appreciated the coming season, as the mill is in operation; and as, if the plows are occasionally used, most of the early risers, whose business will call them to the Navy Yard, will not have to wallow in the snow. To them it will be valuable, for the men leaving their residences so early will have no time to shovel. And by using the plows the City Government will relieve itself of the onerous and disagreeable duty of enforcing the snow ordinance.

☞ The Boston Courier alludes in the following highly complimentary terms to the Fast Day Discourse by Rev. Dr. Burroughs, which has been published in our columns:—

The Weekly New Hampshire Gazette, of the 24th inst., gives us a sermon preached on Fast Day, in Portsmouth, by Rev. Dr. Burroughs of that city. We perceive that it was highly appropriate to the occasion, urging repentance for public and private sins, humiliation before God, and confidence in Him to save us from our calamities, and enforcing love of country and every personal sacrifice for its sake. Dr. Burroughs is both eloquent and patriotic, in no common degree.

DIVIDENDS.—The Concord Railroad and Manchester & Lawrence Railroad each pay a dividend of three per cent., November 1. It is understood that these roads have earned four per cent., but in view of the prospect of the winter's business, the Directors have deemed it advisable to pay but three per cent. dividend now. The Nashua & Lowell Road pay four per cent., November 1.

☞ A pleasant Paris letter in the Courrier des Etats Unis tells this story:—

"A paper manufacturer has just invented a kind of impermeable paper, suited for dress goods. Its manner of employment is both simple and ingenious. It consists in replacing by small frames the hoops upon which are ballooned the petticoats of our ladies. These new fangled engines are covered with packing canvas, upon which you have only to glue, as on a common screen, the newly invented paper. Thanks to this invention, when a lady wants a new dress her husband has no longer to distress himself with the disbursement of five or six hundred francs for twenty yards of velvet or thirty of moire antique; all he will have to do will be to buy five or six rolls of twelve sous paper, and send for the glue man. This is as simple as all grand ideas. The father about to marry his daughter will not be obliged a long time beforehand to bother himself about her trousseau; he will limit himself to asking his wife, on the day before the wedding "What paper shall we glue on our Emily?"

The greatest triumph of English alliteration, according to the London Quarterly, is the following line, composed by a young lady in the year 1800, on the occasion of a gentleman by the name of Lee planting a lane with lilacs:

"Let lovely lilacs line Lee's lonely lane," in which not only every word, but every syllable begins with the same letter.

Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda. It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it. 3td

That blessed saint-like woman Florence Nightingale, has just written a letter to a volunteer English company, in which she says she has seen more than any man what a horrible thing war is, and yet feels more than any man that the military spirit in a good cause—that of one's country—is the finest leaven which exists for the national spirit.

☞ A party of young men left Rolling Mill Wharf, South Boston, on Sunday afternoon, on a boating excursion. As none of them were capable of managing the boat, it was capsized, and one of the party, named Ligoncanope, an Italian, was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered.

☞ Sec. Cameron has authorized the establishment of a depot for prisoners of war on Johnson's Island, Sandusky Bay, Lake Erie. Seventeen buildings, capable of accommodating 1000 prisoners are to be finished by Dec. 10, at a total cost not to exceed $25,000.

☞ Dr. Charles Jewett, the well known Temperance laborer, has become a resident of Wisconsin.

☞ The York (Penn.) Gazette states that in the late election in Pennsylvania the Democratic party carried the State by, from thirty to forty thousand majority. The defeated party was a Union or Republican party.

Vanity Fair says some of the military advertisements strutting up and down Broadway, in gay and bran new regimentals, may look very war-like, but they don't seem to like war.

If, by the expenditure of a thousand millions of dollars, we succeed in restoring the Union, it will be as profitable a pecuniary investment as mortal man ever made.—Prentice.

☞ Our relations with New Granada have become somewhat complicated, through the revolution in that country and the conduct of our late Minister, Mr. Jones.

☞ Gen. Banks and Gen. Stone each hold independent positions and report to Gen. McClellan. The former is in no way responsible for Gen. Stone's movements.

To Cure Dyspepsia, has long been a consummation devoutly to be wished," by the physician and the patient. The cures effected by the Oxygenated Bitters, should satisfy both classes, that under whichsoever of its Proteanforms this disease appears, it readily succumbs to the above remedy.

BILL HEADS and Cards are indispensable to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & CO.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. SCHERHELL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulder, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of the character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permanently injuring muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; the sounding to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, sedating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have taking a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by

THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, feeble, and depondent? Are you out of order, with your system disranged, and your feelings unsettled and fretful? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and restore the vitals once so unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. Thus, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the disease, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the longest lodging of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous disorders. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar causes, these and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Mo. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR REG. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Ball, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked. They have in my practice the proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and I feel bound in honesty to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I add them to others as one of the few cathartics I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their action upon the bowels makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in the country. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the best cathartic I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1854.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Fowler, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. Brothers of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the precursor of others that are worse. I believe constipation originates in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Rev. E. Smith, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent preventive of the natural secretion which wholly or partially suppresses, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are much the best physic we have that I recommend to other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hunter, of the Methodist Episc. Church

PULASKI HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your child has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec. 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These Pills contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

PRICE, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 8ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attended to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and 3d. jackets are provided for the back and both ends. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, ESQ., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gorport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be true stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and cheer, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept throughout the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being concentrated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A SEWER PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the fire to the oven, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and nor found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to the Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city stove traders, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that he recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart:—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1861.

THE BARRINGTON MUSTER.

So long as the old-fashioned Militia system was held in disrepute, the title of Muster was also laid aside, and "Encampment" substituted, to designate Training Day.—But with the returning generally-accepted necessity for a standing army of some sort, come back the old "Musters," name and all, —or perhaps not all the former evil concomitants of rum and riot.

Under the patronage and arrangements of Gen. Alf. Hoyt, of Durham, and we don't know what other patriotic and military-loving souls, a Volunteer Muster was held within the precincts of Barrington on Tuesday last—and a word as to how we all got there, and what was done, may not be out of place in these military times. We will only preface our report, and explain any lack of detail, by saying that we, like most others connected with the press are glad when we can shirk our "legitimate" employment; and that we dislike, of all things, to be obliged to perform double duty; (as, for instance, in this case, military and reportorial, either of which would be sufficiently onerous,) and that when we are off on a time, we want to forget that we ever had any acquaintance with a newspaper, and that what we see and enjoy, is to be enjoyed solely with a view of being filtered through our brains, and out at the the end of a lead pencil. However, justice to the cause requires that we should say something of Barrington Muster—inasmuch as we are not aware of any other reporters being on the ground.

Barrington lays six or seven miles westerly from Dover, and somewhat further from Great Falls; but as about half the members of Company C, Horse Guards, including the Captain, live in Great Falls, the rendezvous was made there. Here we all met, Monday night, and our good quarters at the Great Falls Hotel, well prepared us for the campaign of the day following. A drive of ten miles, Tuesday morning, brought our two dozen or more of teams to the Muster field—and here the day was spent in a becoming manner—every thing connected with the military being conducted "decently and in order;" fire-and military and citizens' companies from Dover, Rochester and other towns, were on the grounds; and the line embraced several hundred men, with the Horse Guards for cavalry.

After a two hours' drill and parade, we Guards took an excellent camp-dinner in a tent on the grounds. In the afternoon the line was again formed, and having been drawn up in a hollow square, Hon. John P. Hale, attended by Hon. N. V. Whitehouse, appeared on the grounds. Senator Hale addressed the assembled crowd, pleasantly and pertinently, as he always does.—He referred to the mistake which New Hampshire made, in doing away with all military organization—which was done, he said, to get rid of its abuses—very much as if a man should burn his barn to get rid of the rats. Somebody in the crowd asked him who was responsible for the abrogation of the old Militia system; and Mr. Hale said he couldn't exactly say—and when our house is afire, to put it out is the first thing, and then discover who the incendiary is, if you can. But he was happy to say that no political party was to be charged with it—and to bear testimony that, side by side, among those who labored most earnestly to retain some portion of it, and prevent the old militia from being entirely abandoned, stood ex-Governor Goodwin, and General Hoyt, the commanding officer to day. Then referring to National matters, he remarked that if all the States were as devoid of all shadow of a military organization as was New Hampshire when the rebellion broke out, the rebels would hardly have met any opposition in marching on the Capitol and possessing themselves of the Government. But he was proud to testify that our State, whose action, history shows to have always been foremost in deeds of valor and patriotism, has already done herself credit through the gallantry of the troops she has sent to the support of her country's cause. The bravery of our Second Regiment has been fully tested and proved; and Mr. H. said that while at Washington a short time since, Gen. Hooker told him that he considered this as the crack regiment of his brigade; and Mr. H. said that he himself saw them, from a single line, form a hollow square, charge bayonets, and return to line, in the short space of one minute. After commending the objects of the Muster, and expressing the belief that our next Legislature will in some way restore the Militia system, Mr. Hale closed with a beautiful appeal in behalf of our flag and the country; the crowd gave "three rousing cheers" for the Second Regiment, and the line was again formed. After farther drilling, and soon after another lunch in that tent, break ranks was the order, and all dispersed.—Another night at Great Falls, and our party home to Portsmouth, Wednesday morning.

Mr. Hale also defended the National Government from any charge of being dilatory—and said that neither ancient nor modern history afforded another example of such sudden raising and equipment of so immense an army—250,000 men in less than six months. It reminded him of the days of poetry and romance—when the Scottish chiefs sounded their bugles, and instantly, from every crevice and hiding-place within reach of the echoes of the rallying-cry, rose multitudes of their followers —an impromptu army.

The morning ride to Barrington, under the blue sky and among the bluer hills, was fine; and the ride home, at lovely sun-set, not less so. On the whole, the trip was very pleasant; and the Muster a success.—General Hoyt was full of the importance of the occasion and his mission,—and he wore the honors of his position with becoming feeling; but not a whit more so than his horse, a splendid bay mare, we think the handsomest and proudest parade animal we ever saw. Capt. Burleigh, of the Horse Guards, also did much service to render the display and drill creditable; with the assistance of Lt. E. of Portsmouth, who made his first official appearance on this occasion.

The only regrets we heard were that Barrington Light House was not visited, nor the famous, not to say infamous, Leatherne. But this can be remedied at the next Muster there. The event seemed very much like the old-fashioned Musters. There were the various carts, wagons, &c., the cider and gingerbread stands; with the usual amount of drunkenness, pot-valiant patriots, and consequent fighting. But the large attendance of people, men, women and children, on foot, on horseback, and in all sorts of carriages, the beauty of the day, and the inspiring music of the strictly military Band, (fifes and clarionets, bass and tenor drums, multiplied) render the day one long to be remembered. NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The New Hampshire Battery, Capt. Geo. A. Gerrish, on Saturday last, received their guns,—four rifled cannon and two howitzers, manufactured by Alger & Co., of South Boston, Mass., who agreed to furnish them two weeks earlier. On Saturday afternoon, the Battery practised with their guns for the first time. The horses dashed about considerably, and some of them were at times unmanageable. But there was no accident, and the horses will soon learn to stand fire. The company is composed of 151 men, with fi e officers and five servants, and with 128 horses. Only one of the members, Mr. Demeritt, will remain, he having been injured a short time since. Sergt. W. N. Chamberlain of the Battery, who for some years has been trainmaster at the Manchester Depot, was presented on Saturday with $32 by those doing business at the depot, flour dealers and others.

—— The Third New Hampshire Regtment was paid off on Wednesday last, each company receiving about $1000, mostly in treasury notes. This payment was for odd days, i. e., from the time the companies entered camp at Concord, until Sept. 1. The next payment will be for the two months ending Oct. 31st. Drummers and fifers were paid at the rate of $12 per month, their pay not having been increased like the pay of the privates.

—— A confidence man—look out for him! A correspondent writes to the Boston Post, "that a smooth-faced rascal, about 30 years of age, pretending to live in New Hampshire and to be a school teacher by profession, is travelling "on his face" in a very remarkable manner. He calls himself "Butterfield," and informs his victims that he is a brother of a well-known gentleman of that name who resides in Concord, N. H.; is suddenly out of money by some accident, and wants to borrow just enough to get back to New Hampshire. He usually addresses himself to editors, who, knowing the high character of the genuine Butterfield, (whom this itinerant rascal somewhat resembles in the face) have now than once been swindled out of a ten dollar bill. The press will look out for him and will please give him an "iron hoss" in the shape of a paragraph."

—— An awkward looking youth made his appearance at the recruiting office at Lancaster, a few days since, and desired to enlist as a sharpshooter. His extremely verdant appearance created considerable merriment among the spectators, and it was proposed that he should try his skill on a head of Jeff. Davis at the required distance. Inspecting his rifle a moment, he raised it and put a ball through the side of the nose. The company supposing this to be a chance shot, made him fire again, when he put a second ball through the other side of the nose. He was then accepted without further ceremony.

☞ The workmen on the Portsmouth Navy Yard held a meeting, Wednesday noon to consider the expediency of sending an agent to Washington, to procure the building of one or more of the five steamers which are to be built. Mr. Prescott, Master Machinist, made a plain statement of the matter, after which, it was unanimously voted to send Dr. M. F. Wentworth, whose efforts, we think, judging from his past endeavors, cannot fail of being successful.—We understand that he leaves this (Thursday) morning.

SENTIMENT IN MAINE.—In Calais, Me., that well known Democrat, Hon. Shepard Cary, delivered a political speech at Horton's Hall, on Wednesday evening last.—"It looks to us," (says the Calais Advertiser,) "as though he was trying to take the wind out of somebody's sails. He reached far ahead of the most forward Republican. But we glory in him; he is only a little ahead of the times, and we shall have to come up to the pitch before the war is over, and the sooner the better. Mr. Cary is an out-spoken, honest sort of man, and is not afraid to avow his sentiments fairly and squarely." The Portland Advertiser says:

We talk about restoring the Union, precisely as if we thought that the Union of the last six or seven years, a Union which was the tool of such men as Davis and Thompson and Cobb and Floyd, was worth fighting for, or even mourning over when departed. The people of the South are fighting in the vain hope of restoring it, the people of the North with equal determination and more hope, are digging its eternal grave with bayonets. If it be true that we are fighting for the Union of last year, why not lay down our arms and call upon Davis and Floyd to govern us; they cannot do worse than they have already done.

The Brattleboro' cavalry company were convulsed the other night by one of their number, who is the "dryest of chaps," remarking in relation to one of his comrades who was snoring quite vociferously, Well, boys, that's the first man I ever heard more Old Hundred without missing a note.

THE STATE ELECTION IN MASSACHUSETTS is to come off next Tuesday. The mixed or Union ticket, which was nominated by the convention at Worcester, turned out to be a failure, as the candidates who were not Republicans have declined. Their places have been filled by Republicans;—and the Democratic State ticket is in nomination.

In a late Democratic convention in Charlestown, Mr. Thompson advised to send courteous men to Congress, that the South might return to its allegiance; but said:

"We do not want any compromises which are to be broken like those we have made before."

Mr. Alger, of Lowell, said:—"What did we see at this time of the nation's trial, when the Southern States are endeavoring to strike down freedom and smother it under a military despotism? We saw a Senator of Massachusetts pronounce the doctrine of emancipation; and ministers of the Gospel, priests of God and orators of his religion, were proclaiming from their pulpits this damnable heresy."

Mr. Alger then went on to expose the fallacy of humanitarian ideas relative to slavery, and declared that the Democratic party did not go out to subjugate or conquer their brethren of the South, but that they would, if need be, defend the South itself in its rights and privileges under the Constitution."

Rev. Mr. Russell, of West Cambridge, being introduced as a clergyman who rose above the majority of his fellows, addressed the audience in a manly defence of the Union, and paid a glowing tribute to the principles of the Democratic party.

☞ The wife of Gen. Scott is now in Paris, and very narrowly escaped being a passenger in the Great Eastern when that steamer met with its late serious accident. Her passage was taken, and she was on the eve of setting out when an American gentleman, whom Gen. Scott had sent from New York to be her escort over the Atlantic, arrived at Paris. She was therefore obliged to defer her voyage for a few days. Mrs. Scott is in very delicate health and quite nervous. She is not able to read the newspapers till some friend looks them over and assures her that there are no evil tidings from the North, and that nothing has happened to any member of her family.

☞ The workmen at the Charlestown Navy Yard, are following the noble example set by those at the Portsmouth yard.—They commenced receiving their pay on Monday, and almost without exception thus far; have each contributed the amount of one day's pay for the relief of our troops; the contribution will amout to about $5000, and will be placed in the hands of Gov. Andrew to be used as he shall deem best. The officers and others, connected with the yard, have also made generous donations for the same purpose.

FROM HAVANA.—The rebel steamer Theodora left Havana on the 23d for Charleston. She landed Mason and Slidell at Cardenas, and afterwards went to Havana, Mason and Slidell going overland. They were received with the highest consideration from the Captain General down. The Theodora took a large quantity of arms on her return, also provisions, coffee, &c. The British consul called on the rebel commissioners in full uniform, and presented them to the Captain General. Captain Coxetter, late of the pirate Jeff. Davis, arrived at Havana in the Theodora, and remained there.

Consul General Shufeldt telegraphed to the commander of steam frigate San Jacinto at Trinidad on the 24th, to proceed at once to Havana. Things look quite warlike in Havana harbor. A large fleet is fitting out for Mexico.

S. J. COURT.

The case Langley v. Jones was given to the jury on Wednesday evening.

☞ Our Ministers, without exception, represent the popular and official opinion of Europe to be fast settling into the conviction that the Government has the power to quell the rebellion, and that it is the interest of Europe that the Union shall be maintained intact, and especially that it would be impolitic to place any portion of the former Republic under the protection or patronage of a foreign power.

The 160,000 bushels of corn which Gen. Fremont is reported to have discovered at Warsaw proves to have been $160,000 in coin.

Kindness is stowed away in the heart like rose-leaves in a drawer, to sweeten every object around them.

☞ A West Newbury hen a few days since laid an egg with three yolks.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Predisposition to Consumption, &c., &c.

This great remedy is too well known, and is performing too much good, to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

Letter from Elder H. L. Gilman, a Minister of the Gospel in Vermont.

GLOVER, Vt., June 20, 1859

MESSRS. S. W. FOWLE & CO.,

Gents:—I hereby certify that I have been troubled for seveears with a difficulty of the heart and lungs, and have applied to several physicians for help, and have tried almost every remedy of the numerous ones which have been recommended, without receiving any assistance; but had been growing weaker and weaker, until, hearing of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY about a year since, I commenced using it with immediate relief. It has not only restored my lungs to a sound state, but I am entirely relieved of the difficulty or disease of the heart. I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best lung medicine before the public, and I most cheerfully and conscientiously recommend it to all persons suffering with pulmonary consumption.

H. L. GILMAN.

From the Editor of the "Rising Sun," Richmond, Me.

DR WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY AND THE OXYGENATED BITTERS.—Our readers will pardon us for venturing an opinion of these celebrated remedies, which have been so long before, and have become so popular with the public. They are often imposed upon by "humbug" against the greater number of Patent Medicines at the present day, and this, no doubt, to a certain extent, may be justifiable; but, convinced of the superior efficacy of the above articles as remedial agents, with the hearty endorsement of the medical faculty, we cheerfully recommend them to the Consumptive or Dyspeptic sufferer as being every way worthy their confidence and a thorough trial.

THE REBELLION.

It is reported that Johnson is in command of a large force of rebels at Centreville, and that very strong defensive works are being thrown up there.

The rebels have torn up the railroad track from Fairfax Court House to Manassas, to impede any advance of our forces.

A dispatch from Richmond, Va., says Messrs. Breckinridge, Preston and Humphrey Marshall arrived there on the 21st. They were received with the greatest cordiality and enthusiasm. Gen. John Grayson, commanding the Florida forces, died at Tallahasse. Governor Moore has issued an order requiring all persons leaving New Orleans and Jefferson Point on steamboats for Memphis, to get passes from the Executive office.

Marching orders have been issued to eight fully armed and equipped Pennsylvania regiments, and they will leave that State during this week.

A number of Western Senators are urging the necessity of a forward movement of the army, and representing the sentiment of the people as impatient at the present delay.

The N. Y. Tribune publishes a lengthy report of Adj. Gen. Thomas in regard to Gen. Fremont's case. It can be summed up in the statement that Gen. Hunter, his second in command, gave a reluctant opinion that Gen. Fremont was incompetent for his extensive command. This is also the concurrent testimony of a large number of the most intelligent men in Missouri.

The great fleet sailed from Fortress Monroe Tuesday morning. The vessels, fifty in number, formed in line a few miles down the Roads and went out between the Capes in splendid style. The brother-in-law of Alex. McKinley, Private Secretary of Com. Dupont, publishes a card emphatically contradicting the report that he has absconded with the sealed orders and charts of the naval expedition.

Gen. Rosecrans' dispatches from Western Virginia state that he is preparing to make another advance movement, with a view to drive the rebels from that section of the country, and states that he believes they have been retreating for several days past.

CAUTION TO BOYS.—On Wednesday, a boy named Wm. Shaw, loaded his cannon with powder and a leaden-slug, and while preparing to touch it off it prematurely discharged and threw the slug into his leg. It struck the bone and followed it down to the foot, where it was cut out by Dr. Folsom.

CARD.—The officers and members of Laconia Engine Co. No. 2 take this method of returning their thanks to Atlantic Associate Ex-Cs, for the bountiful supply of refreshments furnished us at and after the fire on Sunday evening, Oct. 27th. Gentlemen, although you are not now serving as active firemen, we can say that you still carry out your noble motto, "Deeds, not words;" and if ever an opportunity occurs to reciprocate,—"We'll Try." Per order of the Foreman,

WM. H. MAXWELL, Clerk.

American Women.

America is justly proud of its beautiful women; but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my26daw3m

"EVERYBODY"
WHO USES
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE
Is convinced of the fact that
It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,
Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.
"ANYBODY"
Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.
Messrs. W. R. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will vouch for any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BOBBY, Esq.

It is so safe a remedy, that the contents of a bottle might be drank without harm. ZOLLICKOFFER'S NTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL
A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.
Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.
Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.
Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes an obstinate and painful affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.
The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe as well as efficacious, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.
It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where there is the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.
It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.
The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the incontrovertible efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.
This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let the functions on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the desperated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR SIR: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my hands proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely regret we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1856.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills in my family and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Personally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhea, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. C. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhea. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in disease. To regulate the stomach, liver, bowels and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. YOUR, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the blood. JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Fampin, Montreal, Canada.

You much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If observed our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the medical sufferer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural accession when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very efficacious to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are much the best physic we have that I recommend to other in my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hendee, of the Methodist Episc. Church

PLEASANT HILL, Saratoga, Co., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your pills have brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my bones and brought on severe aching sensations, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills; their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that I did not think to be yours. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives its heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once in a long time, for raking and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made to the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and box, in plates. A hot closed and tank can be made if required. With ordinary care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nickols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range,

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and burn, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward unsolicited services, by which means the best of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the end of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box, and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to warmth of the hearth upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "Spanish arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out thirteen ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUICKNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned by dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a series of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861 is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another admirable known Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewarts, but did for a short time use one of the old makers; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

IN A BAD FIX.—That great financier, Mr. Memminger, the Secretary of the rebel Treasury, is besieged with inquiries from anxious planters, who wished to have the government buy their cotton or advance money upon it. They ask him two questions:—1, Must we subscribe more, to the produce loan?—and 2, Will the government help us if we do?

In reply, Mr. Memminger urges subscriptions to the money loan, but he does not hold out any prospect for immediate relief for the planters.

He discusses in a recent circular a plan for the issue of a hundred millions in treasury notes, to be given to planters on the pledge of their crop,—which he intimates is the least that the planters ask. He objects to this on several grounds, especially because is a rejection of that principle of economy which forbids the government to interfere for the "organization of labor," or for a particular interest,—a theory which it is delightful to see forced upon the attention of the free trade party of the South in such a form. He objects also to issuing a hundred millions of notes, in addition to two hundred millions which he thinks the government may need to issue for its own purposes, as needlessly inflating prices and depreciating the currency.

He therefore concludes that the planters must look elsewhere for relief, and advises them to turn to the banks, suggesting advances by those institutions upon planters' drafts. To this, however, the Richmond Whig answers, that expansion by the banks will have as bad an effect on prices as the issue of Treasury notes; and therein it seems to have the better of Mr. Memminger, the truth being, however, that the financial problem which they discuss is a dilemma, which cannot be satisfactorily met either way.

The rebel government has no money—the planters have none: the credit of both is very poor, and, like the sick Frenchman's account of himself, is getting no better very fast.

A FIRST RATE NOTICE.—The Portland Advertiser in a review of War Literature, notices Russell and his Letters in this fashion:

One of these books, the letters of Dr. Russell to the London Times, is the work of a man whose well developed and self-satisfied humanity looks out from every page; of a man who naturally thinks no change is necessary in this world, so long as he has his dinner, his claret and his pipe secured to him. Dr. Russell rather likes slavery, because the happy owner of slaves possesses the means of a certain lazy luxury wholly in keeping with his tastes. Whether slavery is right or wrong, good or bad, he neither knows nor cares; in his composition the predominating flesh prevents the intrusion of theories the discussion of which involves the necessity of some disturbance of heart and soul, some interference with the placid feeling of pure content. Dr. Russell pays as much attention to the moral aspect of slavery, as to the sufferings of the grouse he shoots on Illinois prairies.

☞ The U. S. Marshal of the District of Columbia, has been ordered to attach certain real and personal property of Wm. Shields. Shields, some months ago, removed with his family to Richmond, where he engaged in the insurrection, and in correspondence with the enemies of the United States residing in Washington, transmitting to them money and other valuables, and receiving the same in return, &c.

The most of those men in the last Congress who voted against prosecuting the war, except those from the free States, have connected themselves with the rebels, or expressed sympathy for them. Breckinridge and Burnett of Kentucky are believed to have joined the rebel forces; and Powell of Kentucky, and Johnson and Polk of Missouri, are soon expected to take the same course. At least those men were traitors while acting as Congressmen.—Exchange.

If the votes of these Southern men proved them to be traitors at heart,—then what do the same kind of votes prove, as to those men from the free States, who voted with them?

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1861.

THE GREAT MISTAKE.—Some good men hesitate in taking their position in this critical juncture of our affairs, and fear to support the war for the defence of the Union, lest they should be reckoned and held as out and out "black republicans."

But, says the Manchester Union, (edited by Mr. Harriman)—"let no man be staggered by an erroneous view of this matter. The blow which the Secessionists are aiming is not against the President—not against a party, but against us and our Government. Should Lincoln die to-day, and his place be filled, to-morrow, by the best democrat in the country, the fierceness of the rebellion would not abate, for this is a struggle for the overthrow of the Government, and not for the securing of rights under the constitution.

"Who knows who the next occupant of the presidential chair will be? Who knows what party will put him there? No one can predict, but as God and patriotism live, it will be a man whose devotion to the flag of his country was not tainted during the terrible ordeal of 1861!

"Our opinion, from the day when the American Flag was shot away from the walls of Sumter, has been, that there is but one solution of the terrific problems that are now before us, and that solution is the absolute triumph of the American arms. And on this question, the striking unanimity of sentiment that is soon to prevail, will be absolutely astonishing as well as cheering, to the loyal people of the whole country."

SOME DIFFERENCE.—Among the telegraphic items from New York, Oct. 30, is this:—

In regard to Kentucky it is stated that Gen. Sherman deems 200,000 men necessary, though willing to fight the enemy with what he has. No large bodies of troops can be raised in the State, and its defence must devolve on the free States of the West.

Another paper has 20,000.—This last number is obviously wrong, as it is quite small. The 200,000 sounds too large.

But this exhibition of Kentucky, that she cannot defend herself against the Gulf rebels, because of the traitors and slaves in her midst,—may tend to show us the path of safety for the Union,—viz. that the free States must take care of themselves, and also of whatever friendly and loyal men are in any slave State.

Slavery is powerful for mischief,—but impotent for good. Its worshippers, if any, in the free States to-day, adore a broken idol.

Kentucky, with about 1,000,000 people in all, has about 12,000 free blacks, and about 215,000 slaves. In order that this black spot may be kept black, the whole million are so helpless as to be at the mercy of the rebels on one side, and of the free States on the other.

Missouri has some of the same weakness; but is not quite so weak. Why not? Because she has only about 90,000 slaves in a population of 600,000.

FOREIGN.—The steamship Europa arrived at Halifax Monday, with three days later advices from Europe. The English newspapers and politicians continue the discussion of American affairs. The money market at Paris was still unsettled. The King of Prussia was crowned on the 18th inst. at Konigsberg. The people of Warsaw having assembled in their churches to do honor to the memory of Kosciusko, many of them were arrested by the military and conveyed to the citadel. In the Liverpool market, the sales of Cotton for the week ending October 18th were 116,500 bales, prices closing at an advance of 3-8 a 1-2d on the week. The stock remaining on hand was 633,000 bales of all kinds. Breadstuffs, Rice and Sugars were also higher. Consols closed on the 18th at 92 1-4 a 92 1-2, a slight advance on the prices of the 16th.

☞ In the Superior Court now sitting in Lawrence, Mass., James Noonan of Salem, for a breach of the by laws of the city, in allowing his pig to run at large in the public streets—sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and costs, taxed at $14,55. On receiving sentence, he informed the Court that he was unable to pay his fine and costs unless the Court would take his pig. The Court declined accepting the proposition, inasmuch as a pig was not a legal tender.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR INDIGO.—The high figure at which indigo is held, has stimulated the inventive genius of somebody to find out that carrot tops can be used to advantage in coloring blue, and they are bought up in Hampden county at quite a large figure, as high as twelve to fifteen dollars per acre being paid for the tops alone.

☞ It is said that Major Lyon, nephew of Gen. Lyon, has determined to enlist a "Lyon Brigade," and expects to get a company from every loyal State.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Capt. Elihu N. Dame, of Farmington, picked from one apple tree last week, seventeen and a half barrels of prime smooth apples.

—— The 5th N. H. regiment, Col. Cross, arrived in the Norwich boat at Jersey City, Wednesday morning, and left at noon for Washington. Several friends of Maj. Cook, formerly of the Boston Tigers, as well as the Sons of New Hampshire, gave them friendly greetings.

—— The New Hampshire Light Battery broke up their camp in Manchester, and at noon on Wednesday took up their line of march for Nashua, where they were to take the cars for Washington, by way of New York. They were escorted out of the city by a cavalcade of citizens, who intended to accompany them a part, or all the way, on this their first march.

—— The Independent Democrat learns that the Governor and Council have decided to postpone the commissioning of officers for the Ninth N. H. Regiment, for Gen. Butler's Brigade, until the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Regiments are filled up.

—— The Cavalry Company, under Capt. D. B. Nelson, of Manchester, numbering 80 men, has been mustered into the service by Lieut. Col. Eastman of the U. S. A.

—— Dr. L. F. Locke, of Nashua, announces through the Telegraph, that he will vaccinate or revaccinate without charge any of "our citizens who are so promptly and freely enlisting for our country's defence."

—— A contribution of $250 was taken up in the Concord Churches on Sunday.—The Independent Democrat says "no such contribution was taken up in the Episcopalian Church. We learn that the Rector even forbade the posting up, in his church, of the general notice respecting this matter of aid! It would seem, to common minds, at least, that the object was a praiseworthy and Christian one, but it was probably supposed that there was something 'political' about it, which would disturb 'the safe and peaceful bosom of the Church.' We learn, however, that some of the patriotic members of the Church, not wishing to be misrepresented by the "Secesh" element, have raised by private contribution between forty and fifty dollars for the worthy object."

—— Mrs. Sally Maynard, formerly of Keene, died at South Boston, Mass, Oct. 21st, aged eighty-nine. Her last work was knitting for the soldiers, and she left a pair of socks unfinished. She has five grandsons in the Federal army, one of whom, a private, was engaged in the recent skirmish near Harper's Ferry, and was the third to mount the 32-pounder captured from the rebels. He has his grandmother's blood in him. She leaves behind her, still surviving of her family, eight children, forty-two grand-children, and twenty-four great-grand children. For fifty-three years she was a consistent member of the Baptist Church. She deserves honorable mention among the veterans whose last days are spent in prayers and active service for their country.

☞ Quite a serious fire occurred on Wednesday, in the rear of that portion of Mercantile Block, Boston, occupied by Messrs. Grover and Baker, and the Mercantile Library Association. The fire originated in a small wooden building, occupied by the steam engine for heating the building. The engineers exercised great care in playing upon the fire, and the books in the library were not very materially damaged. A large number of duplicate volumes packed away in the vicinity of the safe, were entirely destroyed. The books inside of the large safe, consisting of the Association records, and a valuable set of Audubon's Works, were uninjured. About two thousand volumes in the library were damaged, more or less, by water. The property of the Association is fully insured. The damage to the stock of Messrs. Grover & Baker, sewing machine manufacturers, was not very large. The building is owned by Wm. P. Mason, whose loss will be between one and two thousand dollars. It is fully covered by insurance.

☞ On Tuesday night, a fire broke out in a large barn owned by the Cary Improvement Company, Chelsea, Mass., and occupied by Mr. Josiah Sanderson, Jr. Eighteen valuable milch cows, a team horse and a colt perished in the flames. Two cows rescued from the fire were so badly burned as to render it necessary to kill them. The barn contained about seventy tons of hay, some farming implements, harness, and several wagons, which were destroyed. Mr. Sanderson's loss amounts to about $2500.—His hay was insured for $1000 in the Haverhill Insurance Office. The building was not insured.

☞ Wednesday afternoon, U. S. Marshal Clark arrested in Portland on a capias, a man named Jos. L. Brown, as witness in an important suit now pending in Boston.—It is suspected that the name of Brown is an alias for Marden Locke, the dishonest skipper of fishing schooner Palm, of Newburyport, which was sent home clean from Halifax by the American Consul, a few days since.

THE REBELLION.

The assertion that the private secretary of Com. Dupont, the commander of the fleet, had absconded, carrying with him the maps and charts, and even the sealed orders of the Commodore, is pronounced at the Navy Department to be totally and maliciously false.

Gen. Shields was at Mazattan, Oct. 13th. He declines the Brigadier Generalship tendered him. He is inaugurating some plan for Irish emigration to the Western States of Mexico.

The volunteer force in New Mexico numbers over 3500, 3000 of which are enrolled and expect soon to be employed in active service.

About the 24th, a party of New Mexican volunteers, under Capt. Mink, was surprised at Alamose, 45 miles below Fort Craig, by 110 Texas rebels, and their horses stampeded. Capt. Mink proposed to surrender, but the men deserted, secured their horses, and retreated to Fort Craig. Subsequently, about 200 U. S. troops from the Fort pursued and overtook the rebels, killed their captain and ten men, and wounded about thirty. The balance of the Texans escaped to Messila.

A dispatch to the St. Louis Democrat, from Jefferson City, says: Gen. Prentiss, who left St. Louis on Sunday last, with a force of infantry, to surprise the rebels at Fulton, Calloway county, reports that before he reached Fulton, Gen. Henderson, of the State militia, had agreed with the rebels that the United States should make no arrests, provided the rebels laid down their arms and returned home. Gen. Prentiss acquiesced in the compromise, but on the first violation of it will visit severe vengeance on the offenders. The rebels were 400 strong, and Henderson's force 1500.—The proposals for a compromise came from the rebels.

The destination of the fleet is known at Old Point, and can be safely revealed by Saturday next. One of the tugs returned to Fortress Monroe Wednesday morning, the captain reporting that his vessel could not stand the heavy sea outside the Capes.

The Herald's dispatch says the President informed certain Senators that the responsibility of a forward movement of the army was left with Gen. McClellan, and that the executive will sustain him, whatever his determination may be.

The Navy Department recently ordered 500 rifled cannon.

The jury in the Savannah pirate case, on trial at New York, being unable to agree, were discharged Thursday morning.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING took place at St. Paul's Church, on Wednesday morning, (as will be seen under the head of marriages), which attracted a large number of spectators—all the seats of the church, on floor and in the galleries, being filled. The services were appropriate, as they always are in the Episcopal church, and the singing very fine. Eight young ladies attended the bride to the altar, two of them were her sisters. The bride was dressed in white, one sister in pink, and the other in blue, so that the national colors were patriotically presented—the red, white and blue.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ The official trial of speed of the iron plated ship Warrior resulted in an average of nearly 14 1-2 knots an hour, which places her at the head of the British Navy in speed as well as in all other respects.—The highest speed was over 16 1-2 knots.

A DRUNKEN WOMAN BURNT.—Ellen Fairbanks was burned to death at Troy on Saturday night, while intoxicated. She was left alone by her husband while he went to drink, and on his return he discovered the charred remains of his wife.

☞ William E. Currier, Esq. has at his office a die of the head of Washington, which was cut by Perkins, in Newburyport, for the purpose of stamping badges to be worn on the occasion of Washington's visit.

SPARKING.—While Capt. Porter, of Hadley, Mass., was in a carriage with Miss Lizzie Newton and Miss Mary Dickinson, a few days since, he accidentally set fire to their clothing by a spark from his pipe, nearly destroying it, and severely burning the young ladies themselves.

☞ Mr. Isaac G. Williamson, of Wiscasset, Me., in the short space of six days has lost all his family of five children, by diptheria. The oldest was nine years and nine months old, and the youngest seven months. At one time four of the five lay in the house awaiting burial.

☞ Australia bids fair to become Europe-ised by the importation of European animals, birds and fish. Cattle, sheep, barnyard fowls, singing birds, have all been acclimated and are doing well in the far colony. In return the Australians have sent some of their native fish and fresh water lobsters to England.

PRIVATEERS.—It is stated that the steamers Nashville and Isabel are fitting out at Charleston with heavy armaments.

GOD gives every bird its food, but does not throw it into the nest.

MONEY is nothing in itself; it is useful only when it departs from us.

AN EMINENT MAN GONE.—Died at Boston, 12th inst., Darby Vassall, aged 92. This worthy colored man was well known to many of the best citizens. He was born in the house in Cambridge distinguished as Washington's Hea'quarters. He was the oldest member of the church in Brattle square (Boston) and was universally respected for his general intelligence and excellent character.

☞ The captain of the schooner Judith, which was destroyed by Lieut. Russell in Pensacola harbor, has been hung by the rebels for cowardice, and the sentinel at the Pensacola navy yard, who mistook our men for confederates, has shared a like fate, on the principle, probably, that a mistake is as bad as a crime.

Water isn't a fashionable beverage for drinking to your friend's health, but it's a capital one for drinking to your own.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Predisposition to Consumption, &c, &c.

This great remedy is too well known, and is performing too much good, to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

Letter from Elder H. L. Gilman, a Minister of the Gospel in Vermont.

GLOVER, VT., June 20, 1859

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & Co.,

Gents:—I hereby certify that I have been troubled for several years with a difficulty of the heart and lungs, and have applied to several physicians for help, and have tried almost every remedy of the numerous ones which have been recommended, without receiving any assistance; but last year growing weaker and weaker, until, hearing of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY about a year since, I commenced using it with immediate relief. It has not only restored my lungs to a sound state, but I am entirely relieved of the difficulty or disease of the heart. I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best lung medicine before the public, and I most cheerfully and conscientiously recommend it to all persons suffering with pulmonary consumption.

H. L. GILMAN.

From the Editor of the "Rising Sun," Richmond, Me.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY AND THE OXYGENATED BITTERS.—Our readers will pardon us for venturing an opinion of these celebrated remedies, which have been so long before, and have become so popular with the public. They are often disposed to cry "humbug" against the greater number of Patent Medicines at the present day, and this, no doubt, to a certain extent, may be justifiable; but, convinced of the superior efficacy of the above articles as remedial agents, with the hearty endorsement of the medical fraternity, we can cheerfully recommend them to the Consumptive or Dyspeptic sufferer as being every way worthy their confidence and a thorough trial.

S. J. COURT—THURSDAY, Oct. 31.

In the case of Orlando S. Langley vs. William H. Jones, which has been on trial Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the jury returned a verdict for the Plf. of $5 damages and $5 costs. The parties were at work haying in a field in Newmarket, and the plaintiff being cut in the ankle by the defendant's scythe, he brought this action to recover damages.

THE "KITTERY" NAVY YARD.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal insists that "the Navy Yard at Kittery, Maine, should not be called the Portsmouth Navy Yard." The editor of the Journal, however, seems hardly to appreciate the "state of mind" from which his correspondent suffers, and tenderly puts the extinguisher upon him by quietly suggesting that "he does not see it." He says:—

"With regard to the name of the yard, we suspect that it is known to the government as the Portsmouth Navy Yard, being within the port or collection district of Portsmouth. The Norfolk Navy Yard is located at Gosport, yet this name is as infrequently used as that of Kittery. The Navy Yard at Charlestown is often called the Boston Navy Yard, this port, however, being recognized by the government as the "Port of Boston and Charlestown."

☞ As a son of Mr. Oliver Tucker, of this city, was carelessly handling a loaded pistol, at his residence on Tuesday evening, the pistol was accidentally discharged. Its contents, a slug, entered the right side of the boy's sister and, passing across the body through the flesh, but fortunately not penetrating the stomach, lodged in the left side, whence it was removed on Wednesday afnoon by Dr. Oliver. The wound is not considered dangerous, and she is now doing well. The boy is about fifteen years of age, and his sister about thirteen.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.—On and after Monday next, the afternoon trains will leave Boston and Portland at 2.30, and meet each other in Portsmouth at 5 o'clock.

"EVERYBODY"
WHO USES
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions of the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.:—I have recently that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and, will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BOSBYHALL.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar distkesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It suddenly strikes the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved inefficacious, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is strictly an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Fifth and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

ALFRED STAVERS,

Morning Chronicle.

At no time in our history has it been more necessary we should show a determined front to all foreign powers which evince an inclination to encroach upon our dignity, while we are engaged in grappling with rebellion. We are entirely competent to both performances; and any foreign power which bargains for our abating one atom of our usual attitude, because of our present unlooked for complications and perplexities, will make a serious miscalculation. Europe combined could not transport troops enough across the seas to successfully invade our soil against its millions of defenders; while the first sound of war would close our granaries, withhold our trade, and oblige one half their impoverished commerce to retire from the further seas. Let us rest assured that a war with the United States, which wavifies two oceans to their centres, is not such a fine joke for France or England as to induce either of them, or both, to recognize the rebel confederacy as a sufficient offset.—Wilkes' Spirit.

On the banks of a rivulet in the North of Ireland is a stone with the following inscription, which was no doubt intended for the information of strangers traveling that road: "Take notice, that when this stone is out of sight, it is not safe to ford the river!" The above inscription is something similar to the famous finger-post which was erected by order of the Surveyor of the roads some years ago in Kent, (Eng) "This is a bridle path to Feversham: if you can't read this, you had better keep the main road."

Some of the titles of new books are odd enough. "Solomon's Precept, or the Power of the Rod; a tale of the Flogging System." I suppose it will be a Tail illustrated with Cuts, as Hood would have said.—Then, there is the "Illustrated Girls' own Treasure." What is an Illustrated Girl? I can't fancy.

You may insert a thousand excellent things in a newspaper, and never hear a word of approbation from some readers; but just let a paragraph slip in (by accident) of one or two lines not suited to their tastes, and you will be sure to hear of it.

Secretary Seward has given passports to persons of color, when having occasion to go abroad. Why shouldn't he? Such certificates were never refused, until the attempt was made to make the federal government a mere bob to the slaveholders kite. —Both Times.

☞ A gentleman "from the country" had his pocket book containing $200 taken from his breast pocket at the Boston Theatre on Wednesday evening.

Do not wait for a change of outward circumstances, but take your outward circumstances as they are, and make the best of them.

Whoever loves not this beautiful earth must hate himself a great deal, and the rest of the human family as much more.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novelties feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The advantage of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to decomposition.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division in the flue on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and air jackets are provided for the lock and bolt plates. A hot closet and tank can be added if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a lifetime, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Dale, Nathaniel Bennett, John Harrell, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gorport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

The Best COOK STOVE
In the Market,
after trial is said,
is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in roasting off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN OVEN, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 9years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a series of years, during the interval has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain some of the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. This man has been in the business, and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time sell the Stewart Stove, and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the MOST OPERATIVE, MOST DURABLE AND ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1861.

MANIFESTO FROM JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.—A manifesto from John C. Breckinridge "to the people of Kentucky" is published at Bowling Green (the headquarters of the rebel General, Buckner). In it he resigns his seat as a member of the Senate of the United States, saying:

"I exchange with proud satisfaction a term of six years in the United States Senate for the musket of a soldier."

Mr. Breckinridge then goes on to review, through secession spectacles, the events of the past twelve months, and concludes by declaring "there is no longer a Senate of the United States, within the meaning and spirit of the Constitution"—"the United States no longer exists—the Union is dissolved."

Well: says Uncle Toby, if Mr. B. speaks the truth, then our Congress and our President of what we call the United States,—are perfectly at liberty to open any port on the Southern coast by conquest,—and proclaim liberty to all the slaves that will come down to our ships, and run a line of ebony steamers to Hayti, and St. Domingo, Jamaica, &c., where laborers are wanted:—and long before Spring opens, the Kingdom of Cotton and Slavery would be come—to an end in that region.

So far as the action of rebel States goes, this is a plain case now.

But Mr. Breckinridge lies: for the stealing and swindling, and rebellion, of himself and his partners in rascality, do not and cannot dissolve the Union of the Free States;—nor will his clique of thieves, pirates and tyrants, ever again rule the land.

Many honest men in New England will feel sad that a man whom they had delighted to honor should now be a rebel and traitor—but let them be comforted: he has not changed: he is the same scoundrel now that he was four years ago, and last year, and last Summer: only the loyal men have torn off his mask!

If they will look back now, and read his speeches, in the special session, with those of Vallandigham and Burnet, they will see what their peace talk was for, viz: to help the rebels.

Breckinridge has gone to his own place!

ATROCIOUS MURDER.—On the 22d of October, a citizen of Middletown, N. J., discovered the body of an unknown man floating in the water. Upon examination he discovered that a most brutal murder had been perpetrated, the body being stabbed in some twenty places. The deceased was fashionably dressed, and there were found upon his person $110 in gold, besides some change. An inquest was held, the jury returned a verdict that deceased had come to his death by some means unknown to them, and the Coroner adjourned the case in search of further information. In the meantime, a gentleman residing in New York, received a letter from Germany, stating that Sigismund Fellner, one of a wealthy Jewish family, had gone to America in the Steamship Bavaria, with a large amount of property in jewels and money, and requesting him to write back, should anything have happened to him.

While the gentleman was searching for the stranger, he saw the notice in a newspaper of a "Mysterious Murder." A sort of instinctive fear struck him that the victim might be Fellner, and on making an examination, his fears were realized.—Watch and chain, diamonds to the value of $40,000, and $10,000 in money, besides other valuables, had all disappeared, the small sum found in deceased's pocket being left behind, doubtless, to deceive people, by making them believe that robbery was not the object of this foul murder. The breast of Fellner was a mass of frightful wounds. Twenty gashes from a dirk, seven of which had entered the heart, had been found necessary to complete the bloody work. The police are sorely puzzled about the matter. That the murder was plotted in New York, is beyond a doubt, but it will tax the ingenuity of the most ingenious detectives to discover who committed it. A reward of five hundred dollars is offered by Fellner's friends for any information that will lead to the discovery of the assassin.

☞ Ellen Lane, the last of the Jeff. Davis pirates, was acquitted at Philadelphia on the ground that, being the navigator of the Enchantress after her capture, he must have delayed her progress, thus preventing her arrival at a rebel port, because in sixteen days the vessel made only two hundred and fifty miles. Lane alleges that he sailed the vessel north during the night, and south during the day. Thomas Quiglar, David Mulling and Edward Rockford were convicted of piracy.

WOMAN BURNED.—On Wednesday evening, a woman named Anna Cole was seriously burned in Boston by the bursting of a Kerosene oil lamp, which she attempted to fill while it was lighted.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The death of three eminent and highly respectable citizens of the Old County of Cheshire are now announced, each exceeding four score years, viz.: Hon. Joseph Healey, of Washington, a former member of Congress: Elijah Carpenter, Esq. of Swanzey, who long held the office of Sheriff of the County; and Hon. Horace Hall of Charlestown.

—— For some time a secret organization, known as the "Jolly Knights," mostly composed of boys, has existed in Manchester, having for their object no one thing in particular, but evil practices of various forms, such as card-playing, drinking, &c., in general. Some one has sent the American what purports to be their oath, in which the member solemnly promises "if he ever sees any one of the lodge in trouble, no matter what it is, to help him out of it, if possible." He also makes the following affirmation:—"that I never will tell any thing that transpires in the lodge or that I see or hear, if I do, I hope that my tongue will rot out of my mouth and that the flesh will drop off my bones, and that the vultures will pick out my eyes, and be forsaken by all mankind." Such a result might be bad for the vultures.

—— The dwelling house of Mr. Isaac T. Otterson of Hooksett, was burned on Monday afternoon, Oct. 28, with nearly all its contents. The fire originated by reason of a defect in the chimney. Loss about $2,500 to $3,000. Insured for $700.

—— The organization and equipment of the Cavalry Company, under Dr. D. B. Nelson, is going on well. The ranks are nearly full, and they perform drill every day. It was originally intended to enlist and equip the men here, and supply them with horses at Washington. But Capt. Nelson has received a letter from Governor Sprague, authorizing the full equipment of the company by the State, and also the raising of two more companies.

THE REBELLION.

A Washington dispatch asserts that the naval expedition sailed with only verbal orders.

Private advices from Kentucky are encouraging, and the rebels are said to be falling back hopelessly, which does not agree with the representations of Gen. Thomas.

Steamer Arago, at New York from Liverpool, is reported to have brought arms and clothing sufficient for the equipment of 12,000 men.

The N. Y. Express states that the police are now charged with the duty of examining all persons embarking for foreign countries, none being allowed to leave without passports.

Gen. Fremont and staff arrived at Springfield, Mo., on Sunday, and the Benton Cadets, Col. Carr's cavalry, Major Holman's sharp-shooters and Gen. Sigel's command at different periods during the same day.—They found no professed rebels in the place. The stars and stripes were displayed from numerous houses. Gen. Fremont will probably remain there until the other divisions of the army arrive. Price is still reported to be in the vicinity of Carthage, but nothing definite is known of his whereabouts.

On Thursday, all the prisoners—military, naval and political, eight hundred in number,—in Forts Lafayette, Columbus and Wood, in New York harbor, were transferred to Fort Warren, in Boston harbor. Among them are twenty officers who formerly held commissions in the U. S. army and navy. Fort Warren is under command of Col. Dimick, with a garrison of 200 from the Mass. 24th. Between sixty and seventy of the prisoners are quite sick with the typhus fever. A number were left in the New York forts, too sick to be moved.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch, Friday morning says:—"Gen. Scott goes to New York Saturday morning accompanied by his staff. It is understood that he will retire next week and immediately sail for Europe with his son-in-law."

A letter from Darnestown, Md., says the rebels now picket Harrison's Island, and that on Tuesday succeeding the fight at Ball's Bluff, the rebels withdrew their forces from Leesburg, leaving a few battalions to keep up appearances and watch our movements. They subsequently took away all their supplies, and were at the latest accounts resting on Goose Creek, seven miles south of Leesburg.

The 5th Conn. Regiment and N. H. Battery arrived at New York, Friday morning, and breakfasted at Park Barracks.

FAST TROTTING.—Considerable rivalry has existed for some time between Com. Vanderbilt and Mr. Bonner, of the Ledger, as to who should own the fastest pair of trotting horses. Mr. Bonner has always declined to match his horses, being opposed to betting. Yesterday, however, in order to satisfy himself of their speed, he drove his horses—Lady Palmer and Flatbush—to his road wagon, in the extraordinary time of 2:27, the last quarter in 34 seconds. This is the fastest time ever made by any pair of horses in the world, and consequently beats the Commodore's team. Hiram Woodruff, Mr. Wheelan, Mr. Hoagland, Mr. Harker, and a number of other good judges witnessed the performance, and timed it.—N. Y. Tribune.

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

GOFFE, WHALLEY, AND MRS. EYERS.—Our readers now feel as if President Stiles was an old acquaintance, and Goffe and Whalley no strangers. On the strength of acquaintance with President Stiles, we let him introduce us to Mrs. Eyers, a genteel and worthy woman of 200 years ago, and invite him to tell her story; but as old men are apt to be prosy, we abridge it considerably.

"Mrs. Sherman, relict of Mr. James Sherman, aged 86, a descendant from Governor Lent, whose daughter married a Trowbridge, from whom Mrs. Sherman. She tells me she was born in Governor Jones' or in Governor Eaton's house, which had nineteen fire-places, and many apartments; where Goffe and Whalley used to reside; that Mr. Davenport's house also had many apartments, and thirteen fire-places, which indeed I myself well remember, having frequently, when a boy, been all over the house. She was intimately acquainted with Mrs. Eyers, and is full of the story of the Judges being secreted at her house, which was repeatedly searched for them. It is necessary to observe that this house was twice searched. Mrs. Sherman considers and speaks of the search, not as once only, but at several or different times. She says Mrs. Eyers had on one side of the room a large wainscotted closet, which she has often viewed and admired: it had cut lights at top, full of pewter and brass, and a wainscot door, which, when shut, could not be distinguished from the wainscot, and all over the door, and on the outside of the closet, was hung braizery, and elegant kitchen furniture, that no one would think of entering the closet on that breast-work. Here she hid the Judges.—It seems to her as if it was more than once.—That they used to frequent the house on Saturday afternoon, when sometimes she shut them up, and then opened all the doors, and walked abroad, leaving all open for the pursuivants to search.

She says Mrs. Eyers and her son and daughter, lived together all to great old age—that she died about the hard winter, November 17, 1740, when she must have been above an hundred years old; and her son and daughter were seventy or eighty years old at the old lady's death. Mother and children so remarkable for longevity, that the reverend Mr. Cooke (Mrs. Sherman's father) used familiarly to enquire, how the good old folks of that house did, where death did not enter? So much has been said of Mrs. Eyers, that I will add this characteristic description of her:
